HAMILTON HAPPENINGS

MOTORIST SPEEDING
WHEN VICTIM WAS HIT

So Testify Two Eye-witnesses in Crown's Case Against
W. J. Waters.

HAMILTON, Jan. 16.—(Special.)—The manslaughter charge against W. J. Waters, of this city, who is alleged to have killed Wm. Boyce by running him down with a motor car last August, was begun before Justice Teesdale this afternoon. Quite a large crowd as attended the express robbery trial last week was on hand, and the members of the Hamilton Auto Club particularly were present in conspicuous numbers.

The treatment of Waters to-day by the court officers was noticeably different from that accorded Chilmann and Acheson when they were on trial. He was placed in the prisoner's dock, but the constable who stood always close to the alleged robber was not to be seen and the prisoner was today addressed and referred to as "Mr. Waters."

Ball was promptly granted to Waters to-night, but a similar request was denied to Chilmann and Acheson last Thursday night by Justice Teesdale when, in application for bail in their behalf was made by the crown prosecutor, H. H. Gamble, K.C.

Twelve Tailorers Released.
The twelve jurors to try the Waters case were selected from a panel of twice their number. Twelve of the men being rejected by the defence and four told to stand aside by the crown. The jurors chosen were: Peter MacKenzie, machinist; Wm. Moffit, farmer; Guy A. Montrose, builder; John McIntyre, farmer; George Lewis, clerk; Vivian Leslie, clerk; Joseph Brand, machinist; George Bethune, farmer; Wm. Mason, machinist; Thos. of Leslie, Brent and Bethune, were on the Chilmann and Acheson jury.

Mr. Gamble's outline of the crown's case to the jury was brief and in modern language.

E. J. B. Johnston, K.C., appeared for the prisoner.

Edwin Smith, 54, 82, Main-street, near whose house Boyce received his fatal injuries, said he was sitting on the sidewalk in front of his house when Boyce was run down. His wife drew his attention to Waters' motor, which was coming west at a fast rate. When nearly in front of his house the car swerved to the right side of Main-street. The car was not going less than 25 miles an hour. His vision was obscured by a post and he did not see Boyce when hit. He did see, however, the victim's hat fly thru the air.

He at once ran across the street and found Boyce lying in the street a little west of Sanford-avenue. The motor car was 40 paces farther west, resting. He afterwards found blood marks for a distance of 35 feet or more where Boyce's body had been dragged. The tracks of the motor were plainly visible in the dust of the street and were 10 or 12 inches wide. The course of the car was traced on a map of the scene drawn by Brantford.

Under eVay Fire.
Mr. Johnston cross-examined the witness at length, and wanted to know why he had drawn the plan, to which Mr. Smith replied: "For my own satisfaction." Mr. Johnston then asked several more questions relating to the witness' motive in drawing his plan and making measurements, which he had some difficulty in getting answered to his satisfaction. His manner of handling the witness finally drew a protest from Mr. Gamble, who said it was monstrous that the witness should be badgered when asked impossible questions. Witnesses seemed to be unable to readily understand questions, and Justice Teesdale explained that he was evidently fatigued.

Wife Corroborates.
Mrs. Smith's evidence was that she had seen the car coming a block east of her home. She could not see in miles how fast the car was traveling, but it was going very fast. She had never seen a motor car so fast. When near the house, the car swerved to the right side of the street and avoided two vehicles in front of it. Boyce came out from between two rigs about the middle of the street and was struck by the motor as it turned back towards the north side. Waters did everything possible to stop the car, but just as he threw over the brakes Boyce was struck. The speed of the car was not slackened from the time she first saw until it smashed into Boyce. He was thrown five or six feet by the car and run over by it.

This witness also had an uncomfortable session with Mr. Johnston, but her testimony was unshaken.

Terribly Injured.
Dr. Leeming explained the nature and extent of Boyce's injuries, from which he died in the city hospital a few hours after being run over. The skull was fractured across from the base of the brain in the forehead and to both eyes, the brain was lacerated and indurated and a blood vessel on the right side was ruptured. There was a superficial nature was inflicted. To Mr. Johnston's witness admitted that serious injuries were inflicted caused by slight falls.

Mr. Johnston was an occupant of another car passing on Main-street when Boyce was run down. The Waters car was behind the one in which he was riding. Witness' car was nearly stopped, but following close behind it, and he saw the car of Waters at the rate of six or seven miles an hour. He had been going 12 or 13 miles an hour. He could not say how fast the Waters car was running.

Wife Bewildered.
To Mr. Johnston's Super stated that he saw Boyce start across the road in a diagonal direction. He saw the motor car close up on him he became bewildered. Waters had remarkable control of his car, and the witness, Mr. Gamble, in re-examining Super, asked why he did not yell at Boyce when he saw him running into the course of Waters' car. Super will give on the stand again to-morrow morning.

Appealing Chilmann Conviction.
Immediately the court opened this afternoon, George Lynch-Staunton, K.C., advised Justice Teesdale that he would ask for a stated case in the case of Chilmann, who was convicted Saturday evening of the express robbery to have been stolen from the Canada Express Co. Arguments in the case will be heard later. Chilmann will not come up for sentence until the latter part of the week.

A number of petitions are being circulated thru the city asking that Chilmann be pardoned. The petitions are being largely signed, and will be forwarded to the proper authorities in case sentence is passed on Chilmann.

Mrs. Annie Lewis, 51 years of age, was found dead at her home at 83 East Avenue North to-night. Coroner J. Douglas investigated the matter and found that the woman had died from apoplexy. No inquest will be held.

BABY KILLED IN RUNAWAY
Thrown to Pavement, Died Instantly—Woman Badly Hurt.

BRANTFORD, Jan. 16.—(Special.)—William Wood Preston, baby son of W. B. Preston, business manager of the Brantford Exporter, was instantly killed in a runaway accident shortly after 5 o'clock, here, this evening, on Wellington-st.

After a visit to Mrs. Peter Wood, with whom he was as great a favorite, the little one was being driven home to Dufferin-ave., in company with Mrs. John A. Colter, and her son Courtney. When the cutter was being turned around, a line snapped and the horse bolted, throwing all the occupants out in front of the office of Dr. Henwood.

Baby Preston, who was in his second year, was dead when borne to the doctor's office, and Mrs. Colter was seriously injured, although it is thought she will recover. The horse was captured later on Brant-ave. The parents of the little one are very popular in Brantford society.

TO HONOR MAJOR LEONARD.
BRANTFORD, Jan. 16.—(Special.)—W. A. MacLean, provincial engineer, of highways of Ontario, and Frank Wise, of the British family reunion movement, delivered interesting addresses to a representative attendance of Brantford Board of Trade here to-night. It was decided to tender complimentary banquet to Major E. W. Leonard, head of the National Transcontinental Railway, on Jan. 27. Major Leonard is a former Brantfordite, and prominent transportation man will be invited to banquet.

to be subject to or about to be investigated, and it might result in a formidable array of counsel before anything were suggested implying any imputation on employees. He had no objection, however, to give to anyone whose conduct was impugned before the commission, the right to be represented by counsel. That would only be justice.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier objected to the wide powers granted to commissioners to deny power to sub-commissioners and moved to strike out that provision in the bill.

Hon. C. J. Doherty declared that they were only giving back to commissioners powers which they formerly held. Commissioners and sub-commissioners alike were moreover to be subject to the control of the court of the land.

Could Delegate Powers.
A. K. MacLean (Halifax) objected to the provision for the employment of "any qualified person" to take evidence, not in regard to any technical point, but with regard to the subject matter of the inquiry in general. It would permit commissioners to delegate their entire powers to others.

Hon. C. J. Doherty said he was willing to insert a provision that all delegation of powers under the act be with the approval of the governor-in-council.

Hon. W. T. White pointed out that Department's Badly Crowded.

Hon. F. D. Monk, speaking on the item of $500,000 for new departments and sites at Ottawa, declared that some of the departments were crowded in violation of every law of hygiene. He hoped to install the departments permanently as soon as possible.

K. MacLean (Halifax) urged upon the government the necessity of buying in advance of its needs property in the city.

Mr. Monk intimated, in response to a suggestion from J. H. Sinclair (Guysboro), that he would ask for a sum in the supplementary estimates to consult a competent architect on the improvement of the ventilation and acoustics of the commons chamber.

Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux urged the decoration of the walls of the commons and senate lobbies with representations of the stirring scenes of Canadian history.

Mr. Monk approved the suggestion, but feared that art was rather in its infancy in Canada in this method of expression.

Skin-Tortured Little Ones

Mothers! Are your little ones suffering from itching, burning eczemas, or other torturing, disfiguring skin troubles? Are you, yourself, worn out with long, sleepless nights and ceaseless anxiety in caring for them? Then you should know that, in most cases, a warm bath with Cuticura Soap and a gentle application of Cuticura Ointment bring immediate relief, the little sufferers rest, sleep, fretted mothers rest, and peace falls on distracted households.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a postal order will secure a liberal sample of each, with 25¢ back on the skin and soap, and treatment of their afflictions.

commissioners were only to be given powers similar to those of arbitrators under the Arbitration Act and given proper power to multiply themselves as circumstances warranted. Only commissioners who could be safely trusted with powers of delegation would be appointed.

Mr. Wilfrid Laurier saw in Mr. Watson's argument a confirmation of the objection of the opposition. In an arbitration the parties at issue were agreed as to the tribunal which was to be set up before an investigating commission was forced there without his own consent.

Hon. Pugsley moved an amendment providing for minority investigation on the appeal of 40 members.

Premier Surprised.
The premier declared that he could hardly believe his ears when he heard that the leader of the opposition was to be the second of the motion. In former days, when not 40 or 50 members of the house had petitioned, he had said: "There will be no investigation" and "The government should investigate its own departments." The amendment was opposed by the government.

Hon. George E. Foster declared that if the amendment passed, it would place in the hands of a minority of the minority to impose their will upon the majority, a mere fraction of the house. "The rump of an opposition" was what he had fought when he was expedient in the interest of the country to hold an investigation. There might be 40 or 50 investigations at the same time.

Mr. Pugsley's amendment was lost and the other amendments were allowed over and the committee reported progress.

Denounced Newmarket Canal.
On the motion to go into supply, J. A. Armstrong got up and declared loudly in the announced determination of the government to abandon the Newmarket Canal, which he declared, was a waste of money. He declared an expenditure of funds which could neither be justified or expiated. It was conceded in infancy and born in shame.

He asked the minister of railways and canals to bring down a return showing the evidence on which he had based his decision.

Referring to Sir Alan Aylesworth's statement that politics had never entered into the question, he wished to say to him that he had fought "the octopus known as the Newmarket Canal" for four years. It was a great political machine, and had it not been for it that gentleman would have lost his political scalp in 1908.

The house then went into supply.

The Best Way To Make Porridge
EVERY housewife has a little different way of making porridge. Some wet the oats in cold water first, others stir the oats into boiling water. Some prefer porridge very thick, others thin it out; some like it flaky, others like it jellied.

All these ways can't be the best way. We think there is one best way—that's the Tillson's way.

Here it is:—

Put one and two-thirds cups of boiling water in the inner part of a double boiler. Have the water boiling briskly, sprinkle in one cupful of Tillson's Rolled Oats slowly, so as not to stop the boiling of the water. Add one-third teaspoonful of salt, cover, cook one minute, then place the inner saucepan in the outer in which the water should be boiling. Cook fourteen minutes. Avoid all stirring as this breaks the oats and makes the porridge pasty.

Just out of curiosity get a package of Tillson's Rolled Oats and make your porridge this way for two or three mornings. See if you don't decide that of all the ways of making porridge, this way produces the tastiest results.
