

PULVERIZED COAL IS NOW SEEN AS FUEL SOLUTION FOR HOME AND FACTORY

New Method of Consumption For Low Grade Bituminous Coal Provides Perfect Combustion With Entire Elimination of Carbon—Efficiency of Fuel Proven.

Pulverized coal will be one of the factors that will solve the fuel problem for Canada in the near future, according to City Engineer Near. Mr. Near recently took advantage of an opportunity to take a trip through the Ford plant at Ford, Ont., and he was particularly interested in the power plant there in which pulverized coal is used. The fuel is burned so efficiently that there is no trouble from black smoke as is noticed generally where bituminous coal is used. Although the pulverized coal is bituminous, the method of firing produces perfect combustion of the carbon and other substances are completely consumed within the firebox of the boilers. It will not be many years until the large steam plants in the country will be using this fuel, and it is not too much to expect that it will also be used for the heating of houses also. Mr. Near believes that in fact, one resident of St. Catharines expressed the opinion 10 years ago that pulverized coal would be distributed from the coal fields through huge pipes to be connected with the furnaces and apply the flame. Mr. Near thinks this is rather too much to expect, but it is quite probable that pulverized coal will be delivered from central yards by truck for domestic use.

There are large quantities of coal lying around the collieries now which could be utilized in plants such as that at Ford, Ont., Mr. Near explained. "The fuel is pulverized right at the plant where it is used and it is fed into the boilers by means of compressed air. The flow is regulated as the call for steam increases or decreases. The coal is so fine that it may be compared to a gas in this respect and the combustion is perfect. Although soft coal of all grades is used the smoke issuing from the chimney is practically white. There is nothing objectionable in it as there is when soft coal is burned in the ordinary way. This coal is quite low in price and it is a very satisfactory fuel from all standpoints. Not only is the cost low, but it requires but little attention. One man can do the work that would require several under the old system. Replied to a query, Mr. Near suggested it might be possible to equip domestic furnaces at a reasonable cost to burn this fuel. It would not be necessary to install a pulverizing plant at the homes, these could be placed at the coal yards, and all that would be needed at the furnaces would be some sort of equipment for providing a steady supply of compressed air. He is planning on giving this a test when it becomes necessary to make any change in the incinerator plant, but this may not be for some years yet. He is quite convinced that this is the fuel that will be in general use in a few years, particularly in large plants such as factories and central heating stations.

Ether Waves From a Rare Atmosphere

Soft maples must come from hardy stock—they stay naked all winter. We are wondering what action the prohibitionists are going to take should this be an "open" winter. Considering that the time has arrived for the annual "flu" drive it is fortunate for most people that they didn't throw away the corkscrew. One outstanding feature about having the "flu" is that you can blast that old saying about being too slow to catch a cold. Hints to housewives—You can catch soft water when it rains hard. The street railway says it will run until it broke, but some of our strap-hangers declare the wheels are already flat. Our young father says a childless marriage is certainly not a howling AIN'T IT THE TRUTH. That one way to get the world at your feet is to go up in an airplane. One advantage a man has is when he goes visiting he usually hopes they are at home. Why is it some people never show up well at the show down? Time doesn't seem to fly very much when you are waiting for pay day. Rich food doesn't agree with every one. Same with rich people. He who laughs last usually forgets how before the proper time comes. Our philosopher says that even if you mend a broken promise it isn't as good as new. ?? AND ANSWERS. Dear Ed.—"When is the proper time to buy coal?"—Yours, Fueling. Dear Fueling—"About 10 years ago."—Yours, Ether Waves. It's funny, but no matter how early we get home at night our wife thinks it should have been sooner. The man with six children knows more about shoes than the man who makes shoes. One nice thing about the neighbor's children is that they never turn out as badly as you expect. Now is the time when your small son would rather be on the hockey team than premier of Canada. To-day's free trip to the cemetery goes to the man who says anything can happen, but it seldom does.

ART GLEN IS HEAD OF COMMERCIAL CLASSES
Elected President at Reorganization Dinner at Y. M. C. A. Art Glen was elected president of the Com-Tech Club at a reorganization dinner in the Y. M. C. A. yesterday, at which 50 boys were present. They were served by girls of the Technical School. Glen will have the following executive to support him: Honorary president, W. H. Spearman; vice-president, C. Ferguson; secretary, Frank Reynolds. Greetings and promises of staff cooperation were made by W. A. McWilliam, and Orville Trott, last year's president of the club, dropped in to say a few words. The object of the Com-Tech is to create a school spirit in the Technical School and to train boys in the matter of holding meetings.

SEeks NEW PACT IN HOSPITAL PAY
City Council Believes County Should Pay Bigger Share. FOR INDIGENT PATIENTS Committee To Discuss Situation With County Representatives. In an effort to reach a new agreement as to the payment to be made by the County of Middlesex for indigent patients in Victoria Hospital a conference between a committee of the City Council and representatives of the county will be held in the city hall this afternoon. Under the agreement, which expired one year or so ago, the county pays $1.50 per day for indigent patients. It is not expected that there will be much change in the rates to be paid by the county, although the City Council is expecting some concessions to be made on the part of the county representatives. Quite a number of patients are admitted to the hospital from the county every year and unless the city receives sufficient to pay the costs of these patients the city taxpayers will be called upon to meet the difference.

LATE A. H. BURROWS BURIED AT WOODLAND
Funeral of Local Auto Dealer Held From Residence on Beaconsfield Avenue. The funeral of the late A. H. Burrows, prominent auto dealer of this city, took place this afternoon from his late residence, 47 Beaconsfield avenue. Services were conducted at 2 o'clock by Rev. Melcolm McArthur, minister of Knox United Church, of which deceased was a member, with interment in Woodland Cemetery. The late Mr. Burrows, who died suddenly on Tuesday afternoon, was born in Caledonia and was 53 years of age. He moved to Simcoe in 1896 after his marriage to Miss Chaselia Leach, and entered the employment of the International Harvester Company there, where he remained for several years. He was transferred to London by that firm in 1906 since that time had been a resident here. His connection with the International Harvester Company continued until about nine years ago, when he was engaged to enter business as an automobile dealer. As a dealer in automobiles he rapidly attained success and gained a name for himself in his chosen endeavor. Being regarded as one of the foremost salesmen in the district. His firm at various times held the district agency for the Maxwell, Chrysler, Reo and Chrysler cars and the name of Burrows in connection with the automotive trade was well known to almost every car owner in the city. In addition to his widow, the late Mr. Burrows is survived by one son, Harry, and one daughter, Bets, both at home. Three brothers are also left to mourn their loss, H. E. Burrows, of Harriston; William, of Winnipeg, and "Let," of Vancouver. Besides being for many years a valued member of the six commercial travelers Association, Mr. Burrows was active in Masonic circles of London.

COKE PRICE LIKELY TO REMAIN STEADY

Is Now Selling At $14 a Ton, According To Dealers. COAL MEN HAVE PLENTY Any Increase In Price Depends On the Weather. There is no immediate prospect of a rise in the price of coke in London, according to local coal dealers to-day. Coke is selling now for $14 a ton and will most likely stay at that figure for some time. Many of the London dealers have plenty of coke on hand and those with low bins have cars ordered at prices which will allow them to sell at $14. A good deal depends, as one dealer said, on the kind of weather we get for the next few weeks. "Coke is being bought now in Detroit for about $11," said one dealer, "and his price will remain stationary for $14. It used to be $7.50 in Detroit. However, there are large supplies on the other side and I see no reason why it should go any higher." Another dealer says he ordered several loads of coke this week in Detroit at the old figure of $7.50 a ton, so that his price will remain stationary. "If it costs $1.80 a ton to bring coke from Detroit to London and various dealers figure from $1.50 to $3.00 a ton for handling, bagging, and delivery in London, according to the efficiency of their organization and the size of their trade. Some dealers have no hesitation in declaring that prophecies of a rise in coal prices are so much boosting of prices and forcing of immediate buying on the part of the public. "Boasting buying simply fills bins in houses to the full and reduces the supply available in dealers yards for those who wish to buy from month to month or week to week," says a well-known coal dealer in the city. "I do not expect a rise in coke prices, certainly not in my business."

NO "STREET FAIR" FOR CENTENNIAL
Dr. H. A. Stevenson Urges Celebration Fitting For Occasion OF HISTORICAL TREND. Pointing out that the year 1926 will be an important one in the history of London, Dr. H. A. Stevenson urges that the centennial celebration now being planned should be one suited to such an occasion. The main features of this celebration should be historical in character, he advises, with plenty of good, clean entertainment to fill in the gaps. It would be a great mistake if those in charge of the arrangements were to allow the celebration to drop to the level of a street fair or something similar, in his opinion. "The citizens as a whole want this celebration to be one in keeping with the great occasion," Dr. Stevenson declared. "Presenting depicting different periods of the growth of the city should be the main feature of the celebration. These would be entertaining as well as educational and the public would appreciate them. Then, in addition to these, there should be plenty of good, clean entertainment provided in the way of bands, concerts, etc. But if they are going to allow this celebration to be nothing more than a street fair, we will make a serious mistake. We want a celebration that will be remembered by all our former citizens who come home for the occasion, rather than one which is forgotten in a week."

Printers' Freedom From Cancer Disease Offers Support To New Remedy

Treatment of Lead For Cancer Patients Believed To Be Reflected In Printing Trade In Which Lead Fumes Are Thought To Prevent Cancer Growth. Lead as a successful treatment for cancer, as advanced by Prof. Blair Bell before the Toronto Academy of Medicine, is being endorsed from members of the printing trade as being a decided possibility, from the standpoint as the long-sought remedy for this dread disease. Their endorsement comes from the fact that, as far as can be learned, no member of the printing trade has ever suffered from cancer, and it is believed that their work with lead acts as a preventive medium for the disease. "Old-timers" in the printing trade are absolute in their assertions that cancer during working hours, prevents, among printers is practically an unknown thing and that it is only logical to conclude that the lead fumes, inhaled even to a greater extent than in the cancer growth from gaining ground in their bodies. They point out that a certain amount of the fumes cannot be avoided and believe this amount is just sufficient to offset or prevent any inroads from cancer. Even in the old days, when all type was set by hand, lead dust was stirred up and inhaled almost driven her husband, Walter Holt, mad. Leo Smallwood was the instrument in effecting the wife's change of heart. The Elmar orchestra provided music during the evening. Harry Jarvis sang a solo to unkelele accompaniment. Miss Ruth Kingsmill sang. In charge of the supper and entertainment were Mrs. J. G. Boucher, general convenor; Mrs. H. T. Dickenson, entertainment; Mrs. F. McFarland and Mrs. W. L. Elliot, in charge of supper arrangements. Dean Tucker made the announcements. "U" EXTENSION CLASS The university extension class will meet in the Y. M. C. A. at 8 o'clock this evening. The subject is "English Literature," dealing with the masterpieces of English prose, and will be taught by Wm. C. McLeod, M. A. All who would like to join such a class are invited.

SOCIETY TENDERS TURKEY DINNER

Over 400 of St. Paul's Members Enjoy Social Function. TWO PLAYS RENDERED Two Plays, Given By Young People, Provide Entertainment. Over 400 of the congregation of St. Paul's Cathedral enjoyed a turkey dinner last night in Cronyn Hall, where two plays were given. The entertainment was under the auspices of the Women's Society. Eighteen turkeys were necessary. Rev. Gilbert Lightbourn, as the lone-some young man who always hummed "Last Rose of Summer" because he couldn't find a mate, smoked whilst a pageant of pretty girls passed in front of him. In this skit were: Betty Farncomb, Western maid; Dee Dee Seaborn, sufragee; Ellen Anderson, nurse; Grace Barry, airplane girl; pierrette, Geneva Williams; widow, Anne McBeth; skating girl, K. Wilson; sports girl, Audrey Farncomb; city girl, Vera Maylor; dancing girl, Shirley Johnston; riding girl, Florence Brenner; girl guide, Margaret Harley Brown; student girl, Eleanor Doherty; little girl, Gussie Wilson; sailor girl, B. Kingsmill. A one-act comedy followed, in which Barbara Dickenson, as "the wife," was led from extravagant ways which had almost driven her husband, Walter Holt, mad. Leo Smallwood was the instrument in effecting the wife's change of heart. The Elmar orchestra provided music during the evening. Harry Jarvis sang a solo to unkelele accompaniment. MOTOR LEAGUE WILL ASK COUNTY SUPPORT
Want Lights Displayed On Front of All Vehicles in County. A recommendation from the London Motor Club, suggesting the compulsory use of lights on all vehicles, will be taken by the Middlesex County Council. The club believes that every vehicle should carry lights at front and rear and will ask the County Council to enforce this suggestion in the county. According to members of the Motor Club, many accidents occurring at night on the country roads are due to neglect to carry lights. They are of the opinion that if their suggestion was followed, the night driving, at least in the County of Middlesex, would be much safer.

FINED FOR WORKING HORSE WITH SORES

Maurice Gootson Pays $10 Fine On Complaint of Humane Inspector Tustin. For working a horse with a sore shoulder Maurice Gootson, a city junk dealer, was yesterday fined $10 and costs in city court, despite his denial that he knew anything of the incident. The horse was one of a team inspected by George Tustin, humane inspector, in front of the police station. The proceedings aroused the fire of Mr. Gootson and the fire of the court. Police Sert, James Oakley described the animal's sore as being about three inches in diameter, inflamed and running. Inspector Tustin claimed the horse's collar was too small and that it aggravated the wound. Gootson's manner in conducting the cross-examination of the witnesses drew a rebuke from the bench, and he was ordered to ask questions less vehemently. He evoked an admission from both the police sergeant and the humane inspector that he, as the owner, had not been notified of the sore. Giving evidence himself, Gootson declared he knew nothing whatever of the affair and did not know to whom the horse belonged. He declared he was too busy on the day in question to ascertain the conditions of his horses, but he admitted that he had a driver of the same name as the one in charge of the team at the time. Inspector Tustin had ordered the horse off the street.

"FATHER AND SON" NIGHT AT CAPITOL TO-MORROW NIGHT

OPEN NEW BRIDGE AT CENTENNIAL

Plan To Make It a Big Event Week of Celebration. NAME BRIDGE CENTENNIAL Many Favor Plan For Proposed New Ridout Street Structure. The opening of the proposed new bridge at Ridout street will be one of the big events in connection with the centennial celebration to be held next year, if plans which are now being prepared are carried through. The new structure will be officially declared open during centennial week with fitting ceremony, and a tablet will be placed on the bridge at the same time in commemoration of the hundredth anniversary of the founding of the city. The bridge will also be known as Centennial bridge. These are suggestions made by a prominent resident of East London and they have been approved by the local centennial committee. E. R. C. Struthers, of Windsor, president of the International London Old Boys' Association, was quite favorable to the plan. City Treasurer Bell, City Clerk Baker and the mayor also expressed their approval of the suggestion.

"FATHER AND SON" NIGHT AT CAPITOL TO-MORROW NIGHT
To-morrow night will be "father and son night" at the Capitol Theater. Every father and son in the city should see James Cruze's story of red-blooded manhood, "The Pony Express," a titanic romance of the early frontier. West, 10 big reels of matchless thrills and adventure, with an outstanding cast featuring Ricardo Cortez, Betty Compson, Wallace Beery, Ernest Torrence and Raymond Hatton. Father, arrange to bring your son, bring down to the super production of the great outdoors. You'll both enjoy the time of your lives. It's 100 per cent entertainment. In addition to the feature presentation there will also be shown a rearing comedy creation, "The Shell of Bagdad," a burlesque on "The Thief of Bagdad." Faith Review and a special arranged musical score by the Capitol Little Symphony Orchestra and organ, under the capable direction of A. S. Gessensway, completes the program. It's a guaranteed attraction. Big special matinee Saturday afternoon for children. Don't miss this—11 cents. —Adv.
