

BIG DOLL SHOW TO BE HELD IN MASONIC TEMPLE

DOLL SHOW IS OPEN TO EVERYONE AT TEN NEXT SATURDAY MORNING

Will Last All Day, and Here Are Rules to Follow.

THIRTEEN PRIZES

Any Kind of Doll May Enter—Dresses Must Be Made by Girls.

Next Saturday—the Doll Show! You have just one week left to get your doll ready for the first Doll Show London has ever had.

The Show will last all next Saturday, Jan. 26, in the Masonic Temple on Queen's avenue. The Advertiser is throwing it open to every kind of doll—Dolly dolls, little dolls, old dolls, new dolls, boy-dolls, girl-dolls, any doll at all.

Altogether thirteen prizes are offered for the best dressed dolls in the Show. The list of prizes is given in the next column on this page.

Two Big Divisions.

The Doll Show is divided into two big classes.

The first division is for the dolls which have come from the Doll Lady, and eight prizes are offered.

The Doll Lady is staying in London until the Show is over and is still giving her dolls away.

The second division is for all other dolls, and five prizes are offered.

All the prizes are given for the best dressed dolls in both divisions. There is no age limit for the little girls who compete.

The clothing on which the judges will make their decisions must be made by the little girls themselves. Other clothing may be worn by the doll, but such clothing will not be considered in the judging.

Three Expert Judges.

Three expert judges have consented to choose the thirteen winning dolls. They are:

Miss Isabelle Craig, supervisor of Household Science in Public Schools.

Miss H. Gerrard, instructor in Domestic Arts in the Technical High School.

Miss H. Stevens, instructor in Dressmaking in the Technical High School.

Opens at Ten O'clock.

The Show will open in the Masonic Temple at ten o'clock next Saturday morning. Dolls may be brought in until two o'clock in the afternoon.

Entries will close at that hour and the judging will commence.

Each doll should bear a tag, securely fastened, giving the doll's name, and the name, address and age of the little girl who owns the doll.

Will Be On Exhibition.

When the dolls are brought in, they will be placed on stands provided for that purpose, and will remain on exhibition throughout the day. Little girls competing should be present in the afternoon when the judges take place in order to answer questions by the judges. All the dolls must remain on exhibition until the judging is completed. The winners will be announced about four o'clock.

Open to the Public.

The Doll Show is open to the public and everyone is invited to see the most beautiful dolls. And every little girl in London and Western Ontario is invited to bring her doll to the Show and meet all the other little girls and their dolls.

Read the prize list and have your doll all ready when the Masonic Temple opens at ten o'clock next Saturday morning.

13 Prizes Offered

London businessmen have become so interested in the big Doll Show that they have volunteered to supply all the thirteen prizes. Here they are—from well-known London merchants:

FIRST DIVISION—FOR DOLL LADY'S DOLLS.

FIRST PRIZE—Sunset Gold Mesh Coin Purse, from John A. Nash, My Jeweler.

SECOND PRIZE—Six portraits from the Darrah Studio.

THIRD PRIZE—Embroidered Bonnet and Dress for Dolly from Metropolitan Stores, Limited.

FOURTH PRIZE—Knitted Mittens and Booties for Dolly from McEwan's Yarn Shop.

FIFTH PRIZE—Enamelled Kiddie's Dinner Set from the Purdon Hardware.

SIXTH PRIZE—Set of Three Victor Records, "Songs for Little Folks," from Gerhard Heintzman.

SEVENTH PRIZE—Pair of Punch and Judy Comfy Slippers from J. P. Cook & Co.

EIGHTH PRIZE—Bottle of Toilet Water for dolly's bath from Strong's Drug Store.

SECOND DIVISION—FOR ALL OTHER DOLLS.

FIRST PRIZE—Set of Solid Gold Beauty Pins for dolly's Sunday dress from Sumner & Sons.

SECOND PRIZE—Set of Table and Chairs for dolly's party from the Thomas Furniture Company.

THIRD PRIZE—Pair of Kid Booties for dolly from Hubert Aspland & Sons.

FOURTH PRIZE—Doll's Toilet Set, toilet water, perfume, powder, etc., from Cairncross the chemist.

FIFTH PRIZE—"Rainbow Children," a children's story book, from Wendell Holmes Book Shop.

CANADIANS ARE URGED TO DEVELOP NEW TRADE

Concluded From Page 1.

contact with the merchants over there would work wonders in establishing the new trade outlets.

"What I think most necessary," he said, "is to have our manufacturers personally and intimately in touch with the men who are to sell their products there."

They could all go down there, but they should have some member of their firm go down often, as the Americans do.

With the smaller factories which could not afford to send a man down, I would advise a representative to go down.

It would carry out missionary and educational work for perhaps four or five firms. As long as he had sufficient technical knowledge of the various products to talk sensibly of their value and price, was a broad-minded chap who could see the other fellow's point of view, and a real salesman, he would get along well and produce results.

"As to the publicity the Dominion should get in these two countries, I think it is in a way up to Ottawa to undertake a more extensive campaign to this end. There are many ways in which it could be done, and it would have to be of such a nature that it would cover the whole field thoroughly. For instance, all the British Columbia Douglas fir 'Aussies' use they know only as Oregon pine. The Canadian firms are trying to change this now, but the process is a mighty slow one.

"The two trade commissioners in Australia and New Zealand are valuable men. They do a tremendous amount of work, but could not be expected to carry on any extensive campaign of advertising, even if it were their place to do so."

Of the markets in New Zealand, he is very optimistic, though the production fluctuates. There are periods of very low production. If there was an established outlet it would take care of these slack periods, and in this way the export trade might be able to solve some of our winter unemployment troubles."

Because there is a psychology in selling, the type of people in New Zealand and Australia has a distinct bearing on the export question.

Coming of an essentially British stock, they tend to be conservative. They do not change readily in their views on anything, and habit has a strong hold on their customs. On the other hand, when once they have been induced to become customers they are reliable and steady in their business relations. Mr. Clark sees them as a logical outlet for Ontario manufacturers, more especially now that the Panama Canal is in operation and that there is a regular monthly sailing from Atlantic ports to the Antipodes.

"In most businesses," he said, "production fluctuates. There are periods of very low production. If there was an established outlet it would take care of these slack periods, and in this way the export trade might be able to solve some of our winter unemployment troubles."

Because there is a psychology in selling, the type of people in New Zealand and Australia has a distinct bearing on the export question.

Coming of an essentially British stock, they tend to be conservative. They do not change readily in their views on anything, and habit has a strong hold on their customs. On the other hand, when once they have been induced to become customers they are reliable and steady in their business relations. Mr. Clark sees them as a logical outlet for Ontario manufacturers, more especially now that the Panama Canal is in operation and that there is a regular monthly sailing from Atlantic ports to the Antipodes.

"In most businesses," he said, "production fluctuates. There are periods of very low production. If there was an established outlet it would take care of these slack periods, and in this way the export trade might be able to solve some of our winter unemployment troubles."

Because there is a psychology in selling, the type of people in New Zealand and Australia has a distinct bearing on the export question.

Coming of an essentially British stock, they tend to be conservative. They do not change readily in their views on anything, and habit has a strong hold on their customs. On the other hand, when once they have been induced to become customers they are reliable and steady in their business relations. Mr. Clark sees them as a logical outlet for Ontario manufacturers, more especially now that the Panama Canal is in operation and that there is a regular monthly sailing from Atlantic ports to the Antipodes.

"In most businesses," he said, "production fluctuates. There are periods of very low production. If there was an established outlet it would take care of these slack periods, and in this way the export trade might be able to solve some of our winter unemployment troubles."

Because there is a psychology in selling, the type of people in New Zealand and Australia has a distinct bearing on the export question.

Coming of an essentially British stock, they tend to be conservative. They do not change readily in their views on anything, and habit has a strong hold on their customs. On the other hand, when once they have been induced to become customers they are reliable and steady in their business relations. Mr. Clark sees them as a logical outlet for Ontario manufacturers, more especially now that the Panama Canal is in operation and that there is a regular monthly sailing from Atlantic ports to the Antipodes.

"In most businesses," he said, "production fluctuates. There are periods of very low production. If there was an established outlet it would take care of these slack periods, and in this way the export trade might be able to solve some of our winter unemployment troubles."

Because there is a psychology in selling, the type of people in New Zealand and Australia has a distinct bearing on the export question.

Coming of an essentially British stock, they tend to be conservative. They do not change readily in their views on anything, and habit has a strong hold on their customs. On the other hand, when once they have been induced to become customers they are reliable and steady in their business relations. Mr. Clark sees them as a logical outlet for Ontario manufacturers, more especially now that the Panama Canal is in operation and that there is a regular monthly sailing from Atlantic ports to the Antipodes.

"In most businesses," he said, "production fluctuates. There are periods of very low production. If there was an established outlet it would take care of these slack periods, and in this way the export trade might be able to solve some of our winter unemployment troubles."

Because there is a psychology in selling, the type of people in New Zealand and Australia has a distinct bearing on the export question.

Coming of an essentially British stock, they tend to be conservative. They do not change readily in their views on anything, and habit has a strong hold on their customs. On the other hand, when once they have been induced to become customers they are reliable and steady in their business relations. Mr. Clark sees them as a logical outlet for Ontario manufacturers, more especially now that the Panama Canal is in operation and that there is a regular monthly sailing from Atlantic ports to the Antipodes.

"In most businesses," he said, "production fluctuates. There are periods of very low production. If there was an established outlet it would take care of these slack periods, and in this way the export trade might be able to solve some of our winter unemployment troubles."

Because there is a psychology in selling, the type of people in New Zealand and Australia has a distinct bearing on the export question.

Coming of an essentially British stock, they tend to be conservative. They do not change readily in their views on anything, and habit has a strong hold on their customs. On the other hand, when once they have been induced to become customers they are reliable and steady in their business relations. Mr. Clark sees them as a logical outlet for Ontario manufacturers, more especially now that the Panama Canal is in operation and that there is a regular monthly sailing from Atlantic ports to the Antipodes.

"In most businesses," he said, "production fluctuates. There are periods of very low production. If there was an established outlet it would take care of these slack periods, and in this way the export trade might be able to solve some of our winter unemployment troubles."

Because there is a psychology in selling, the type of people in New Zealand and Australia has a distinct bearing on the export question.

Coming of an essentially British stock, they tend to be conservative. They do not change readily in their views on anything, and habit has a strong hold on their customs. On the other hand, when once they have been induced to become customers they are reliable and steady in their business relations. Mr. Clark sees them as a logical outlet for Ontario manufacturers, more especially now that the Panama Canal is in operation and that there is a regular monthly sailing from Atlantic ports to the Antipodes.

"In most businesses," he said, "production fluctuates. There are periods of very low production. If there was an established outlet it would take care of these slack periods, and in this way the export trade might be able to solve some of our winter unemployment troubles."

Because there is a psychology in selling, the type of people in New Zealand and Australia has a distinct bearing on the export question.

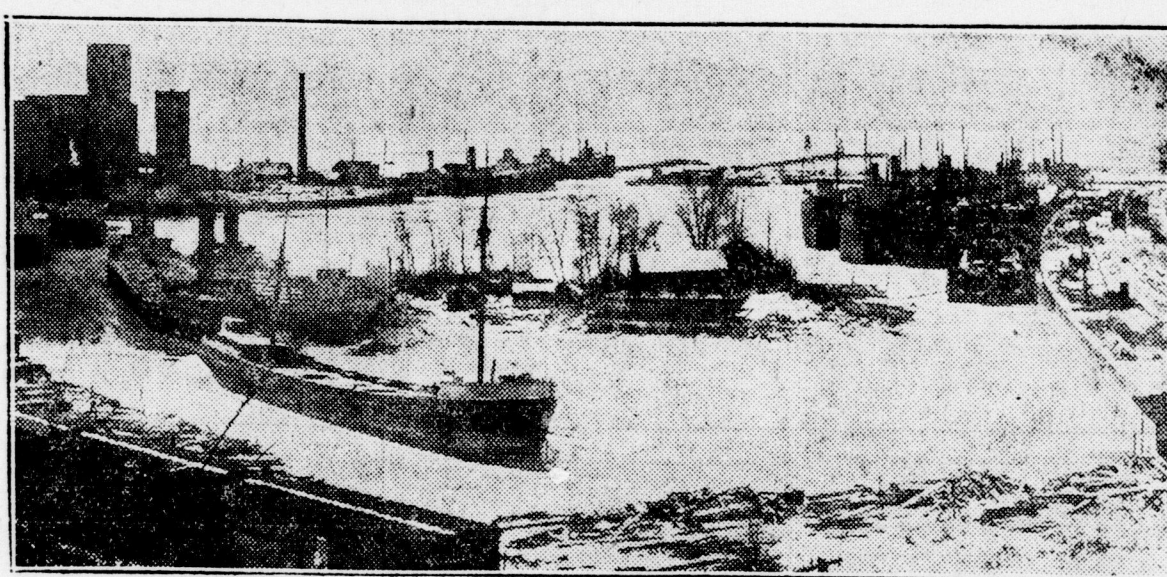

Coming of an essentially British stock, they tend to be conservative. They do not change readily in their views on anything, and habit has a strong hold on their customs. On the other hand, when once they have been induced to become customers they are reliable and steady in their business relations. Mr. Clark sees them as a logical outlet for Ontario manufacturers, more especially now that the Panama Canal is in operation and that there is a regular monthly sailing from Atlantic ports to the Antipodes.

"In most businesses," he said, "production fluctuates. There are periods of very low production. If there was an established outlet it would take care of these slack periods, and in this way the export trade might be able to solve some of our winter unemployment troubles."

Because there is a psychology in selling, the type of people in New Zealand and Australia has a distinct bearing on the export question.

Coming of an essentially British stock, they tend to be conservative. They do not change readily in their views on anything, and habit has a strong hold on their customs. On the other hand, when once they have been induced to become customers they are reliable and steady in their business relations. Mr. Clark sees them as a logical outlet for Ontario manufacturers, more especially now that the Panama Canal is in operation and that there is a regular monthly sailing from Atlantic ports to the Antipodes.

"In most businesses," he said, "production fluctuates. There are periods of very low production. If there was an established outlet it would take care of these slack periods, and in this way the export trade might be able to solve some of our winter unemployment troubles."

GOEDERICH HARBOR SETS RECORD. Above is shown Goederich harbor with its winter coat on and 19 vessels tied up for the season. This winter's fleet is the largest which has sought shelter in this port from the cold. The greater percentage of the boats are freighters, which will resume their activities on the lakes when the season opens.

News From City Churches

HOPE MISSION S. S.

The annual business meeting of the Hope Sunday School was held on Friday evening, Jan. 11. Reports from each branch showed an encouraging progress during 1923. The treasurer's report showed a good balance on hand, and the report of the mission committee showed a similarly satisfactory balance. The secretary reported that 2,960 pupils had attended the school during the year. Three deaths among the membership took place during the year. The following officers were elected: Superintendent, Mr. C. North; secretary, Mr. J. Tupholme; treasurer, Mr. Murray; assistant secretary, Mr. Doan; music committee, Mr. Doan; ushers, Harold Tilley and B. Pittaway; janitor, Mrs. B. Hoyt; assistant, W. Hoyt.

"WIN-ONE" DINNER.

The "Win-One" Class of the First Methodist Church held an enjoyable dinner party last evening, attended by class members and several guests. The tables were laid at prettily decorated tables in Wesley Hall. The class teacher, Miss Gurd, acted as hostess.

VALENTINE PARTY.

St. Valentine's Day is to be an important occasion for the children of the Hopeful Gleaners' Mission Band at Knox Presbyterian Church. On that day they are to hold a Valentine party in place of their regular meeting, and plans for it were made at the meeting yesterday afternoon. Twenty-five children were present.

TALBOT STREET CHOR.

Mr. Thomas Sharratt, choir leader of the Talbot Street Baptist Church, and Mrs. Sharratt entertained the members of the choir at their home on Victoria street last evening. The evening was spent very delightfully with games and singing. There was a pleasant interlude to this program when Mr. E. M. Brown, representing the choir, voiced their appreciation of Mr. Sharratt's work as leader. Similar short speeches of appreciation and thanks for the evening's hospitality were given by Mrs. Chalcraft and Mr. Raehor.

ST. JAMES' CHOIR BANQUET.

Members of the choir of St. James' Church, South London, numbering about 70 were entertained at a most enjoyable banquet last evening by the Ladies' Guild. Mrs. W. B. Woods acted as general convener. The tables were handsomely decorated and one of the nicest suppers ever tendered the choir was served to them by the guild members and assistants. Rev.

W. L. Armitage and Mrs. Armitage and the church wardens were also guests of the occasion. Mr. Armitage acted as toastmaster, and the various toasts were to the king, proposed by Mr. Armitage; to the choir, proposed by Mr. C. Hodgins, and responded to by the organist and choir leader, Mr. A. W. Anderton; to the ladies, proposed by G. A. Forsyth, and responded to by T. Willis and H. Clarke; to our boys, by Mrs. W. W. and Mrs. Husbands; to responded to by John Dawson; to the men, proposed by Miss Emery and with response by Mr. Bert Wood. At the conclusion of the toast-list, a hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Hunt the guild president, and the members was moved by Bert Wood, the choir president, and seconded by Mr. A. L. Greene. Mrs. Hunt replied, expressing the delight of not only the guild, but of the whole congregation with the work of the choir. Following this, the choir boys presented their work among them. Later in the evening, tables of progressive euchre were arranged in which the winners were: Ladies' first, Mrs. W. W. Barrows; ladies' second, Miss Doris Clarke; first prize for gentlemen, H. Graham; second prize, J. Raynor.

KING STREET CRADLE ROLL. The 1923 officers of the Cradle Roll department of King Street Presbyterian Church are to remain in their posts for another year, according to the report reached at the annual business meeting held at the Sunday School rooms yesterday afternoon. Mrs. John Colbert, the president, has already decided to continue her work during the coming year.

KNOX MEN'S CLUB. A volleyball team is being formed by the Club of Knox Presbyterian Church, following the business meeting last evening, the club members adjourned to the gymnasium, where they practiced for an hour or so, and also played basketball.

JUNIOR PATHFINDERS. The Junior Pathfinders of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church tried a new scheme for their meeting last evening, that of holding the business session before the supper, and it was found that this worked most satisfactorily. Miss O'Dell's group were in charge of the supper, and following this the girls carried out their monthly missionary program. Short talks were given by Eleanor Wilson, Barbara Fraser, Margaret Brown, and Margaret Mary. Mrs. Rider was a guest, representing the W. M. S., and at the conclusion of the program, she gave a short address expressing admiration of the manner in which the girls carried on their work. Later in the evening, the girls divided into groups for the devotion periods, and the evening concluded with an hour spent in physical drills and games. At later meetings, the girls plan to hold a thank-offering and also to entertain a number of children from the city orphanages.

NEW ST. JAMES L. AID. Mrs. W. T. Brown, 855 Wellington street, opened her home yesterday afternoon for a meeting of the Ladies' Aid of New St. James' Presbyterian Church, the first meeting of the new year, and of which the newly-elected president, Mrs. R. F. Donaldson, was in charge. The last report for 1923 was read and adopted, and motions concerning new activities were moved and seconded by members. A graceful expression of appreciation of the work done by the retiring officers, and a presentation of the new year, was made by Mrs. Strachan. Following the reading of the services by the past-president, Mrs. Melburg and Mrs. Brown. An especially happy meeting, it was attended by some 40 members, both new and old. The Misses Brown and Forsyth sang a duet, "April Morn," most acceptably. Mrs. Percy King, acting as accompanist. The Ladies' Aid wishes to extend to Mrs. Brown and those assisting, sincere thanks for their kindness. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. (Dr.) Murray.

Obituary. GEORGE H. HICKSON. The death occurred this morning, after a short illness, of George H. Hickson, 358 Ridout street south, a lifelong resident of London. Mr. Hickson, who suffered a stroke on Friday night in the month of March, was a prominent member of the community. He was a staunch member of Ridout Street Methodist Church, and a life member of the Sons of England. He is survived by his widow and two sons, William F. and Charles J., both of London, and one brother, Herbert E., of Buffalo. The funeral will be held Monday afternoon, Rev. John A. Agnew conducting a service at the house at 3 p.m. Interment will be made at Mount Pleasant Cemetery at 3:30, under the auspices of the Sons of England.

GOES TO WOODSTOCK. Norwich, Jan. 18.—Harry Vigar left the first of the week for Woodstock, where he has joined the Hydro-electric commission. He and Mrs. Vigar will be greatly missed here.

PARENTS' COUNCIL OF HIGH FORMED

Dr. Robert Gordon Heads New Society of East Collegiate.

A parents' council of the East London Collegiate Institute was organized last night, when many parents of the students met at Boyle Memorial Public School. Numerous complaints were received in regard to the inadequate accommodation at the present East Collegiate, which was formerly the Princess Avenue Public School.

Mr. Ferguson, principal of Boyle Memorial, was chairman of the meeting, and I. Goldstick was secretary. A constitution for the council was drawn up and unanimously adopted.

A nomination committee, composed of Mrs. John Rose, R. J. Blake, Mrs. Golby, M. Tait and Mrs. Sinclair, brought in the following slate of officers: president, Mr. Ed. McKay; honorary vice-presidents, Mr. Lawson, Mrs. Rose, Rev. R. Mess, Rev. A. E. Thompson, and Rev. A. Bice; president, Dr. Robert Gordon; vice-presidents, Mrs. John Hosie and Robert Ryder; director, Principal A. E. O'Neill; secretary, I. Goldstick; treasurer, L. Tait; councillors of school districts, Mrs. John Hosie, Mrs. Hopworth, Mrs. John Rose, Edling, S. Case; Chesley, H. Lee; Boyle, Mrs. Edwards; Hale, Mrs. John Hosie.

A discussion on secondary education took place, followed and Principal E. A. Miller of the Central Collegiate, Bryden Campbell and Mrs. John Rose all spoke briefly on the subject.

The meeting was concluded with pleasing solos by Mrs. McCormick, accompanied by Miss Kennedy and M. Dickinson, accompanied by Mabel Stallard.

CHelsea GREEN CHURCH REPORTS GOOD YEAR. Officers To Conduct Business For Presbyterian Congregation Are Chosen.

The annual business meeting of the Chelsea Green Presbyterian Church took place Thursday evening, with Mr. Neil Miller acting as chairman, and Mr. Edmond P. Reeves acting as secretary.

Reports of the year's work and finances from the various church organizations were presented and accepted, each department showing a splendid balance and testifying to the splendid work which has been accomplished under the officers of the past year.

Following the financial business, the election of officers took place and these managers were elected: Mr. Charles Jackson, Mr. Malcolm Maitland, Sen.; S. W. Haynes, Albert Parker, J. Bruce, and Mr. Edmond Reeves.

STEAMER ARRIVES SAFE. A Portland, Maine, Jan. 19.—The overdue British steamer, Wearbridge is safe, according to a radio message picked up here. She gave her position as off Cape Race. This is the first word received since she was reported on Dec. 3 as leaving Penarth, South Wales.

MONEY TO LOAN on good residential or stores property.

No inspection fees.

Arrangements promptly made.

Suitable repayment.

Any amount, $1,000 or over.

See Mr. Tufts at the Head Office, Wellington Street, opposite Y. M. C. A.

The London Life Insurance Company

Policies "Good as Gold"

HEAD OFFICE—LONDON, ONT.

Agencies in all principal cities

George Copeland Goes to Special Committee

George F. Copeland was appointed to the special committee of insurance of the board of education as the representative of No. 3 committee. This committee has been appointed to look into the matter of renewing fire insurance on all the schools, the present policies of which expire April 1.

CANADIAN MONEY STILL CONTROLS BUSINESS HERE

Royal Bank Issues Report On Foreign Capital Invested.

FEARS ARE QUIETED

A recent report from the head office of the Royal Bank of Canada at Montreal, concerning the investment of foreign capital in Canada, presents some interesting comparisons among foreign investors in Canadian enterprises.

According to the report, foreign capital invested in Canada increased from 450 millions in 1900 to over ten times that figure in 1923, following the most recent data published by the Financial Post.

American and British capitalists have been principally placing their money in municipal improvements, railway construction, paper and pulp production, mining, and the development of hydro-electric power. Great Britain still has the greatest amount of total capital invested in the Dominion (outside of Canada), but the United States occupies a position of priority in the field of industrial development.

Figures compiled by the department of the interior show this relationship in some of the leading items:

	Canada%	U.S.%	U.K.%
Lumber (Mill production) ..	72.3	14.5	13.1
Pulp and paper 69.5	20	7.4
Central Elec. stations ..	79.8	14.6	4.2
Steel Furnaces and Rolling Mills ..	57.7	40.8	1.9
Copper smelting 13.4	51.7	34.
Agricultural implement ..	50.	38.8	10.
Elect. apparatus 43.4	45.1	9.6
Cotton textiles 35.6	9.5	8.

In all the eight industries mentioned on the table, except copper smelting an electric apparatus, Canada has invested a higher percentage than that of the United States and the United Kingdom combined.

This accumulation of investment capital in the Canadian market is regarded by Canadian financiers as a condition that will quiet the apprehension that large investments of foreign capital might exert a dominating influence in Canada's national life. It is stated in the bank report that "Canadian brains and Canadian capital are still directing the main business of Canada, and it is much more probable that the new citizens and the new industries will be assimilated by us, rather than our individuality and control impaired by them."

CHelsea GREEN CHURCH REPORTS GOOD YEAR. Officers To Conduct Business For Presbyterian Congregation Are Chosen.

The annual business meeting of the Chelsea Green Presbyterian Church took place Thursday evening, with Mr. Neil Miller acting as chairman, and Mr. Edmond P. Reeves acting as secretary.

Reports of the year's work and finances from the various church organizations were presented and accepted, each department showing a splendid balance and testifying to the splendid work which has been accomplished under the officers of the past year.

Following the financial business, the election of officers took place and these managers were elected: Mr. Charles Jackson, Mr. Malcolm Maitland, Sen.; S. W. Haynes, Albert Parker, J. Bruce, and Mr. Edmond Reeves.

STEAMER ARRIVES SAFE. A Portland, Maine, Jan. 19.—The overdue British steamer, Wearbridge is safe, according to a radio message picked up here. She gave her position as off Cape Race. This is the first word received since she was reported on Dec. 3 as leaving Penarth, South Wales.

MONEY TO LOAN on good residential or stores property.

No inspection fees.

Arrangements promptly made.

Suitable repayment.

Any amount, $1,000 or over.

See Mr. Tufts at the Head Office, Wellington Street, opposite Y. M. C. A.

The London Life Insurance Company

Policies "Good as Gold"

HEAD OFFICE—LONDON, ONT.

Agencies in all principal cities

George Copeland Goes to Special Committee

George F. Copeland was appointed to