SEES BIG DEFICIT Berlin, Nov. 19.—Chancellor Stresemann announced yesterday that the state owned and state operated railways in Germany will have a deficit of $200,000,000 this year. This great deficit is due mainly to the loss of the Ruhr and Rhineland railways, and vividly reveals that the prosperity of the German state railways was the result of two immense tonnage producing districts.

Crisis is Weathered. Anglo-French entente appeared to have weathered another crisis today when it was learned the Ambassadors conference reached a virtual agreement on a compromise. The compromise dealt with proposed action toward Germany regarding expulsion of the former Crown Prince and reimposition of allied military control. The ambassadors were to meet again at six p. m. it was learned. Premier Poincare was to submit the proposed compromise between the British and French viewpoints to the cabinet today.

Boston, Nov. 18.—An unprecedented sentence of 21 months and $1,000 in fines for liquor violations was given Andrew C. Hood of Charlottown in the Superior Criminal Court. Judge King of Brockton imposed sentence following Hood's conviction in five liquor cases.

In one of the cases, Assistant District Attorney Henry P. Fielding introduced evidence that a 14-year-old youth had come from church on Sunday to sell liquor for Hood in the latter's kitchen while Hood remained on his piazza as a police spotter. After arguments in Hood's behalf by counsel and after hearing from Sgt. Mitchell, lately transferred to the traffic squad, Judge King decided to affirm the lower court sentences from which Hood appealed from time to time.

The passenger death was due to the fact that Greece's immigration quota has been exhausted for this fiscal year.

British Museum Gets Odd Bequest; Wealthy Rothchild's Flea Collection

London, Nov. 19.—The scientists of the natural history department of the British Museum are delighted at a remarkable bequest from the late Nathaniel Rothchild, the largest and nearest complete collection of fleas in the world. It comprises several thousand specimens, each preserved in a tiny bottle. Only a wealthy enthusiast could ever have gathered such an exhibition, for no government would be willing to spend the money which it cost Mr. Rothchild and no scientific institution could afford to do so. Mr. Rothchild often commissioned exploring expeditions to find specimens of fleas infesting certain animals or birds in far parts of the world and he is credited with having once financed an expedition to Greenland to obtain fleas of the Arctic seal.

Major Austen, of the Insect Department of the Museum, said the collection contained specimens of nearly all the distinct kinds of fleas in the world and that it was particularly valuable for the study of their disease carrying properties. Mr. Rothchild was the world's foremost authority in this branch of study which he made peculiarly his own.

DECISION OF POINCARÉ STIRS PRESS

Speech of Premier Interpreted as Declaration on Ruhr Policy.

DEMAND IS MADE

Fear Expressed That Great Britain is Asked to Do the Impossible.

(By Canadian Press.) Paris, Nov. 19.—France's determination to continue "the occupation" until the treaty of Versailles has been executed and protection assured, as expressed by Premier Poincaré in his speech at Neuilly yesterday, applies only to the Rhineland and the bridgeheads, according to an official Foreign Office statement issued through the Havas Agency today. The statement adds that decision concerning the Ruhr will be dependent upon agreement with Belgium.

The statement read as follows: "Certain newspapers seem to not have understood the exact sense of the words the Premier pronounced yesterday when in an address at Neuilly he declared: 'France also is determined not to evacuate the territories occupied by virtue of the treaty until all clauses signed at Versailles have been completely executed.' Print Premier's Remarks. "These words concerned the occupied territory on the left bank of the Rhine and the bridgeheads. It goes without saying they could not apply to the Ruhr, concerning which no decision could be reached without a previous accord between France and Belgium." (Continued on page 2, sixth column)

NAKED NYMPH NOW FACES THE WORLD

Formerly Had Back to Public, But Sculptor Registers Protest.

Washington, Nov. 19.—The nude nymph who stands before the court house here faces the whole world now. When the bronze statue was recently erected in the face of much protest, it was placed so that the unadorned lady had her back to the block—to assuage the wrath of certain people. A little lawn stands innocently by her side. A few days ago the sculptor, P. C. Jennew, dropped into the Capitol for a visit. It pained him to see his work of art shunning the public gaze. So he went before the Fine Arts Commission, which selected the site, and protested vigorously. Later workmen brought out their paraphernalia and turned the lady around. The statue was erected in honor of the late Joseph J. Darlington, a prominent attorney here.
