From Rig.

Injured Man Is an ex-Street Railway Employe.

James Paterson, a farmer, living east of the city, received serious and possibly fatal injuries in a runaway accident on Queen's avenue at 2 p.m. oday. He was driving a horse attached to a light wagon containing a number of empty packing cases. Midway between Park avenue and Richmond street the horse took fright and started to run away. Mr. Paterson either fell or jumped from the vehicle, alighting on his head, and being knocked unconscious. The horse continued to run, and jumped over a boulevard railing at the corner of Park avenue, the wagon catching on the railing and separating from the harness. The horse was then caught. Meanwhile, the injured man had been picked up, the ambulance summoned, and Dr. Mc Laren called. The latter at once ordered Mr. Paterson taken to the hospital, where his injuries could be properly attended to. Mr. Paterson is an elderly man. He was employed as a motorman on the street railway before the strike. His son, James G. Paterson,

James Paterson Fell or Jumped | Reached River Bank as Lad Was Going Under.

> "Will I Get My Candy If I Go Home?" Was Boy's Query.

Police Officer Roland Johnston performed a very commendable deed at Springbank yesterday. He was on duty there, and while patrolling the grounds just north of the pavilion, on his wheel, heard screams coming from the direction of the river. He quickly dismounted, and ran to the bank, where he found a ten-year-old boy struggling tune a time, would surely have been drowned, as he could not swim, and was excited. When the lad had been pulled out and set on his feet, he ran to one of the officials and anxiously inquired: "If I go home now, will I get my candy? With the exception of Police Officer

Will Not Oppose Latest Application by Sifton Firm.

Mr. C. B. Hunt, manager of the London Electric Company, intimated this oppose the latest application by the Sifton Company, "We never claimed any exclusive rights," said Mr. Hunt. "If an individual or a firm chooses to locate a power house in the center of a block and supply electricity to those within the block, we have no business to interfere, as the power is transmitted over private property; but it is different, when anyone undertakes to cross the street and carry wires from block to block. In that case we merely ask They Fall Over a Precipice Three that he be subjected to the same conditions as ourselves, by being obliged to grant competition to people on the outskirts of the city, as well as those in the center. We have often extended our lines into residential streets at a considerable loss, in the hope of popularizing electric lighting. In asking that competitors be put on the same footing, our position is only reasonable and fair.' Mr. Hunt pointed out that the Lon-don Electric Company's plant represented a large outlay, and that scores of people had their savings invested in the business. The first two years it paid no dividends; the third year it paid per cent; the following year no divcent. The earnings in any year had never been more than 71/2 per cent. The company paid out $18,000 per year in wages, and $2,500 per year to the city in taxes. In addition the city had the right to use the company's poles for its

Two Mon Plunge to Death in the Chaudiere Rapids.

Ottawa, Ont., June 17 .- Two unknown men jumped off the C. P. R. bridge, above the Chaudiere Falls yesterday and were drowned. They jumped into the surging, boiling cauldron known as the "Big Kettle" and went down in sight of a number of J. R. Booth's millmen, who were powerless to interfere. The act seemed to be most deliberate and carefully planned. Neither the Ottawa nor Hull police have received reports of men being missing, and the identity of the suicides is a complete mystery.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, June 17 .- The Canadian Pacific Railway crosses the Ottawa River some distance above the Chaudiere Falls. There is a small island about the center of the river at this point. Yesterday afternoon two men were seen crossing from the Ottawa end over the bridge. They stood for a short time in water up to his mouth. He was on the center of that part of the gradually slipping down the steep in- bridge which rests on the Ottawa shore cline of the river's bed, and had not and the island, and then moved tothe police officer arrived at so oppor- wards the Quebec side. When they reached the third pier of the bridge on the Quebec side, where the water runs swift and deep, they stepped from the bridge on to the pier, and made a fatal plunge into the stream. Workmen engaged among the logs near the shore saw them float down stream and over Johnston, not a soul was in sight at the Chaudiere Falls. The two men time of the occurrence. The bank evidently caved in while the boy was ies have not been seen ies have not been seen.

John Shaw & Sons, seed merchants, write that the seed lodges, held a very pleasant banquet last night at the rooms of Prospect Lodge, Duffield block. The occasion was the official visit of Grand Chancellor E. K. Barnsdale, of Stratford. Places at the tables were occupied by about 75 persons, who heartily enjoyed the event, and who did all in their power to make their guests' visit a pleasant one. In this they succeeded, the latter being loud in their praises of their entertainment.

The usual lodge toasts were honor-driving to the cabinet today the four additional commissioners for the Ottawa improvement. Bons, seed merchants, write that the seed market, as might be expected at this dull time of the year, is now thinly attended, and presents no feature of interest. Some few transactions are reported in Chilian red clover seed, but the high prices now asked do not encourage business. For mustard and rapeseed former prices are asked. Meantime, notwithstanding the advanced season, a few orders continue to drop in for tares. Both canary and hempseed must be quoted dearer, the latter substantially so, and there are indications of the advance continuing. Other kinds of bird seeds, however, show ment alteration in value. For blue peas and harloot beans the market remains firm.
