CURED BY ONE SET OF CUTICURA REMEDIES

"My baby's face was a mass of sores. The doctor called it eczema, but the child grew worse, the disease eating the flesh away from his nose, and spreading to his body. Neighbours said it was the worst case they had ever seen. His suffering was terrible, and he would scratch and thear away the flesh. We then used the Cuticura Remedies, one set curing him completely, and healing his face without scar or blemish.—Wm. Cridland, 35 Winchester St. Penton-wille Rd., N. London, Eng." WEST,

Too Much Rain In Manitoba.
Winnipeg, June 30.—"Too much rain" is generally the opinion of farmers in the greater part of Manitoba and Eastern Assintbola. The weather has been generally cold and unsettled, and the reports of the railway companies, usually so optimistic, betray traces of anxiety in widely scattered districts. In the higher lands of Manitoba and Assintbola wheat is very forward and promising, with every prospect of an extraordinary heavy yield, provided July is hot and fairly dry. Coarse grains and roots are continuing to de excellently, and oats in particular promise a heavy crop. mise a heavy crop.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED.

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrb, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous an inflamed condition of the mucous

ONE DOLLAR SAVED REPRE-SENTS TEN DOLLARS EARNED.

The average man does not save to exceed ten per cent. of his earnings, He must spend nine dollars in living expenses for every dollar saved. That being the case he cannot be too careful about unnecessary expenses. Very often a few cents properly invested, like buying seeds for his garden, will save several dollars outlay later on. It is the same in buying Chamberlain's Colie, Cholera and Diarrhoes. Remedy. It costs but a few cents, and a bottle of it in the house of ten saves a doctor's bill of several dollars. WINNIPEG IN 1904.

Sir John Macdonald Was Burn In Effigy and Now-Initial Inertia Overcame.

In Effigy and Now—initial

Inertia Overcame,

Winnipeg is an Indian word which, being interpreted, means "Middy Watte." No one who knows Winnipeg will deny the pictorial realism of the pithet "muddy" as applied to either water or land in its vicinity. But the student of place names will discover a deeper significance in the adjective, says The Canadian Magazine. "Muddy York" of the early nine centificantury is Toronto of the twentieth. This may satisfy some that there is a cabalistic reason for Winnipeg's growth. Fut in the year 1869, when 'twenty small structures, containing 100 souls, clustered near the old H. B. Co.'s fort, whose gateway alone remains, it would have taken a seer's vision to picture city of 75,000 souls teeming there within 35 years. Hundreds of miles from any American city, more than a incusand miles from the nearest Canalian city, without rallway communication with either of these, rebellion and with either of these, rebellion and with a quickened sense of the frony of life that one reads the account, penned by an eye-witness of how Sir John A. Macdonald was burned in effigy by ardent Reformers in the streets of Winnipeg's destiny sure and swift.

In the upbuilding of a town, as in the starting of a machine, the prime difficulty is to overcome the initial inertia. When that is done with unhealthy haste, you have a "boom." The Winnipeg stands. In 1878, the town's population was 6,500, and in that year rail communication with Emerson near the American boundary was obtained. In 1880, the population was 12,000—the inrush had begun. In 1882, the population of four years before had a gents of heart years and communication with Emerson near the American boundary was obtained. In 1880, the population was 12,000—the inrush had begun. In 1882, the population of four years before had been quadrupled—had leapt from 6,500 to 25,000. The historic winter of '82'83, when fortunes were made in an evening, and real estate offices were a sight to behold as gesticulating land agents pointed of the early '80's,

The boom played havoc with the lo-almost exciting.

The boom played havoc with the local prophets of the early 80's, who fixed the population at 100,000 for 1890. Still, Winnipeg recovered from the boom, and the rest of the tale is written, fascinatingly, in immigration pamphlets, and more indelibly, in the streets of Winnipeg.

Winnipeggers are not looking for scenery—a page of bank clearings or a list of building permits is more grateful to their eyes than a pamphlet on summer resorts. And who shall blame them? Great inventors and writers have remained closeled for weeks and months till they were delivered of the children of their foral. A man realizing a great idea does not go summering at a spa. So a city whose avowed aim is to build itself into the metropolls of a Dominion in thirty years does not waste much consideration on the ornamental.

Winnipeg is a city where one lives on schemes, on ideas, on projects and On the excitement of executing them; it is for the mathematician, the man who loves to work out problems, to speculate on probabilities, to digest on the excitement of executing them, it is for the mathematician, the man who loves to work out problems, to speculate on probabilities, to digest statisties; it is not for the tired aesthete who is resing on the laurels of his achievement, and seeking to enjoy a rich, colored life. Thus it is that in the sitting rooms of Winnipeg boarding houses groups of young men are seen excitedly discussing great and glorious business schemes — how they are going to monopolize the schoolsupply business in the country districts, how much of the Province they can canvass in their "holdays" for some concern and how they can wedge in here or there. To show how absorbed the people are in "business," I may say that one evening, as I rode in a street car along Main street, I was speaking to a friend about the old days of Fort Garry, when a citizen, who had evidently seen me wave my band actived the province they are considered the people are in "business," I may say that one evening as I rode in a street car along Main street, I was speaking to a friend about the old days of Fort Garry, when a citizen, who had evidently seen me wave my band active with Louis Drago, Canadian Passenger Agent, 691-2 Yonge St., Toronto. speaking to a friend about the old days of Fort Garry, when a citizen, who had evidently seen me wave my hand over some vacant land, sidled up and hinted that, being an old inhabitant, he could give me any information desired. I thought I might get some tales of rebel days, and put well-calculated questions. His face became suspicious and suddenly he asked right from the shoulder, "Are you a buyer?" Indiscreetly I said I was not, and he shuffled into a corner. His object in life was to sell his land, and to that end only was he an old inhabitant. Of course, his churlishness was not characteristic of the people of Winnipeg, who are the kindest and most sociable in the world, but his exaited idea of "business," his projection of it into every hing else, was a mark of the city he lived in.

COSSAR'S MOOSE HEAD. Canadian Swindled In New Game From the Old Land.

James Cossar of Peachland, B. C., has returned to that Province from the old country with a new tate of how they swindle Colonials in "dear old Lunnon." While he was visiting the beside a volume and the was substituted by the said he had sought him for a long time because he had undertaken, at the request of a British Columbia friend of Cossar's, to hand over a moose head and a box of apples. The goods were at Clapham Junction and there were railway charges to the extent of $25. Would Mr. Cossar get the goods and psy him.

Would Mr. Cossar get the goods and pay him.

The tale was so plausibly told that Mr. Cossar ponied up the five V's without first making a visit to Clapham Junction. When he did get there he found, of course, that there was no moose head and not an apple for him. Scotland Yard was consulted and one of the detectives of whom Sherlock dolmes speaks so lightly was put on the track of the swindler. The man was caught and was sentenced to six menths with hard labor.

THE MARKETS.

I had my heddus roll on. Aunt Storer said it ought to be made less. Aunt Deming said it ought not to be made at all. It makes my head itch and ache and burn like anything, mamma. This famous roll is not made wholly of a red cow tail, but is a mixture of that and horsehair (very coarse) and a little human hair of yellow hue, that, I suppose, was taken out of the back part of an old wig. Nothing renders a young person more arniable than virtue and modesty without the help of false hair, red cow tail and D— (the barber).—"Diary of Anna Green Winslow," Alice Mono Earle, 1771.
