

A Year Without Kasagra

One of the largest hospitals in Canada formerly dispensed Kasagra exclusively.

It looked like a large single item and it was thought economical to try lower-priced goods.

A year has given ample time to try almost every available competing product.

The other day, without solicitation, they again contracted for Kasagra.

Can we give you any better proof that Kasagra is unquestionably not only the best, most uniform, but most economical product on the market for the purpose.

Kasagra is over twenty years old and its consumption is daily increasing.

That's a record we are proud of.
