Compensation-for-Injury Act Hearing-Sir Wm, Meredith Thinks Men Should Look After Themselves.

Representatives of the Dominion Trad s and Labor Congress and labor unions of Toronto made 13 suggestions to Sir William Meredith yesterday, which they thought should be embodied in the new act for compensating injured workmen. His lordship listened attentively to all the suggestions made and asked questions at frequent intervals. The chief justice by no means agreed with everything that was said, and his remarks to the effect that workmen should be educated to take care of themselves and of the lives of their fellow-workers led to some warm passages.

Sir William expressed a wonder if the farmers were going to appear before him with a request to share in the compensation act.

Fred Bancroft was the chief spokesman on behalf of the labor interests.

The proposal of compulsory state insurance was not received very enthusiastically by Sir William.

"We find," said he, "that some of the most advanced democratic communities are borne down by an army of officials and parasites." The amount of machinery such legislation would require was the principal objection advanced.

The suggestions made by the labor

The suggestions made by the labor representatives were as follows:

1. A.l employments, the employes of the province, municipality, county or other administrative bodies in the province, to be covered, the same as employes in industries.

2. Compensation for all injuries arising out of and in the course of employers.

3. Compensation for being disabled, or other injuries arising out of, or as the result of, a specified occupation, the said disablement and injuries being in the nature of occupational diseases.

4. Entire cost of compensation to rest them employer.

upon employer.

5. In the case of injuries resulting in death, the dependents, as outlined in the British act, and State of Washington act, shall be the beneficiaries, with the expenses of the funeral as outlined

So. The doctrine of negligence on the part of employe or employer, fellow-servant or otherwise, shall have no place in the new legislation.

7. State insurance in connection with compensation act.

8. The creation of a provincial de-partment of insurance with three com-missioners, for the purpose of adminis-tration of the act.

9. Compulsory insurance of employes in the state department, by a yearly tax levied upon the industry or occupation, covering the risk of the particular industry or occupation.

10. The tax shall be upon the yearly wage roll. the tax by deduction of wages of emaction to be regarded as a gross mis-demeanor, as provided for in the State of Washington legislation.

12. The schedules of payment under the act, to be based upon the payments under the British act, with the proportional increases due to the difference in the wages in Ontario, reflecting the difference in the cost of living. 13. The provincial government shall provide revenue for the creation of the department of insurance.

Modeled Like british Act. "We believe that an act modeled upon the Fritish act in principle, with the compulsory state insurance of the Wasning on act, with its police administration and tax upon industry as a preventative for accidents, would be the best for the workers as well as for the employers." Statistics were given showing that 52,000,000 workers thruout the world were covered by compensation legisla-tion, in which the whole burden is on the employer or industry.

"Anything less than either of these two acts will be inadequate to meet the needs of the workers of Ontario, and as this province is the manufac turing centre of our Dominion, we claim that the legislation that should be adopted and which we desire, is that pointed out by the fundamental principles we have laid down for your consideration."

Reference being made to the Christmas Eve tragedy at the King-street car barns, two representatives of the union declared that the motorman was not to blame.

An insurance expert will be given a hearn on this subject of workmen's compensation when the commission sits again on Friday.

BAD YEAR FOR COAL BARONS

Over-Production and Lower Prices
Blamed for Reduced Profits.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 27.—There has been an over-production of coal this year and a consequent struggle for trade, which depressed prices, is the opinion expressed to-day by Edward W. Parker, coal statistician for the United States Geological Survey. Mr. Parker added that there had been few more unsatisfactory years in the history of the coal mining industry and that prices were depressed to such an extent that when the total returns for the year are footed up, the balance probably would be on the wrong side of the ledger, altho the production of coal in the United States for the year coal in the United States for the year is probably second only to the record

The total production of coal for the year is estimated at 490,000,000 tons, only 11,000,000 less than in 1910. Of this year's production, 400,000,000 tons was bituminous coal.

HOLIDAY AMUSEMENT.

For the remainder of this week the Strand Theatre has provided a spacially attractive bill of fare and full of holiday interest. Among the more prominent features are the series of moving pictures illustrative of the "Flower Girl of Las Palmas," "A Romance of the Rio Grande," the Brockton Fair and Flower Show, and "Buckskin Joe, Earl of Glenmore." The stories are full of thrilling interest and appealing episodes that are sure to enthral the attention of the public. On the musical side also the Strand Orchestra will present a fine musical program and its interpretations are now recognized as fitly placed in the higher class. Joseph Carr's "Song Review" has been a great hit and will be retained, and another specialist is Frank Oldfield who sang with the King's Own Band in England. The Strand is a perfectly appointed and commodious theatre and its matinees are now the favorite resort for Toronto ladies and families. As there is a continuous performance from 12 o'clock noon patrons can suit their own convenience, and the popular prices offer an added inducement.

The feature of a very interesting exhibition of motion pictures presented yesterday was undoubtedly "The Awakening of John Bond." The film was made by the famous Edison Company of America, with the co-operation of the National Association, for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis. The story teaches a powerful lesson in hygiene and the photography is clear, with the absence of any flicker whatever.

Living in one of his tenements is the O'Brien family, consisting of four children. The oldest of these is George, aged twenty-one, who is the only bread-winner. Descended from consumptive parents, the entire family is more or less affected with the disease, their wretched surroundings hurrying them to an early grave.

Nellie.

Through her nursing, Mrs. Bond has become infected with tuberculosis. Arriving home, she sends for Nellie and gives her the brother's trinkets. Here Nellie comes face to face with Bond, and, recognizing him as the owner of their wretched home, bitterly denounces him, telling him that, indirect the through his neglect his wife has nounces him, telling him that, indirectly, through his neglect, his wife has contracted the disease. Bond tries unsuccessfully to place his wife in a sanitarium and is at last obliged to apply to the tuberculosis committee for ald. By trying to bribe the official he is brought to realize the great good that is being done by the association; when confronted by his own tenement, now in the hands of one of the committee's nurses, his awakening is complete and he writes out a substantial check.
Later on we see Mrs. Bond and the
