Tyrrell, Helliwell, Doel, Wingfield, Millerd, Wallis was appointed to wait on Attorney General Mowat and endeavor if possible to have the tarriffraised respecting criminal justice accounts defining more deficitely what shall be paid by the government and what

by the county.

John Baxter reported the result of his interview with the minister of justice in reference to the advisability of admitting association. Mr. McMurrich set them right by stating that the remarks in question were made by another gentleman, but the majority of the trustees were inclined to the opinion that clergymen should not be on the examining staff at all. Mr. McMurrich did not offer an amendment, but took occasion to say that while he believed some trustees were enpressed on principle to ministhe testimony of the wife against her hus-band in cases of ill treatment, described or neglect to support. The migister said that the recommendation had been incorporated in a bill which had passed parliament. A vote of thanks having been passed to Ald. Baxter, the meeting adjourned.

Huntsmen v. Cavalry. Editor World: I have read in your issue of this morning the munificent offer of the master of the Montreal hunt to some and so this afternoon at Shaftesbury hall at 2 master of the Montreal hunt to equip and master of the Montreal hunt to equip and horse at his own expense troopers to be composed of members of the hunt club for service in the Northwest. Knowing the minister of militia and being fully aware of the value of services of a corps composed of such men. I have no hesitation in saying the offer will be accepted with the deserved thanks of the government and the people. I have attempted to show that the great defect in our cavalry is their riding. As a showy set of men in uniform on horses they command attention, but to the experienced horseman's eye this deficiency cannot be hidden.
