

EXPORT BUTTER AND CHEESE

The cheese market this week opened with a decidedly easy tone and country markets showed a slight further decline in prices, as low as 11 1/4c having been accepted at several points in Ontario, and the markets in the province of Quebec ruling about 11 1/2c. Towards the end of the week however there was much inquiry from the other side, especially for colored cheese, and prices at country points advanced considerably. At this time as high as 13 1/4c was paid for colored cheese, white ruling at 11 1/2c to 12c. Whether or not this improvement in the market will be continued some week remains to be seen.

seen. If it does there will certainly be no further fall in prices, as at this season of the year it does not take very many orders to take up the few cheeses that are coming from the factories. The demand is not maintained there is every likelihood of a still further drop in prices, as local dealers are not inclined to speculate at present in cheese as they are in milk.

The shipments were very light this week, indicating to some extent the smallness of the demand from the other side. The total did not equal 50,000 boxes, and is over 30,000 boxes short of the corresponding week-year ago.

The demand for butter this week has improved and accompanied by a further falling off in the receipts has tended to stiffen up the market, and dealers generally are looking for a further advance in prices during the next few days. The country markets are quiet, and the week this week with every prospect of still higher prices being paid next week.

Butter.—The demand for butter has been better this week and dealers report a good demand there is no stock accumulating. We quote new laid at 25c for selected stock at 24c and 25c; No. 1 at 24c to 25c; No. 2 at 23c to 24c. Cheese.—There is nothing new to say about cheese. There is a fair demand at prices ranging from 12 1/2c to 14c a lb.

GOSSIP

The Iowa State Board of Control will soon have 1000 Holstein cows at its different institutions. Different breeds have been used heretofore, but it has been decided to have only one breed, and the Holstein was selected because of its milking qualities. Last year the cows at Iowa institutions gave nearly a quarter of a million gallons of milk, and the amount will be increased.—G. W. Clemens.

R. H. Harding, Thorndale, Ont., writes: "The Mapleview stock of Dorset sheep is a home quiet resting after a very successful trip to the London exhibition shows, where they won in the strongest competition. They are all prize, all up home fitted stock. We are offering a bunch for the Provincial Winter Fair at Napanee, and are still hoping for a very big success. The Dorset sheep is fitted for the International, if it is arranged that Canadian stock can leave that now in time to reach the London show. If it is not so arranged I believe that very few Canadian sheep will be shown at the International. I have a fine line of ewes and rams that will be sold at very reasonable prices to make room for the new crop of lambs which will commence to arrive in December."

OPPORTUNITY IN RAILROADING

No doubt the greatest industry in the country today is railroading. On the American continent the great mass of track are laid yearly. In Canada along these lines are extending until it is only a matter of a few years before the Dominion will be a network of rails. The operation of these trains requires a large army of men and this demand coupled with the natural vacancies that occur, offer to the tradesmen one of the very best channels of employment. The work is steady, and few classes of labor pay the exceptionally large salaries as does that of railroading.

The work today is no more hazardous than many other trades, due to the railroad companies installing improved apparatus and being careful in the selection of healthy, sober, honest, and so far as possible, trained men. With the latter trained men in view the Dominion Railway School, Winnipeg, Man., was organized. Men familiar with every phase of railroading, compiled elaborate text books, profusely illustrated, using many colored designs and touching upon every detail of the work relative to the workings of the great railway systems.

On account of the radical changes and improvements continuously taking place, The Dominion Railway School, the greatest institution of railway instruction on the American continent, revise their text books in order to keep them right up to the minute. Their last edition was completed recently, and the book is completed. Young men physically and mentally sound would do well to write them for their free catalogs outlining their system of instruction. Address Dept. R, The Dominion Railway School, Winnipeg, Man.

BIG SPAIN.—Charles E. West, Guelph, Ont., writes: "I have a fine line of Ayrshire from the drugist and applied according to directions as given for dog spavin, and had grand success. The dog was unable to do the work. I can give all praise for Ayrshire and shall recommend it for dog spavin on all other dogs. I tried, and I tried a good many different kinds. Ayrshire prevails to the west of the town. I am happy and especially, without blistering or removing the skin, a fine line of Ayrshire. Write to P. Young, P. D. P., 123 Monmouth street."
