

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The initial selection of documents for this volume was carried out under the supervision of Eric Gilmour before his retirement from the department. His work has been of great value in preparing this volume, as has been that of F. J. McEvoy, who was associated with both Mr. Gilmour and me in the selection and annotation of documents. Mr. McEvoy therefore has the longest involvement with the volume and has provided a most valuable element of continuity; he also prepared the List of Persons, the endpapers and the index. I am grateful for his interest and support to A. F. Hart, who was director of the former Historical Division when the research for this volume was underway. The technical preparation was begun by Michel Rossignol. Under the supervision of E. A. Kelly it was completed, to the high standard set by Mr. Rossignol in a number of volumes in this series, by Isobel Cameron, Dawn Jones and Margaret Mitchell, who also did the proofreading. Special thanks are due to the Department of External Affairs Word Processing Centre, where the manuscript was produced under the direction of Aline Gélinau, and to Gail MacDonald, who coordinated the flow of paper. I of course am alone responsible for omissions and errors in the editing of the documents, and for the opinions expressed in this introduction.

The documents published here are drawn from a variety of sources in addition to the records of the Department of External Affairs. These are shown in the Location of Documents list. I was greatly assisted by staff members of all the repositories involved: Jeannette Fournier and her colleagues in the Records Information Management Division of the Department of External Affairs, the National Archives of Canada, Queen's University Archives, and the librarian of Massey College, Toronto, Desmond Neill. I am grateful to the Master Emeritus of Massey College, Professor Robertson Davies, for permission to consult the Vincent Massey Papers and to publish document 321.
