

efface. Make it a custom to kneel daily in humble supplication to that Being who is able to protect you, both now and for ever.

In conclusion, we would remind the youth of both sexes, that, had Lampanas and Lavine lived a life of honesty and integrity, they would have been happy in this world, and departed hence with the prospect of a happy eternity.

Remember, that vice can only lead to present and eternal misery,—that, although the forbidden fruit may be sweet to the taste, to partake thereof is the precursor of eternal death.

THE END.
