Preparing for House Cleaning

Mrs. T. Murray, Elgin Co., Ont. The time is drawing near when we women folks will all be engaged in the campaign against dust and dirt which comes around every year as regularly as spring comes. This campaign, by as spring comes. This campaign, by the way, is one to which our hus-bands look forward with no small degree of dread and "uncomfortable-ness." I refer of course to the spring house cleaning.

I do not believe in starting to tear If do not believe in starting to tear up rooms, lifting carpets, washing windows, etc., while the weather is still cold, just because I want to have my cleaning done before my neighbors, for I consider this is time and energy thrown away, and so long as cold, wet weather is with us dirt will carry in and our hard labor will have been to a great extent in vain.

For the last few years I have tried

For the last few years I have tried a plan which has proved very satisfactory in connection with house cleaning. From year to year release relief accumulate in drawers and shelves and I plan to go through these and discard all that are of no use. I also wash out the drawers and shelves, putting clean papers in them and arrange in order the articles that will be used again. KEEP AWAY MOTHS

Another day I go through the closets, where my winter bed clothes are stored, washing them thoroughly and applying gasoline around the cracks or floors where moths might find an entrance. I like moth balls also to put in around the winter comforters and blankets to ensure safety from moths, as they delight in workfrom motas, as they designt in worst-ing in woollen articles. When these closets are cleaned in this way, as the bedding is washed or aired, it can be immediately stored away with the satisfaction of knowing everything is spotless.

I like to have some of my stand covers and doilies washed up too be-fore the house cleaning really be-gins, for every housewife knows how pleasing it is after a room has been cleaned to have the covers and doilies all ready to put back on the stands and the curtains clean, which enables one to finish up a room completely at one time. Then too I endeavor to have my Then too I endeavor to have my china closets and cupboards ransacked. The extra dishes and vases can be washed, the silver cleaned and the cupboards themselves washed and aired. If any of the furniture needs polishing I brighten it up when these other jobs are being extracted.

other jobs are being attended to.

One may think that these little tasks do not amount to very much, but I have found that if this work and many other little tasks that every homekeeper will think of that might be done, are all finished up before the heavy end of house cleaning be-gins, it will be surprising the difference it will make. I can speak from experience when I say that I would not now think of leaving the little things to finish up afterwards. And in most cases this work is more thoroughly performed if done first, which is another source of satisfaction. . . .

When the yolks of eggs are not wanted for immediate use drop them into a basin of cold water, and put this into a cool place. The yolks will then keep good for several days.

It is not generally known that ferns and plants are improved by being watered coessionally with cold ing watered occasionally with cold tea. This applies especially to the fine maidenhair ferns, as it strengthens them and will frequently revive them when almost dead.
