Ammunition and reinforcements arrived in time, but the casualties in the two regiments had been 106 officers and 4,000 of the rank and file. Of the enemy more than 8,000 lay killed or wounded. The Nagoya division had done its duty nobly, for, though it had not driven back the enemy it held in heck a greatly superior force, which if released, would have imperiled the turning movement of Gen. Nogi's army, and might thus have changed the issue of the battle. A kanjo as subsequently handed to the division by Field Marshal Oyama, It ran thus: "On the 7th of March and continuously until the 8th at Likwanpau you successfully resisted an attack by a force of the enemy CRADDOCK, ARCHITECT-ALBION many times your superior in numbers. In the desperate fight with the numerous battalions stationed to guard Likwanpau you were not deterred by heavy casualties and inflicted enormous losses on the enemy, and finally frustrating his design, enabled the third army to successfully carry out its turning operations. I consider that your achievement has been truly great and I confer upon you this kanjo. (Signed) OYAMA." This is the division which had already distinguished itself at Nanshan Hill by wading through the sea to attack the Russians' left on the highlands of the Kinchau Isthmus. Every unit of the corps deserved a kanjo for its fight at Mukden, but none so well as the two regiments of Gen. Nambu's brigade. The comment of the Japanese on Major Okoshi's testament is that its entire freedom from passion or emo-Dundas. ## QUINN FOUND GUILTY

(Continued from page 1.) His lordship's address to the jury was a very clear review of the evidence. If out that several witnesses for the defense were interested ones and that sveral witnesses for the crown, who identified Quinn, would have little reason to have told an untruth. The question was, which were mistaken-the witnesses for the crown or the defense? "We start with this fact practically admitted, that some man, personating Frederick Palmer, committed the crime of perjury. Your sole duty, therefore, is to decide whether the prisoner in the box is that man or not.' The court, continuing pointed out that three men, Fred Harris, W. B. Walker, and D. B. Macdonald, swore that they believed Quinn was the man, although they were not positive. Such evidence, uncorroborated, would be used every cartridge in the pouches of weak; but Joseph Hill and Fred Phillips swore that they had known Quinn, and were sure that he was the man. the enemy's dead and wounded. The Waterworks Problem.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: Seeing it intimated that an expenditure of half a million dollars will probably be necessary for to get an adequate supply of water for the city, I beg leave to call your attention discussion or consideratian to what ppears to possibly be a feasible plan to afford a sufficient supply and avoid this enormous outlay. Could not Anthistle's gravel pit be easily converted into a reservoir. It's proportions are such that if full it would be practically inexhaustible for fire purposes, and would it not be well worth while to bore in it for water. At the asylum, I understand, they have a good artesian well. Why not try for one in the gravel pit? could not a stand pipe be erected on he hill beside the pit and utilized to e all that is necessary at a cost far less than the above-mentioned sum. Yours truly, TAXPAYER.

All East End Business Men to Have Half Holiday Every Week.

The business men of East London have taken a decided step in the direction of Wednesday half holidays, regardless of what their downtown brethren are to do in the matter. For the months of June, July and August, every store and shop east of Adelaide street, will close sharp at 1 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon. This is the result of a petition which has been quietly circulated among the east end business men during the past few weeks The names of practically every man who does any kind of business at all in the east end appear on the list.
