Theatrical

The leading male character in "Man to Man," the new melodrama presented by Butterfield and Bromslo, is a graduate of Harvard law school, who on account of his failing health, has gone to the Adirondack mountains to recuperate. There, strengthened by the bracing mountain air, he remains in the capacity of guide. The heroine is the ward of a crafty hotel keeper, who uses his mountain hotel as a rendezvous from which to carry on an extensive thieving operation. She is named Elsie, has been well educated by her crafty guardian. The love story concerns these two. A county sheriff in the mountain district, a chambermaid at a mountain hotel, and a country boy who is ambitious to enter the "maris of trade" in the city, furnish the comedy element. An Italian bear tamer and the miserly and thieving hotelkeeper furnish foil for these characters, and the whole, it is said, is remarkably balanced. The play was written in New York City, and many of the incidents in the play are said to have actually occurred. "Man to Man" Company appear at the Grand on Monday evening, April 21st.

International Bible Lesson for Tomorrow—Peter and Cornelius—Acts 34-48.

Golden Text—"God is no respecter of persons."

Yet the angel said, thy prayers and thine aims have gone up for a memorial before God, who respects works meet for repentance. How difficult to break down the religious prejudice of the Jews against Gentiles, even the apostles, although from His own lips they were commanded to "go into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature," and were baptised with the Holy Ghost, had the gift of tongues, etc. They blamed Peter for doing the very thing Jesus had said to be done, who, defending his course, declined. "Who was he that he could withstand God?" (See Ch. xi, 3-17.) Religious human nature has not changed a particle. "We forbid others because they follow not us," yet he is Lord of all and for all. Peter as an eye witness, in a few words gives a summary of the life, the death and resurrection of the Lord Jesus, who shall be judge of living and dead, and declares that all who believe on Him shall be forgiven. The Holy Spirit endorses this truth by His descent, while Peter was speaking, on all present, to the amazement of the Jewish believers. The first sermon to Gentiles was a grand success. "Whosoever will, send the proclamation over vale and hill."

DRESDEN

April 19.—Frank Laird has had some maple and evergreen trees planted in front of his new residence on North street. Two lads leading a broncho up North and St. George streets last evening caused considerable excitement amongst the pedestrians, who found it difficult to escape from being run over or kicked by the vicious and unmanageable beast. The practice of leading unmanageable horses or riding them at full speed across the crossing from Peters blacksmith shop to the well at the opposite livery stable has become a nuisance and should be put a stop to. Miss Beatrice Budd is the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. F. Cragg, Detroit. Mrs. N. Waffle is visiting friends in Bolton, near Toronto. Several of our citizens were in Wallaceburg yesterday afternoon attending the funeral of the late Aaron Gordon. W. H. Switzer went to Wallaceburg last evening. A special meeting of the council was held last evening to confer as to the condition of the fire engine. The mayor and all members of the council were present. A Park of Chatham had examined the engine and reported to the council that a new boiler was needed, also other repairs. He would put in the same style of boiler for $400, or a Donald's boiler for $500. After some discussion the matter was left to the Fire, Water and Light committee. The matter of street sprinkling was then brought up and the work given to George Davis at $75 per day. Council adjourned.

Liquidation Sale of Clothing

First a word of explanation. Pursuant to the death of our senior partner certain forms prescribed by law must be carried out until arrangements can be made for the continuance of the business. This is all that is meant by the term "liquidation", and the solvency and standing of the house are no way effected.

Some ten days ago we announced that many lines of goods would be reduced for clearance as soon as our liquidation inventory was completed. The task has taken longer than we counted on, but stock taking in our three stores is now finished and the bargains are ready.

A large cash amount will be required for the closing out of the old firm's affairs, and we provide inducements that should through the store some weeks to come. Wanted goods every one. We need not dwell on their excellence; people know the T. & D. standard pretty well. To-day we tell of clothing bargains; they're all ready—come when you will.
