

To win this war every ounce of the strength of each of the allied nations inust be put forth to meet the organized, trained and disciplined efficiency of the Central Powers—that gigantic, ruthless force which is the result of fifty years of planning and preparation.

And every ounce of every allied nation's strength is in the hands and brains and hearts of the individuals of each nation, because they are free peoples.

Now the individuals of each nation must live as well as fight, therefore a proportion of the effort and material of each nation must be diverted from war purposes to living necessities,

So the less each individual takes for himself or herself for personal use the more effort will there be left for fighting and winning the war.

Every cent you spend represents that much effort because somebody must do something for you in order to earn that cent—somebody's effort must be given to you instead of to the war.

Therefore the less you spend—the less of somebody's effort you take for your individual use—the more will you leave in the national surplus for war effort.

The war can be won only by the surplus strength of the allied nations. The money each individual saves represents that surplus strength.

So the truly loyal Canadian will use less, spend less, and save more, to help to win the war.

The proceedings of last meeting of Meaford Town Council were enlivened by a short pugilistic pout between the Mayor and the editor of one of the local papers. It all arose over a disputed ac-count for seven dollars, which the editor had charged against the town, but which the Mayor refused to pay. In the course of discussion at the Council meeting the Mayor and editor differed in their versions of the affair; and finally the editor intimated, in not the most indirect manner, that the Mayor was not sticking strictly to the straight and narrow path of veracity. The Mayor retaliated by requesting the editor without undue cir umlocution of language, to sit down or leave the room; and on the editor declin-ing to do either, the Mayor came down from his official chair in a way to indicate that he meant to try to enforce his request. The editor, as editors are and always should be, was prepared for anything that might transpire, and proceeded to defend his position by a counterattack. The next few seconds were busy; but the combatants were pried apart before sither had inflicted any substantial damage. They were reported in the next day's casualty list, "wounded, but returned to duty."

A good suggestion is made by the Durham Chronicle as follows: "It might be well for agreeable families to double up this winter to save fuel. We need to practise economy till the war ends and the saving of fuel would be quite an item." Not only is such a course advisable, but it may be imperative if people are not to suffer from cold.

Ludendorff started season 1918 with an advantage of 40 divisions. Foch should be able to start the season 1919 season, with added American troops, with an aduantage of 100 divisions.

Mayor and Editor Use Fists. Gen. Maurice: Foe now has only 16 fresh divisions at front as compared to 60 a month ago. This situation should be further improved as days go by.

Farmers throughout the country are being asked by the Finance Department to fill in forms which will give an accounting of their operations in 1917 for the purpose of the Income War Tax Act. The farmers are requested to state the quantity of their products in that, year, the price at which those products were sold, the quantity consumed at home or exchanged for goods at shops, income from other sources, the cost of feed, la bor, machinery and an estimate of depreciation. Farmers are liable to taxation under the Income War Tax Act. Inasmuch, however, as many do not keep books, it has been difficult to ascertain the amount of their incomes. From the information disclosed by the forms now being sent out the Finance Department what individuals are liable to taxation and the amount of their taxes.
