

Sunlight Soap preserves the clothes and their colours. Keeps flannels as soft and pliable in their old age as in their youth.

SUNLIGHT

is the best soap that skill and money can produce. Yet it costs no more than ordinary soaps.

We will give $5,000 to anyone who can find adulterants in Sunlight Soap. 5c

Use Sunlight Soap according to directions—try it just once—and convince yourself that it will do twice as much as other soaps. 518

Eyeglasses Not Necessary

Eyeglasses Can Be Strengthened, and Most Forms of Diseased Eyes Successfully Treated Without Cutting or Drugging.

That the eyes can be strengthened so that eye glasses can be dispensed with in many cases has been proven beyond a doubt by the testimony of hundreds of people who publicly claim that their eyesight has been restored by that wonderful little instrument called "Actina."

"Actina" also relieves sore and Granulated Eyes, Trichiasis, etc., and removes Cataracts without cutting or drugging. Over seventy-five thousand "Actinas" have been sold; therefore the Actina treatment is not an experiment, but is reliable. The following letters are but samples of hundreds we receive:

J. J. Pope, P. O. Box No. 43, Mineral Wells, Texas, writes: "I have spent thousands of dollars on my eyes, consulted the best doctors in the United States, dropped medicine in my eyes for years, and 'Actina' is the only thing that has ever done me any good. Before using 'Actina' I gave up all hope of ever being able to read again. Had not read a newspaper for seven years. Now I can read all day with little or no inconvenience."

Kathryn Bird, 112 Lincoln St., Milwaukee, Wis., writes: "I was troubled with astigmatism and had worn glasses from ten years of age. I could not read or write without them. In a surprisingly short time, after using 'Actina,' I laid aside my glasses and I will never use them again."

E. R. Holbrook, Deputy County Clerk, Fairfax, Va., writes: "'Actina' has cured my eyes so that I can do without glasses. I very seldom have headaches now, and can study up to eleven o'clock after a hard day's work at the office."

"Actina" can be used by old and young with perfect safety. Every member of the family can use the one "Actina" for any form of disease of the Eye, Ear, Throat or Head. One will last for years and is always ready for use. "Actina" will be sent on trial, prepaid.

If you will send your name and address to the Actina Appliance Co., Dept. 84 N, 811 Walnut St., Kansas City, Mo., you will receive, absolutely FREE, a valuable book—Professor Wilson's Treatise on Disease.

on. "But it isn't fair to pass judgment on a man without giving him a hearing. You take the letter and go to New York. Go and call on him. See what he says."

"I'll do it. I'll go down to-morrow." The next day I took a train for New York. I walked to the Tribune office and mounted the stairs to Greeley's office. I did so with heavy footsteps and a sinking heart. I found his room and went in, assuming a composure which I did not feel. At his desk, his nose close to the paper, sat the great editor, scratching furiously with his pen.

"Well, who are you and what do you want?" he said in a high-keyed voice, without looking up or missing a single pen stroke.

"I am the Rev. Mr. Van Dee, of Dutchess County," I answered, keeping one eye on the door in case he should become violent.

"Never heard of you," he returned, jabbing and boring with his pen.

"I wrote to you a few days ago, and I don't just understand your letter in reply."

"What'd you write about?"

"Hens. I—"

"Hens! Certainly! My reply was about hens. When you inquire hens you get hens in answer! What'd you expect—hippopotami?"

"Pardon me, Mr. Greeley, but you did

New York, Sept. 8.

The war was a failure. I hoped to see Jeff Davis in the White House. A young man stands the best chance in Rhode Island. The Tribune is the poorest newspaper in New York. Yours truly,

Horace Greeley.

As he finished Greeley sank back in his chair helplessly.

"I'm done for!" he gasped feebly.

Just then Larkway took a quick forward step, exclaiming:

"Hold on! There's a mistake! I had it wrong end up!" He seized the letter, gave it a quick turn and then read:

Chappaqua, Sept. 8.

Dear Sir: You will find the brahmas best for your purpose. Leg-horns are good layers, but they require a high fence. If you decide on Leghorns you can clip one wing. Please report how you succeed.

Horace Greeley.

As he finished Greeley sat up in his chair as if made of tempered steel springs. He turned his blazing eyes on me and in a voice which put my teeth on edge cried:

"Go back to Dutchess County, young man, go back to Dutchess County! Stay there! Get down on your hands and knees and see if you can learn from your hens how to pick gravel! Keep at it!"

not write one word about hens. I have the letter in my hand."

"Read it!" he snorted, beginning to let up a little on the pen.

"Very well!" I then did so.

"You blistering idiot!" he screamed, then whirled around and looked at me ferociously.

"Give me that letter!"

I stepped forward and handed it to him. He snatched it savagely, screwed up his eyes and began to study it. Gradually his face lengthened and grew blank. Then he read it in a low, squeaking voice as if thinking aloud. His reading of it was precisely like that of the rest of us.

He paused with his mouth half open and looked at me for a full minute. Then he suddenly recovered himself and struck a bell. A boy appeared and he said:

"Go up to the composing room and ask Mr. Larkway to come down here."

The boy disappeared. I remembered having heard the name as that of the only compositor who could read Greeley's copy.

In a minute or two Larkway shambled in, wearing carpet slippers and carrying a blackened cob-pipe in one hand. He was short, thick-set, very bald, and he looked at his chief bellicosely over a pair of mishapen iron spectacles, evidently expecting a row about some mistake in his work.

"Is that my writing, Larkway?"

"Yes, sir."

"Read it!"

When the Blow Fell.

A young married lady one morning gave her husband a sealed letter, which he was to read when he got to his office. He did so, and the letter ran as follows:

"I am obliged to tell you something that may give you pain, but there is no help for it. You shall know everything, whatever be the consequences. For the last week I have felt that it must come to this, but I have waited until the last extremity, and can remain silent no longer. Do not overwhelm me with bitter reproach, for you will have to put up with your share of the trouble as well as myself."

Cold perspiration stood in thick drops on the brow of the husband, who was prepared for the worst. Tremblingly he read on:

"Our coal is all gone. Please order a ton to be sent this afternoon. I thought you might forget it for the tenth time, and therefore wrote you this letter." But he didn't forget it that time!

The principal of prohibition seems to me to be the only safe and certain remedy for the evils of intemperance. This opinion has been strengthened and confirmed by the hard labor of more than twenty years in the temperance cause. —Father Mathew.

Her Baby Nearly Died.

WAS TAKEN SICK WITH Dysentery.

Mrs. Chas. Farrell, Oakland, Man., writes:—"My dear baby was taken sick last fall, and we got the doctor and he said she had dysentery. She nearly died with it, but two or three doses of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry completely cured her."

"My two little boys got a bad case of diarrhoea and two doses made a wonderful change and they were completely cured also. I would not be without such a grand medicine as Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry if it were twice the price, as I consider it a wonderful medicine, and I cannot recommend it too highly."

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been on the market for over sixty-five years, so you are not experimenting when you use this old and tried remedy.

Do not accept any of the many substitutes for this sterling medicine, but ask for Dr. Fowler's and insist on getting what you ask for. Price 35 cents.

BETTER THAN SPANKING.

Spanking does not cure children of bed-wetting. There is a constitutional cause for this trouble. Mrs. M. Summers, Box W. 86, Windsor, Ont., will send free to any mother her successful home treatment with full instructions. Send no money but write her today if your children trouble you in this way. Don't blame the child, the chances are it can't help it. This treatment also cures adults and aged persons troubled with urine difficulties by day or night.
