It is characteristic of youth and life, that we first learn to lose through the tactics when the campaign is over.

For children there is no leave-taking, for they acknowledge no past; only the present—that to them is full of the future.

It is most discernible in any man intrusted with power, when the governed turn round upon their governor, and say, your laws are so foolish that we cannot and will not act upon them.—Lord Brougham.

An English gardener, has for more than twenty years past, kept down the weeds in gravel walks, without any apparent bad effect, by sprinkling over them annually dry salt, in dry weather, and then sweeping it thinly and regularly with a broom.

The selfish may accumulate the most property, but the benevolent man is the most happy, the former may roll over beds of golden sands, and be the most miserable of God's creatures, whilst the latter has a peace and joy within which he would not exchange for all the world.

It is the work of heaven which relieves despair. Short as are our conceptions, there are moments with perhaps every mind, when glimpses shoot in, of a bright, and joyous, and happy existence. They may be instantaneous in their coming, and momentary in their stay; yet leave a sense of happiness in store for the righteous.

ADVICE MUCH WANTED.—Tobacco has spoiled and utterly ruined thousands of boys, inducing a dangerous precocity, developing the passions, softening and weakening the bones, and greatly injuring the spinal marrow, the brain, and the whole nervous fluid. A boy who early and freely smokes, or otherwise largely uses tobacco, never is known to make a man of much energy of character, and generally lacks physical and muscular as well as mental energy. To people older, who are naturally nervous, and particularly the phlegmatic, tobacco may be comparatively harmless, but even to these it is worse than useless. We would particularly warn boys who want to be any body in the world to shun tobacco as a deadly poison.

COMPOUND CHAMOMILE CORDIAL.

THIS Cordial, as its name announces, is prepared scientifically, by a Member of the Pharmaceutical Society of Great Britain, from the Flowers of Chamomile and other vegetable Ingredients, imported expressly from England. Not only as a Tonic does it stand unrivalled, but its peculiar medicinal virtues have acquired a justly celebrated reputation, surpassing the famed SASSAPARILLA, to which, in point of richness of taste and flavor, as well as in practical efficacy, it is incomparably superior.

These inestimable virtues, while fully preserved, are more delicately concentrated and developed in the Cordial, which from its transparency and golden colour resembles Wine, and as such may be used at discretion. The flavor is fresh and fragrant, and the taste most grateful and agreeable. Observe in the Lady, the Temperance advocate, or fastidious connoisseur.

Messrs. REXFORD & Co.

GENTLEMEN.—I duly received, and have tried the sample of "Compound Chamomile Cordial," which you sent me. Aware of the manner in which you prepare it, and of the nature and quality of the ingredients which you employ in its manufacture, I cannot object to express to you in writing my opinion of it, which I should not hesitate to do under different circumstances.

I consider it a very elegant Pharmaceutical Preparation, susceptible of being made exceedingly useful in a dietetical as well as therapeutic point of view. It will prove an excellent substitute for much of the trash which, in your chase as a Wine for the use of Invalids, and will also prove an excellent medium for the agreeable conveyance of remedies, which, without some such auxiliaries, are often rebelled against and rejected by the stomach.

GENTLEMEN.—I duly received, and have tried the Sample of "Compound Chamomile Cordial," which you sent me. I consider it a very elegant Preparation, and useful in all cases where a mild Tonic is required, more especially in cases of Dyspepsia, and weakness of the Stomach; it being very agreeable to taste, can be taken by any one.

Messrs. REXFORD & Co.,

GENTLEMEN.—I have received the Sample Bottle of your "Compound Chamomile Cordial," and consider it a beautiful as well as highly palatable preparation. The aromatic and peculiar bitter flavor, in which lies the essential Medicinal qualities, appears to be largely infused and well preserved; and as this Vegetable Tonic is highly beneficial in those forms of Dyspepsia, depending on debility, or want of tone of the digestive organs, (the form most frequently met with on this continent,) your Cordial will, I doubt not, form an inestimable addition to our Pharmacopoeia.

From the knowledge possessed by me of Mr. Rexford, and his very high reputation as a Pharmaceutical Chemist, I feel much pleasure in confidently recommending his preparation of this valuable Tonic to my Professional brethren, and to the public, as a delightful and invigorating Cordial.

Messrs. REXFORD & Co., Toronto, G. W.

GENTLEMEN.—I have no hesitation in expressing to you my professional approbation of your "Compound Chamomile Cordial." The Tonic properties of the Flowers of Chamomile, with which it is finely blended, are so universally acknowledged, and the Medicinal qualities of that vegetable ingredient so fully admitted in Dyspeptic complaints, that I consider the idea of administering it in the pleasing form of a Cordial, most happy; and in the case of your preparation, so successful, that it cannot fail to be a favorite with the public.
