By Rev. M. RUSSERD, B.S. Remember, Holy Mary, 'I'was never heard or s nown That anyone who sought thee And made to thee his moan; That as yone who hastened For shelter to thy care Was ever yet abanconed Or left to his despair. No: Ever Blessed Virgin, Most wonderful, most kind; No sinner cries for pity. o sinner cries for pity, None, none, O Holy Mary !

And so to thee, my Mother; With trusting faith I call; For Jesus, dying, gave thee As a mother to us all; To thee, O Queen of Virgins! O Mother meek, to thee I run with trustful tenderness Like a child to its mother's knee. See at thy feet a sinner. Groaning and weeping sore; Ah i throw thy manile o'er me, Ah id ten stray no more! No more, O Holy Mary !

NEWS FROM IRELAND.

Dublin.

So far, the popular party in Dublin county, is winning in the revision courts. Mr. Ion Trant Hamilton is not pleased thereat, judging from a speech he deliv-ered in the Leinster Hall, Molesworth street, Dablin, on Sept. 25. A Rev. Mr. Jones also made a speech in Leinster Hall, which will compel the Rev. Ranting Roaring Kane, to look to his laurels. Mr. Jones wishes that Oliver Crom well was on earth once more. Oliver Cromwell pro-bably wishes the same. The authorities in Dublin Castle are showing much re-"guard" for the Lord Lieutenant's safety. The force of police and soldiers protecting him has been considerably augmented. The four lamps intended to illuminate the O'Connell Monument, are now in posi-tion on the posts on both sides of Sackville street. The Rev. James Petit, C. M., died, in ### Kilkenny.

Mr. James Tulloch, of Callan, who was bir. James Tulloch, of Canan, who was for upwards of twenty years, chief officer of Inland Revenue in that town, died on September 16th. The melancholy event has occasioned general and sincere regret among all classes in the place where he had fixed his home.

Fast upon the horror of the Maam. trasna revelations comes the confession of Patrick Cole, who, seeking peace of conscience and pardon of Almighty God, conscience and pardon of Almighty God, makes a statement in presence of Very Rev. Hugh Behan, P. P., Enfield; Very Rev. Joseph Higgins, P. P., Delvin; and Rev. John Curry, Adm., Collinstown, that the evidence which he gave on the trial of prisoners charged with conspiracy to murder in the Barbavilla case, was false—entirely false. "I now declare," he says, "that the evidence was untrue; I swore to what was false when I said that I attended a meeting at Widow Facava's.

On Oct. 22, the constabulary at Bookinviting the Duke of Edinburgh and the Fieet to Cork, failed, on September 26, and, on the motion of a Nationalist memeen, Kilchreest, and other places, seized cattle belonging to parties for the amount cattle belonging to parties for the amount of tax they are asked to pay the relatives of murdered persons in the county since 1880. The first seizures made were on the lands belonging to Mr. McGlennon, P.L.G., Kilchreest, and Thomas Dolan, Kiltulla. They seized a cow belonging to the latter for the sum of 8s 2¼1, and a beifer belonging to the forward for a sector of the sum of the sector of the sum of the sector of the sector of the sector of the sum of the sector of the se ber, was expunged from the paper. Ald-erman Scott, who had given notice of the motion, had, on the previous day, an-nounced that he would ask for precedence for it, but the Nationalists announced they would not permit this. A good deal of ordinary business had been transacted heifer belonging to the former for small when Alderman Scott asked permission to bring on the motion, and moved the sus-pension of standing orders. This the Nationalists objected to, and, on a division, twenty-one voted each way. The motion, therefore, fell through. Ultimately the Council holes up amid a score of creat sums. The constabulary, being unable to get parties to drive the cattle to the pound, had to act in the capacity of drovers, an occurrence which caused much amusement among the people. Several other seizures were made in the district Council broke up, and a scene of great enthusiasm, the people outside the barrier singing "God Save Ireland."

other seizures were made in the district later on, while a large number of decrees are in the hands of the police. Two more of the State-aided families who left Ireland last Spring arrived in Queenstown on Sept. 23, by the Cunard steamer Samaria, from Boston, and were put on shore in the evening. They com-prise ten persons. Frank Dixon, with his wife and six children, is an agricultural laborer, and sailed from Blacksod Bay on the 1st of May. He proceeded to Titonia, Kerry. The Lord Lieutenant has had his revenge on the people of Kerry, and revenge, we are told, is very sweet. These persons treated him with scant courtesy during his recent visit, and on Sept. 21, he retorted by proclaiming a National League meeting in Barnaduff, near Kil-larney. There is come settification a form hoster, and safed from Blacksod Bay on the 1st of May. He proceeded to Titonia, Ohio, to his brother; but he failed to get employment, and had to sail for Ireland. Margaret Maguire, with her husband and child, emigrated also in May, having been larney. There is some satisfaction, after all, in being a Lord Lieutenant. Father Shanahan, P.P., addressed the parishion ers after Mass, advising them to keep within the law, making no breach of the within the law, making no breach of the public peace by resistance or opposition to the authorities. Some seven hundred people assembled, including the village congregation. Although the little hamlet of Barraduff, containing two public houses and seven dwellings, lies in the midst of mountain and morass, thousands were expected if the meeting were held, from Millstreet, Kingwilliamstown, Knocknagree, Rathmore, Killarney and Glenflesk districts, &c. About 100 police-men were present. Mr. Coltsman, D. L., drove through during the afternoon. A private meeting was held by the promoassisted by the Galway Union. For some time it appears they got on pretty well; but the husband, she states, deserted her, and she had to go into a union in Massa-chusetts, whence the authorities sent them back. The agent for the Local Government Board at Queenstown took charge of the families. Roscommon.

A hunting party recently discovered a mushroom on the lands of Lacken, near Rescommon. It was considerably over an inch thick, 10 inches in diameter, and weighed one pound two ounces, and was growing amongst ferns. Its stalk, which, as might be expected, was of extraordinary thickness, was four inches in length. It is said that the great growth of mushrooms this year, and the great size attained by some of the species, is a good sign of a bountiful harvest; but whether it be really the case, or whether it is nothing mor than a strange coincidence, the harvest this year is expected to be much better than any for some years—in fact, since the last growing of mushrooms.

THE FIRST GREAT OBJECT OF CATHOLIC CEREMONIES is to offer suitable honor to God. The divine eye is first of all sought to be pleased. Hence there are ceremonies, and strikingly beautiful ones, which the people are not permitted to witness, as you per-ceive to day, when during a portion of the ceremony you were excluded from this sacred edifice. Again you observe at every Mass how the priest speaks in a voice which you do not understand, because his words are, for the most part, intended for the divine eer. Many ceremonies are perthe divine ear. Many ceremonies are per-formed while his face is turned away from the people, some indeed the most beauti-ful as when elevating together both host formed while his face is turned away from the people, some indeed the most beauti-ful, as when elevating together both host and chalice he performs what many regard as an infinite act, offering to God 'all honor and glory' by offering His adorable Son the victim on the altar. This is be-cause these things are intended for the divine eye alone. Now the temple is primarily for God and only for man in a secondary sense. It is the house of God, and the gate of heaven. 'The house of God' for God—'the gate of heaven' for you. You shall reverence it then as God's you. You shall reverence it then as God's dwelling place. To the shallow mind it dwelling place. To the shallow mind it may seem as unworthy the divine majesty to dwell on earth in the humble house that we can build for Him. It is indeed great love and condescension. Solomon was filled with wonder at the thought. If heaven and the Heaven of heavens cannot contain thee, how much less the house which J have built? But, brethren, is it unworthy of God in the sense of degred.

Things differ to Him only as His attributes are concerned, and as He made men to His image and likeness, He loves Himself in his favored creature, and He declares that it is twored delight to be with the children of men,' no matter how humble their dwelling place. He lived thirty years in the cot-tage of Nazareth, and that cottage became age of Nazarell, and that cottage became greater and grander in the sight of angels than the mighty temple of Jerusalem. Still, brethren, we should as far as possi-ble render the house of God worthy of Him. We see how much splendor char-acterized the Jewish temple. We know how in every age the Christian people how in every age the Christian people sought to build and decorate Christian

Wicklow.

A National League demonstration was, on September 21, held at Shillelagh, and among the speakers was Mr. T. P. O'Con-nor, M. P., who asserted his belief in the innocence of Myles Joyce, condemned the administration of the Crimes Act, and stated that next session a bill for the stated that next session a bill for the amendment of the Laborers Act would be introduced.

Corn. Lady Mary Smith-Barry died, on September 11th, at Ber, Switzerland. She was the wife of Arthur Hugh Smith-Barry, Esq., D. L., and daughter of the late Earl of Durraven. It is understood that the National League are about to erect a hut in the vicinity of Ballylongford for a man named Creed, who has been evicted.

The dreary exodus of the Irish people from their native land still continues. During four days of the week ending September 21, 703 emigrants left Queenstown for America.

Priests and people in Ireland may well congratulate themselves that the sogarith aroon of the Irish heart fund, Father McFadden says: "All the does not find his prototype in Canon Rice of Charleville, other-wise the feelings of mutual regard is still dependent on her friends for shel-ter." Referring to the action of the agent and affection between them would not long exist, we are afraid. The people of Charleville, it appears, resolved that on September 21 a collection should be made, ifter Mass, in the interest of the OBrien indemnity Fund. This proposed course ound two hearty supporters in Father Coghlan, C.C., and Father Twomey, C.C., anon Rice, however, thought very dif-erently on the subject. next day, Sunday, and on the return of the procession from Castlewellan, after the holding of the Nationalist meeting, the streets were crowded. Soldiers and police were stationed at Orange Hall, and at in-tervals along the route stones were thrown at some of the vehicles returning from the meeting and the stones were from the meeting, and drums were broken belonging to the Nationalists. At Castle-wellan the police charged the people sev-eral times, and some arrests were made. The mob then wrecked the police barrisks, and before the victor. and before the disturbance was quelled several persons were injured. Tyrone

The Orange lambs of Stewartstown have been rather lively of late. Their strenuous efforts to revive an old species of athletics, which consists in flinging dangerous missiles at Catholics and Catholic heads, has lately created an odiously bad temper in the town. Large detach-ments of military, drafted in to keep the peace, have been stationed there for a con-siderable time. But their presence seems to have no appreciable effect in ending the reign of brickbats.

Fermanagh.

Compared with the popular party in Derry, the Catholics of Enniskillen are in bolities very prudent indeed. Rather than disturb the placidity of their Orange and Whig neighbors, they refuse to identify themselves with the National League. Yet the thanks they get may be imagined from the remark of the local Orange organ, the Fermanagh Times : "The majority of the Catholics of Enniskillen are fuc similes of the men engaged in the Phoenix Park murders and Invincible Society !"

Donegal.

In conveying his cordial thanks for contributions towards the Gweedore Relief Fund, Father McFadden says : "All the ter." Referring to the action of the agent ness. Their intrinsic importance continues all the same, as we well know, but their affect upon us is diminished by repetition. This every man, even God's priest at the altar, celebrating the Holy Sacrifice, must confess. The dedication to Almighty God of a temple upon this earth, where He shall be really present, is an occasion of immense importance. It is the creation, as it were, of a new heaven, for it is His presence which makes the heaven beyond the stars what it is, and that presence shall be here as truly as there. Hence we should ever reverence this sanctuary. God, knowing man's forgetfulness, com-manded in the Old Law that His people should ever be mindful of this : 'Rever ence my sanctuary,' and He adds the reason, 'I am the Lord.' Because it reason, 'I am the Lord.' Because it is My sanctuary-My dwelling-place, reverence it. There is a very remarkable event narrated in the New Testament, confirmatory of this command given un-der the old covenant. We all know how kind and forgiving our Divine Lord ever was, how patient He was with sinners, but on one occasion the Lamb became a lion in his fierce anger. When He beheld His Father's house degraded into a mart of Father's house degraded into a mart of avarice His eyes of mercy and tenderness flashed with divine fire of vengeance, and, single-handed and alone, He opposed a whole crowd of stalwart men and scourged them from the temple with rods, crying out 'It is written, 'My house shall be called a house of prayer,'' but you have made it a den of thieves.' No man, no mumber of these men seemed able to opp number of these men seemed able to op-pose this avenging God's dignity, and they fled before Him. "Now, brethren, order requires that there should be a relation between the temple and the religion of the temple, and if Christianity be infinitely superior to Judaism, the Christian temple must be in proportionate superiority to the Jewish and the reverence to be paid to it pro-portionately greater. You are met to day to witness the consecration of such an ediwithout presumption. THERE ARE TWO KINDS OF LOVE OF GOD, the great pure love that never knew dis-loyalty—the love of the angels that remained faithful to God—the love of the Blessed Virgin and St. John and a fey privileged souls-this is the highest and policitatione. But there is another deep, penitential, sacrifice-producing. It is the love of one who has fallen and feels his ingratitude and disloyalty to his God. It is the love of the Prodigal Son after his forgiveness—the love of Magdalen when her heart, like her alabaster-box, was broken at His feet, and sent up the per-fume which only ascends from a broken and humble heart. it is and humble heart-it is THE LOVE OF PETER AFTER PETER'S FALL

AND FORGIVENESS.

O! let us to day consecrate to God the temples of our hearts under the invocation of this great penitent saint, and do thou, O Eternal and most sacred God, accept these temples of our hearts as thou acceptest this material temple. Pardon us and deign to dwell with us, for thou has said O Lord, 'The kingdom of God is with you, and if any man love Me, My Father will love him, and We will come and dwell with him.'"
