Herring Neck Loses One of its Oldest Residents

(Editor Mail and Advocate)

Dear Sir,—Please grant me space in your much desired and widely circulated columns to record the death of one of the oldest residents of this settlement and also the oldest member of the Society of United Fishermen of this place; in the person of our late Past-Master and brother, William J. Holwell.

The deceased was born in St. John's in the year 1834, just inside of the Chain Rock (what is now commonly known as Hoyle's Town) where his father conducted a large fishing room, which was operated by about twenty or more boats known than as French whale boats. The late Mr. Holwell left St. John's about 50 years ago and went to Tizzard's Harbour as a Church of England teacher and lay reader where he spent 10 years. Afterwards he came to Herring Neck and taught for six or seven years in St. Mary's school (where the writer is teaching now.)

He joined St. John's Lodge, No. 5, S. U. F., in 1875, two years after the first S. U. F. Lodge was started in Newfoundland. Shortly after he was affiliated in St. Mary's Lodge here, where he spent the remainder of his days and remained a faithful, true and loyal member and a good adviser to his brother members. He always took an active part in the working of the Lodge, as he was a strong and hard debater, and was always alert to promote peace and harmony among his brethren. He was the first keeper of the light on Bacallieu Island, N.D.B., living there about seven years. Although living over four score years, he was pretty healthy and strong considering up to within about a month of his death. To have an hour's chat with him about olden times would be a treat.

He was taken seriously ill about three weeks ago and passed to the Great Beyond on April the 17th at the ripe old age of 82 years, and was laid to rest to await the last great call on Wednesday, April 19th., by the Rev. Llewelyn Godden, his remains being escorted to the grave-side by the members of the S. U. F. to pay their last respects to a faithful brother. He leaves four sons, and one daughter, also one sister residing in Boston, to all of whom we extend our sincere sympathy.

ANDREW S. KING,
Secretary S. U. F.

IN MEMORY OF THOMAS MERCER WHO WAS KILLED IN ACTION APRIL 11, 1916

By LIZZIE ELLIOTT
St. John's, Nfld., May 8, 1916

THOU art gone, but not forgotten,
Your dear face we will see no more,
Till we meet you in His presence
Over on the golden shore.

For we know that you are happy
With your loved ones over there,
But our hearts are nearly breaking
For our soldier boy so dear.

Far away in distant Belgium,
With no mother to stand by,
For to kiss the happy features
Of her dear young soldier boy.

When the call came for more soldiers
Willingly you signed your name,
But the sad news now has reached us
That you are numbered with the slain.

And your mother's heart is breaking,
For her boy so young and fair,
Who in soldiers' grave is sleeping
Far from home and friends so dear.

Oh, dear Tom, how sad to lose you,
But our loss is heaven's gain,
For you are gone to be with Jesus,
Singing now the sweet refrain.

There will be no call for soldiers,
In that happy land on high,
Where some day we'll clasp the dear hand
Of our brave young soldier boy.

Good bye, Tom, my dearest cousin,
It is all that I can do;
But while life is still my portion,
I will always think of you.

British Ambassador Tenders Apologies to President Wilson

Washington, D.C., May 13.—Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British Ambassador, to-day apologized to President Wilson because William G. McAdoo, Secretary of the Treasury; Mrs. McAdoo and the members of the United States delegation to the International High Commission Conference at Buenos Ayres did not receive as elaborate a welcome as that accorded Theodore Roosevelt at Trinidad, British West Indies.

The British Ambassador explained that the seeming slight was due to a misunderstanding among the local officials at Trinidad. The British Government there is newly appointed and did not know that he should have accorded the Secretary of the Treasury a formal greeting. The explanation closed the incident.

It appears that after Mr. McAdoo called in person officially on the British Governor the latter sent an aid to return the call. When Mr. Roosevelt stopped at Trinidad recently the Governor arranged for him a splendid reception, bands played and crowds welcomed the streets; the officials welcomed him formally.

Mr. McAdoo came along soon afterward, as Secretary of the Treasury of the United States, at the head of the United States delegation to the High Commission Conferences, and with the daughter of the President as his wife. There was no formal welcome, however—only a few persons were on hand when he and the other members of the delegation arrived aboard the United States cruiser Tennessee. The estimate of how many were there varies. One report is that only one negro was on hand.

When the higher British officials heard that a spectacular demonstration had been accorded to Mr. Roosevelt and scarcely any attention paid to Mr. McAdoo and his party, they were greatly exercised. A report was made to the British Foreign Office and Sir Cecil Spring Rice, the British Ambassador, was instructed to present apologies to the President.

Strategic.

Militant Father (sternly)—Were you running away from that little boy this morning?

Resourceful Youngster (who reads the newspapers)—Oh, no, I was just conducting a strategic retreat. When I got him good and tired I knocked the stuffin' out of him.
