BLOOD AND HUMORS

Thought He Was a Hindoo.

A postman in Egypt who carried the mail to the villages in the mailto the villages in the neighborhood of Minich was in the habit of announcing his arrival by shouting so that the villagers should come at once for their mail and not keep him waiting too long. He was placed on a new route, and shortly after leaving the first village one of the inhabitants died. Two days later he called there again, and another villager died after his departure. After his third visit a third villager died The villagers attributed these deaths to the vill influence of the new resuman called him the winding attribute these details of the revil influence of the new rostman, called him the messenger of Satan, and determined to put a stop to his visits. On the occasion of his fourth visit to the village a woman, who was related to one of the dead men, insulted. him grossly and threw mud at him. The postman went to complain to the sheiks of the village, whereupon the latter turned on him in a rage and reviled him in the most outrageous manner as the cause of the villagers' misfortunes. The poor postman was obliged to resign his office.

"Seeing is Believing."

So runs an old saw, and we fancy that thousands of those who have visited the ex-hibition grounds during the past few days are prepared to assert its correctness. Our are prepared to assert its correctness. Our representative on passing through the main building at the exhibition grounds noticed an interested throng gathered around a fine looking specimen of healthful manhood seated upon a table. The Scribe's curiosity was aroused, and he joined the man's audiqued and soon assertained that he were now was aroused, and he joined the man's audience, and soon ascertained that he was none other than Mr. John Marshall of 25 Little William street Hamilton, whose almost miraculous cure by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills has by the medium of the press been made known from one end of the Dominion to the other. Mr. Marshall was busily engaged answering questious concerning his previous condition and his wonderful cure, and there were none who heard him but were convinced that his was a remarkable case. Briefly stated, Mr. Marshall, as the result of a fall, was attacked by locomoter ataxy and rendered helpless from his waist downward. Although this disease is pronounced incurable, yet a score of physicians treated him in the hope that his normal condition could be restored, but in vain, and after spending hundreds of dollars in all sorts of treatment he was at last given a certificate of permanent distinct of the content of th dollars in all sorts of treatment he was at last given a certificate of permanent disability benefit of $1,000 granted by the Royal Templars of Temperance in such cases. Some time after Mr. Marshall was induced to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and in six weeks after beginning their use he was able to walk to any part of the city, and is to-day in better health than he has been before in years.

Canada's Future Granary.

Mr. T. G. Pearse, of London, Ont., writes: We left Winnipeg at 5 p. m. on Saturday, Aug. 8th, for the promised land of Alberta, after a welcome rest at Winnipeg, where we after a welcome rest at Winnipeg, where we arrived the previous evening.

Approaching the Portage plains we were much interested in the appearance of the crops, which were very fine. The wheat especially presented a grand appearance being of a rich, dark green, a sure indication of vigorous growth, and although somewhat lodged by heavy rains, was not seriously damaged, promising a bountiful harrest, much to the joy of many of our Ontario farmers' sons who were travelling westward with the intention of finding employment in the harvest fields.

All the way from Winnipeg to Brandon, the harvest fields.

All the way from Winnipeg to Brandon, crops were excellent, but at the latter point darkness put an end to our view of the country, and the following morning found us at Wapells, with nothing to be seen as far as the eye could reach but a totally uncultivated, undulating prairie. Hourster hour we rolled over a beautiful plain, sometimes perfectly level, sometimes gently undulating—the most fertile imagination must utterly fail to picture the solitary grandeur times percecup reven some dulating—the most fertile imagination must utterly fail to picture the solitary grandeur of these illimitable prairies, where there is room for untold generations of agriculturalists. Well may it be called Greater Britam, and well may we be proud of our magnificent heritage.

For fully 600 miles we travelled on over ror fully 600 miles we travelled on over one vast plain, passing an occasional settler's homestead. At Balgonie we saw one of the Canadian Agricultural, Coal and Coloniza-tion company 's farms of 10,000 acres all feuc-ed in, a portion only of which was under crop. I understand that this company owns ten of these farms, each comprising 10,000 acres; neat buildings are erected thereon and prospects for ultimate success appear good.

At Indian Head we had a fine view of the Government Experimental farm stations. The buildings seemed spacious and conventient, while the symmetrical rows of tree-and various kinds of vegetables made a pleasing contrast to the waving fields of magnificent grain now beginning to assume the golden hue of harvest, all exemplying what can be accomplised in these regions by systematic, careful work.

The quantity of huffale longs niled in

The quantity of buffalo bones piled in heaps along the railway is simply incredible; in one place we counted four piles of skulls stacked up like cordwood, each pile containing at least twelve cords by actual measurement. The wanton extermination of the twifalo in the tentition and allowed. of the buffalo in these territories is a deplorable fact, and the quantity of bones now to be seen conveys a faint idea of the enormous extent of animal life which has been supported in the not far distant past by the nutritious grasses of the prairie.

At Medicine Hat, Langevin and Cassels, natural gas has been discovered, and may be seen lighted and blazing away out of the extremity of a pipe at the latter place.

Our party was deeply impressed with the vast resources of the North-west territories as yet practically underseloned only a wait. of the buffalo in these territories is a deploras yet practically undeveloped, only awaiting the advent of the capitalist and the sturdy, persevering farmer to convert its hidden stores into actual wealth.

with a country of such boundless magnitude and resources traversed by a splendidly managed and equipped railway, controlled by a far-sighted and judicious Government, the future of Canada as one of the greatest nations on earth is assured and her position to-day is unparalleled; coming generations will reverence the memory of these patriots who opened up the country by C.P.R. in the face of the most determined opposition. The establishment of the mounted police for the protection of the settlers and the suppression of evil doors is very beneficial to the progress of the country, and would space permit, much might be said of their efficiency and smart soldierly appearance.

At 10.30 a.m. on Monday we reached Calgary and after a hearty lunch, partaken of at the Palace hotel, which by the way, is the place to take solid comfort in after a the place to take solid comfort in after a fatiguing railway journey, we went out to do the town, and were surprised to find that Dame Nature had anticipated the requirements of a modern city here and had provided in one locality first-class, easily worked stone for building, gravel of good quality for roads and a supply of excellent spring water from the Rocky mountains as contained in the picturesque waters of the Bow and Elbow rivers. With these natural advantages and a fine agricultural country in its vicinity, Calgary is destined to become in the near future one of the leading business centres of Canada.

Mr. W. Thayer, Wright, P. Q., had Dyspepsia for 20 years. Tried many remedies and doctors, but got no relief. His appetite was very poor, had a distressing pain in his side and stomach, and gradual wasting away of flesh, when he heard of, and immediately commenced taking. Northrop & Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. The pains have left and he rejoices in the enjoyment of excelent health in fact he is quite a new man."

Jas. Shannon, Leaskdale, writes: For many years my wife was troubled with chilblains, and could get no relief until about two years ago; she was then not able to walk, and the pain was then so excruciating that she could not sleep at night. Your agent was then on his regular trip, and she asked him if he could cure her. He took her Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil was a sure cure. She tried it, and judge of her astoni.hment when in a few days, the pain was all allayed and the foot restored to its natural condition. It is also the hest remedy for burns and bruises I ever used.
