

THE ACADIAN

WOLFVILLE, N. S., JUNE 1, 1900

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Next week will again see the anniversary of Acadia, when our town will no doubt be filled with visitors.

Wolffville may be a rather conservative town, but it is becoming pretty generally understood that when our people undertake anything it is not done by halves.

Stirring war news is the order these days, and if yesterday's dispatches are to be relied on it looks as if the war was practically over in South Africa.

Among those who received the LL. D. degree at the centennial celebration of the University of New Brunswick on Tuesday were the following well known in Wolffville, all of whom have our congratulations.

The well-informed editor of the Orchardist, in his write-up of the Queen's Birthday sports here, says they were held on the campus.

It is with much regret we record the very sudden death of Frederick, on Tuesday, 29th of May, of Professor Theodore Harding Rand, D. C. L., of McMaster University, Toronto.

Dr. Rand was a native of Cornwallia, a graduate of Acadia College, where he received the degrees of M. A., and D. C. L., and where he was professor for two years.

From 1871 to 1883 he labored in New Brunswick in the same kind of service, for he put into successful operation there the Free Schools of that province.

In Ontario he rendered large service to the Baptists especially, and to the general education of the province, by securing the establishment of McMaster University as an independent institution.

The funeral will be held at Central Baptist Church, Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The services will be in charge of Rev. C. H. Martell, M. A. The sermon will be by Dr. Kohnstedt. Other clergymen will assist.

On Tile Draining.

Where a main is required to receive the water from the laterals, the main should be a larger tile than the laterals, usually a 3 inch main with two inch laterals.

Where two lines of tiles were laid at right angles to one another and the upper line was laid three inches and, I sunk an oil cask and cut openings for the tiles about fifteen inches above the bottom and covered the cask with plank, the object being to enable me to remove the sand which was discharged by the upper tile.

Sometimes the formation of the field enables one to drain the land in two opposite directions. It is well to take advantage of this, always aiming to make the drains as short in any one direction as possible.

I have not yet determined how far apart tile drains in dyked land should be laid, but at present deem fifty feet about right.

Canadian Soldiers.

Lord Roberts in his reports to the War Office has on more than one occasion alluded to the brilliant dashes of the Canadian Troops.

Our readers will be glad of the opportunity to secure a really handsome portrait of the great general and we are glad to be able to present such an opportunity.

Notes from Berwick.

"How dear to my heart are the scenes of my childhood. When fond recollections present them to my view."

Here in the home of my childhood my feelings are taken captive by the memories of most things and all the environments of the years and the landscape of the long ago are changed, but vividly in imagination do I call up "the dear dead past."

There were only narrow fields along the gray and black stumps of the primeval forest which my childish imagination often conjured into ghosts and goblins; and the encircling hills and vales where orchards and wide cultivated fields gave glory to the landscape were then clothed in the wild woods of centuries.

More than a score of years ago retired Methodist ministers elected their homes in Berwick, as best suited for health and lean purses, and the years have only proved the wisdom of their choice.
