The Chittagong brought 12 Chinese and 8 Japanese passengers for Victoria and 45 se for Portland and Honolulu. She left Hongkong before that place was declared an infected port, and therefore has had no serious detentions, although the quarantine station at Yokohama has since been opened. The ship, having no exchanges, brought no very late Oriental news. The first of the new European line of steamships, running between Japan and London, via the Suez canal, sailed late last month with a 4,000ton cargo. Her departure caused much excitement among the Japanese, whose government has substantially subsidized the line. Since the Chittagong was here last a change has been made in the personnel of the ship's officer list, Second Officer Patrick Donnoven being succeeded by R. Rutherford.
