Where We Stand.

An impression has been created in which is now—naving passed the Assembly—being debated in the Council.

Why this mistaken idea should have gained any credence, we do not know, as we were perfectly sure that we had stated our position in clear clusions. and unmistakable language. Yet in order to refute permanently any feeling that we have changed in our attitude toward a measure which owes its generation to the advocacy of this some time attended yesterday's sitpaper, we offer no excuses for republishing the article (which led the way discussion on the Military Service to the adoption of the Selective Con-Bill. Hon. Mr. Blandford did not take scription Measure, by the Govern- his seat, precedents in favor, notment,) as it appeared on Thursday, withstanding.

"After last night's meeting the Telegram is more than ever convinced that recruiting by voluntary enlistment is a back number, and if the same did not occur to the speakers we have no hope for them. We have been asked by no less a person than the Prime Minister of England to reinforce our Regiment with our Regiment with the LEAST POSSIBLE DELAY. T H A T MEANS AT ONCE, and yet no plan has been formulated, no new move has been inaugurated by the Government. We were told last night that the new policy would soon be announced. In other words we are asked to WAIT AND SEE." Meanwhile the Regiment needs men. In the early days of the big drive, a despatch stated that the Newfound-landers were in it and "FIGHT-ING MAGNIFICENTLY" and we can be sure that they were also "dying magnificently," yet we "dying magnificently," yet we were told by the Prime Minister last night that the TONNAGE OUESTION is the crux of the We were also assured that the new recruiting campaign was launched. If that be so it has stuck on the ways. We want no more platitudes. The country more platitudes. needs action, instanter. The glori-ous Royal Newfoundland Regiment is dying one by one. Nine hundred men in France and no reserves at Winchester. A few hours in the battle line and the battalion is deciminated. REIN-FORCE YOUR REGIMENT AT ONCE, says the Imperial Government, but instead of doing so, the authorities intend reverting a method which has failed and which they know has failed. For that reason and for the reason that the needs of our Regiment are imperative the Telegram antare imperative the telegram and the the the transfer and the transfer an nounces that it is unalterably and unequivocally opposed to a resumption of recruiting and takes the stand that SELECTIVE CON-SCRIPTION should be enforced at once. Reasons other than at once. Reasons other than those adduced will be given in greater detail at a later date in

In the issues of April 5th and fol and letters from various Its first and second reading in the Council, the Herald put forward many reasons against it, the principal one being that it was ABSOLUTELY UN-WORKABLE IN THIS COUNTRY. Today, having executed a remarkable volte-face, with a facility which if conscription had been worked been too evident to pass unnoticed vessels senerally which if conscription had been worked been too evident to pass unnoticed vessels senerally make that it was a facility which if conscription had been too evident to pass unnoticed vessels senerally make that it was a facility which if conscription had been too evident to pass unnoticed vessels senerally make that it was a facility which if conscription had been too evident to pass unnoticed vessels senerally make that it was a facility which if conscription had been too evident to pass unnoticed vessels senerally make that it was a facility which it is the dope which 'Argus' has been notwithstanding the fact that he had notwithstanding the fact that he had notwithstanding the fact that he has notwithstanding the fact that he had notwithstanding the f

These, we are prepared to support, but any measures, such as an Extension Bill and others which are of a nature to amend the Constitution, under present cases, which could not have arisen occurred under the more equitable laws of conscription as against the voluntary was deferred.

The exigencies of war demand that certain defensive measures be enacted, and notwithstanding the lack of representation in the House of Assembly the people, we believe, will agree to these, people, we believe, will agree to these, ONLY. The second reading of the Military Service Bill was moved by Hon. Mr. Ellis, who took occasion to refer to the many deeds of heroism performed by the Royal Newfoundland Regiment, and its present depleted ranks. The Bill was for the purpose of oroviding the requisite complement of men to keep the Regiment to full strength during the period of the war. Certain clauses were explained by the speaker, particularly those relating to the exemption of Theological students and Ministerial probationers and those doing work of national importance. The proclamation on the passing of the Bill, would not issue till May 24th for the reason that it will take some time to inform the whole of the Dominion of the law.
