IRISH MATTERS

Dublin, Nov. 9.—The railway situation is reported as serious owing to the strike of the railwaymen to transport troops and munitions. A complete collapse of the profitable food traffic at Christmas time is feared.

The general public is desirous of a compromise on the munitions question, the attitude of the railwaymen remains unchanged and they are being supported by the Sinn Feiners. The newspapers are printing very little concerning the protest of the public on the controversy.

The Cork Hunger Strikers. Dublin, Nov. 9.—So far as the authorities here know, the nine hunger strikers in the Cork jail who yesterday began their 90th day of fasting, are taking no food. The chairman of the pensions board said that suitable food was constantly being offered the men.

The latest reports from the prison doctors testify to the weakness of all the prisoners and say that several of the prisoners were recently visited by Father Fleming of Chicago. According to the Dublin newspapers he reported them as being determined and resigned to their fate.

To Testify in Washington. Dublin, Nov. 9.—Dennis Morgan, chairman of the Thuris town council, and John Derham, father of the chairman of the Ballybrannigan council, have received passports from the foreign office in London, which will permit them to proceed to the United States to give testimony on the seeking of their respective towns before the commission on Ireland. As Hiram Sees It

"Hiram," said the Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornebeam, "you were saying something the other day in praise of the nurses at the public hospital."

"I was so," said Hiram, "an I'd say it again—yes, sir. They're all right. A man from the Settlement was in the hospital six weeks, and he told me no man could ask for any better care'n he got all the time. He said he only had to ask for something an' the nurse'd git it right away—if it was anything he wanted."

"I suppose you know," said the reporter, "that you have been elected an honorary member of the Ladies' Hospital Aid?"

"No—I didn't," said Hiram. "But Hanner says I always was a great favorite with the women."

"You have been elected," said the reporter, "and you are to have a bank or something tomorrow and tag all the girls in the stores?"

"I'm glad you told me," said Hiram. "I'll git the money all right. The gals at the last tea-meetin' hung around me most of the time—By Hen! An' it cost me three dollars an' a half—yes, sir."

"It will be a little different tomorrow," said the reporter. "You see you will be after the money yourself?"

"Oh, that's all right," said Hiram. "I been auctioneer at pie socials fer twenty years. You just come along if you want to see the money fly'n in fer that noo Nurses' Home."

"Good luck to you," said the reporter. "If it wasn't," said Hiram, "you wouldn't ketch me around—no sir."
