Moroccan Situation Assumes a Serious Nature—Chieftains of the Big Tribes Buying Up Horses in Every Market—Every Repeating Rifle in the Country is Being Oiled

LONDON, May 20.—The latest despatches from Paris indicate the possibility of the Moroccan situation assuming a serious nature before long. Hostility to France is undisguisedly fierce. "No compromise with foreigners" is the watchword of the Sultan's nominal subjects, French, Italian, English, and German colonists have fled from the Marakesh to the coast. The Sultan's threat to visit Marakesh is laughed at. The chieftains of the big tribes and the Highland clans are buying up horses in every market, partly for remounts, but also so as to leave none for any foreign expedition. Every repeating rifle, and some half a million are said to be in the country, is being oiled, and ball cartridges are nearly double their normal price.

The Fall Mail Gazette this afternoon gives prominence to a letter from Mogador, written by an English resident, who says: "Even the most authoritative news cable from Tangier wholly fails to give an idea of what is going on throughout Morocco, which knows neither Sultan nor Foreign Office. European papers tell a great deal of what France said to Fez and what Fez replied, and it seems to be taken for granted that with the acceptance by the Sultan of the French proposal there is an end to the trouble. Unless I am very much mistaken the trouble will then be only beginning. We must realize the fact that the Sultan's authority outside the walls of Fez and the seaports is absolutely negligible by the vast mass of his nominal subjects. His actual revenue is practically limited to what is left of the customs after the French have taken their 60 per cent. The large provincial tribes which his father was wont to collect at the head of a real army has dwindled to a paltry fraction of what it was fifteen years ago.

"All these years, while the Moorish Foreign Office has been growing weaker the great fighting tribes have become stronger and more arrogant. Their savings, instead of going to the

DIVIDED ON DISARMAMENT.

Leading Englishmen Consider It Impracticable—Bernard Shaw's View.

VIENNA, May 20.—A despatch to the Tagblatt from London says that 177 answers of leading British politicians, Generals and writers to a circular asking their opinions of the raising of the disarmament question at the Hague conference show that only eleven believe disarmament is practicable. Sixteen are violently against it.

The rest are more or less sceptical, including ex-Prime Minister Balfour, the Marquis of Lansdowne, Lord Rosebery, the Duke of Devonshire, Austen Chamberlain and Sir Conan Doyle. The Duke of Sutherland prefers arbitration. Bernard Shaw declares that disarmament is pure nonsense. He adds that with the assistance of a progressive income tax Great Britain could treble her armaments. Why therefore disarm? Mr. Shaw is against war because he is afraid, and he believes that war will only come to an end when every one has the courage to confess himself a coward.

Sir Thomas Lipton wishes Great Britain to increase her armaments. Among those favorable to Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman's proposal are Sydney Duxton, Lord Hylton and Lord Avebury, who points out that Europe has four times the inhabitants of the United States but forty times more soldiers. Consequently Europe is economically handicapped.

BRIEF DESPATCHES

PARIS, May 21.—The despatches received here from Washington saying that the American government will not open tariff negotiations with France on the ground that no practical purpose would be served by a tariff commission as the United States Senate has failed to approve the reciprocity treaty drafted between the French and American representatives, have produced a painful impression here.

BOSTON, May 21.—The differences between the city of Boston and the contracting teamsters which perform the municipal work, was settled tonight. Mayor Fitzgerald promised that after July 1st, the city will pay $6 per day for double teams and $3.50 for single teams.
