Three Knockouts in Montreal.
Montreal, Nov. 28.—Three knockouts at the Riverside Athletic Club. Douglas, Kenner and O'Malley were the winners of the three bouts, but it was in the main event, between Young Donohue and Hugh Clancy, that interest was centered. It was declared to be the best and most scientific fight that has been seen here for a long time. Clancy made a game struggle, but he was not the equal of Donohue, who was a real fighter. Clancy was knocked out in the eighth round. Clancy was all but out and Alf Bennett ordered him to be taken to the hospital. Clancy was all but out and Alf Bennett ordered him to be taken to the hospital. Clancy was all but out and Alf Bennett ordered him to be taken to the hospital.

Colored Boxers Draw.
Portland, Me., Nov. 28.—Before 2000 people here, Jack Johnson of Boston and Joe Jeannette of New York, colored heavyweights, fought to a draw. Upon entering the ring Johnson announced his desire to meet any man in the world, Jim Jeffries preferred.

Both men were on their feet and fresh at the end, although Johnson clearly had the better of the argument, receiving but very little real punishment, and seeming to be delivering less to his antagonist than he was able to. Johnson was practically all of the leading up to the sixth round, and most of it from that time on, Johnson fighting inside and on the defensive, while Jeannette played with a reaching left-hand jab.

Jeannette, who is the lighter of the two, put up a remarkably fast and clever bout, and his blocking was a feature. He worked constantly, and his crowd with him, but his blows had but very little effect on Johnson.
