1881; and the exports to $3,876,850 during the same period, a decrease of $488,403.

The amount of exports as here given does to represent the whole of the produce that properly belongs to this port. Only the portion shipped to the United States is entered here. Produce going eastward is only entered at the custom houses at the frontier or at the seaboard. A large quantity of the imports intended for this city is also entered at outside custom houses. The report concludes by referring to the excursion to Chicago tendered the members of the board by the Grand Trunk railway company.

Montreal, reported verbally. Mr. Gurney said that the committee was informed by the postmaster that the matter had been under consideration by the postoffice department at Ottawa for over a year. The postmaster held that the only way of remedying the alleged inconvenience was to induce the Grand Trunk company to start the train one hour later, say at 8 o'clock. Mr. Gurney thought that the railway company had not given Toronto the same consideration as Montreal in the matter of postal facilities.

Mr. Rose drew the attention of the

Mr. Rose drew the attention of the meeting to the fact that by taking letters to the train they could be despatched within five minutes of starting time by placing them in a box in the depot provided for that purpose.

Mr. Christie said he was in Montreal last week, and learned while there that it was week, and learned while there that it was finally settled to lay a double track be-tween Toronto and Montreal. There would be a fast mail train put on, and present grievances in this respect would be removed.

At a later stage in the meeting the same uestion was revived, when considerable discussion was revived, when considerable discussion was evoked.

Mr. Robins thought it would be a good thing to follow the matter up and lay it before the Grand Trunk railway authorities and the dominion government.

Mr. McMaster said the trains were all an hour or so late, and if the matter were put fairly before the Grand Trunk authorities he did not think there would be much trouble in having the mail train started one hour later.

Mr. Rose—The burden of the complaint

Mr. Rose—The burden of the complaint laid in the fact that the arrangements for putting the mail bags on the train after they left the postoffice were very poor indeed. He thought a remonstrance with the Grand Trunk people would have a good effect.

Mr. Jaffray suggested as a remedy that a standing committee of the board be apsigned to ventilate all complaints with regard to the railway facilities afforded Toronto merchants. He thought that Mr. ronto merchants. He thought that Mr. Hickson would be willing to meet any suggestions of the board fairly in this matter. With regard to alleged discriminations of the Grand Trunk in favor of Montreal as against Toronto he would mention that while Montreal was a terminal point Toronto was nearly a way station.

Mr. McMaster was credibly informed that the postal receipts at Toronto were far larger than those of Montreal.

Several members—"That's right."
Mr. Jaffray did not wish to throw any disparagment on the commercial status of Toronto. He merely made the assertion geographically. Montreal was a terminus, while Toronto was a "way station," so to

After further discussion it was moved by Mr. M. Robins and by Mr. G. M. Rose, That a committee composed of the president, the vice-president, Messrs. Ed. Gurney, G. M. Rose, Robert Jaffray and W. F. McMaster be appointed to wait on the authorities of the Grand Trunk reilway and if necessary the postmaster-general with a view of securing the arrival of the morning train from Montreal an hour earlier and the departure of the evening train an hour later, and a corresponding change in the time of closing the mails.

This motion was carried unanimously.

Mr. McMaster read a circular from the Montraal board of trade intimating that that board has had for some time in con-templation the submission of a bill to the ets of the estates of insolvent debtors. The and makes several suggestions in connec-tion with framing a new act. A statement of the views of the Teronto board is respectfully solicited.

The circular was referred to the new turned out well and recommended that they be accouraged. He was happy to note the repeal of the bill stamp act. The question of insolvercy was referred to at length, and a letter received from Mr. Edward Evans of Montreel was embodied in the report. The latter makes several practical suggestions in the vexed question of insolvency. During the summer the attention of the house was called to the frequent loss of life and property on the sea coast of Nova Scotia. After consideration it was agreed that the president and secretary sign a petition the behalf of the board prepared by Messrs. Clements Bres. of Yarmouth, N.S., for presentation to the governmentat Ottawa praying that buoys and lighthouses be placed at certain dangerous points described in said memorial. The appointment of a silway commission occupied the attention of the board during the past year, and resulted in the appointment of a special committee to draft a memorial to the govcommittee to draft a memorial to the government praying for the appointment of a commission whose duty it shall be to adjusticate on all matters in dispute between railway companies and forwarding companies and between railway companies and individuals, with power to settle cases of unjust discrimination between certain

The council went into a committee of the whole to consider the report of the executive committee.

In the reading of the report a warm discussion arose as to the propriety and justice of awarding contracts for works to local tenderers without regard to lower tenders outside the city. Exceptions were taken to several items of the report, but on being put it was adopted without any amendment.

A Peculiar Case That Came Before Chief

one cent." These words were addressed to Mr. James Beaty, Q. C., M. P., in a semiundertone by a substantial looking colored matron, in a corner of Chief Judge Wilson's court yesterday afternoon. On Sept. 6, 1856, Daniel Bloxum, a colored cabman of some property, died, and in his will named Mr. Hugh Miller, the King street druggist, as his executor. Bloxum, in addition to lands in the township of Nottawasses, left a house in King street, near Berkeley, the present value of which is about $1500. His relict, Hannah Bloxum, was to have undisputed possession of this house design widewheed but in the event was to have undisputed possession of this house during widowhood, but in the event house during widowhood, but in the event of her getting married the property was to revert to the executor. On Dec. 23, 1877, the marriage of Mrs. Bloxum and Hugh Robson, a white man, was alleged to have been solemnized by a colored preacher named "Rev. James W. Mitchell," who is now said to be resident in Philadelphia. The first intimation that Mr. Miller had of Mrs. Bloxum's marriage was when he went to vote at the elections Mr. Miller had of Mrs. Bloxum's marriage was when he went to vote at the elections in 1879 on the property in question. Robson was there and claimed to be entitled to vote as the husband of Mrs. Bloxum. Mr. Miller now brings suit to regain possession of the house, since he claims that Mrs. Bloxum has violated the provisions of the will in so far as her title to the residence is concerned. Before the case was called Mr. Miller's counsel, Mr. Brough, said his client, would be satisfied with a nominal verdict of five cents, and he would allow Mrs. Bloxum would be satisfied with a nominal verdict of five cents, and he would allow Mrs. Bloxum to occupy the house the remainder of her life, provided she would relinquish all claims thereto. Mr. Beaty, her counsel, was making this proposition to her in a corner of the court room when she broke out with the above exclamation. The corner of the court room when she broke out with the above exclamation. The case was then proceeded with and a number of legal intricacies were developed. One of the points of the defence is that no such marriage as alleged ever took place. Mr. H. S. Crue, provincial inspector of vital statistics, produced a return duly filled in by "James W. Mitchell" [without the prefix "rev."] recording the marriage of Hugh Robson and Hannah Bloxum. Mr. Crue said he had no personal knowledge of James W. had no personal knowledge of James W. Mitchell. Arrival of Iron Huts for the Protection of DUBLIN, July 29-Davitt, speaking at the national league meeting on Sunday, referred to the terrible distress prevailing among tenant farmers, and said he defied any government to punish him for proclaiming the existing state of affairs in many districts where the suffering is almost indescribable. He felt it his duty to make known to the world the true condition of the people of Ireland, and was but obeying the dictates of humanity in so doing. Two iron huts have arrived at Cong for the accommodation of the protectors of the the accommodation of the protectors of the informer Kerrigan in the Joyce case and the informers in the Huddys case.

In the chamber of deputies this afternoon M. Demun contended that the real conspirators against the government were the republicans themselves. M. Fabre claimed liberty for the republic to take legitimate neasures in its own defence. Ribot said he could not agree to exceptional measures. The danger to the republic was in the perpetual crisis, which raised doubts as to the stability of republican institutions. It behooved the chambers to strengthen the republic by a temperate and tranquilizing course. M. Floquet said his object was to protect the republic, which was threatened by pretensions that had begun to have an effect. The debato was adjourned.

ENGLAND AND EGYPT.

Lord Granville's Reply to the Note of the Ex-French Premier London, Jan. 29.—The foreign office publishes the reply of Lord Granville to the dispatch of M. Duclerc, late French minister of foreign affairs, questioning the right England and Egypt to withdraw or modify the joint control. Lord Granville says the British government is unable to see anything which can be considered an engagement by the khedive that the control should be per petually maintained. The result of the military insurrection in Egypt virtually abrogated the control, and it can not be contended that the former arrangements are still obligatory. THE WORLD WOULD LIKE TO KNOW If the office of lieutenant-governor is worth $40,000
