

The College was opened on Thursday, November 6th, 1862. The following addresses were delivered before a large audience in the Hall of the Masonic Buildings, which was kindly lent for the purpose :—

OPENING

Gentlemen,

We are assembled here of certain degrees of Morrin of this of a Statute passed [The Prince which will be]

It was long ago that the Governors under the present system was expedient to delay the College till a building has been purchased. It has been pure delay both the practical working of Morrin should be adequate to the work has been finally Dr. Morrin to the College must be doing, and on a high and is, in addition, confers, the more public support and the nation may be secured in accordance with such steps to the admit of, that I