a pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Campbell of Harwich, when their youngest daughter, Jean Kate, became the bride of Mr. James Small, Wallace town, Elder J. B. Stinson officiating. The bride, who was given away by her father, entered the drawing-room to the strains of the wedding march played by her sister, Miss Margaret B. Campbell, and took her place beneath a pretty arch of pink and white lattice adorned with green foliage and flowers. The bride looked attractive in a white gown with a white chignon over her head and a white veil.

The groom, dressed in a tuxedo, was very sweetly during the signing of the registers. "All joy be thine," the bride said to the groom, and the groom replied, "I will be true to you, my dear, as long as I live." The ceremony was performed by Mr. J. E. Cairncross.

Supper was served to thirty guests, after which the happy couple left on a trip to Toronto, Buffalo, and other points, the bride traveling in a brown brocade suit with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Small will reside on the groom's farm near Dutton, and will be at home to their friends on Sunday. Guests were present from London, Toronto, Dutton, Melbourne and Detroit.

FIRST RESIDENCE FOR UNIVERSITY WOMEN IS OPENED IN LONDON

Twenty Students Already Registered At Ursuline School.

Yesterday the new Ursuline School for Girls, Wellington street, opened for the first time to receive students. The handsome old Whitehead home has been adapted admirably as a residence for women students in federation with the Western University. Mother St. Anne being in charge. There has already been an enrollment of fourteen boarders and six non-resident students. The only difficulty is to find a place for the boarding capacity of the school, which will accommodate sixteen students. But most interesting of all is the transformation which has been made of the great red brick barn at the rear of the main residence, which has already acquired the name of annex. The whole has been beautifully finished off in green and brown tones, downstairs being divided into two large lecture rooms and upstairs reserved for numerous sleeping quarters.

The official opening of this school, which is beginning in London, although its academic work was going on for a year at Cathlamet, will be held in a few weeks.

HUMANE SOCIETY IS A VALUABLE ASSET TO CITY OF LONDON

City Does Not Appreciate This in Practical Payment.

At a recent meeting of the Humane Society, George Tustin, the local and provincial Humane Inspector, gave his report, showing that last month he had investigated 341 cases of cruelty to animals, an average of 11 cases a day. And yet, according to his report, only 100 per cent less than a few months ago. These were only one case last month where prosecution was necessary, most of the owners of animals being ready to look after their animals, when approached by the humane inspector.

The children of London are a wonderful help to me," says Dr. Tustin. "They are taught in the public schools this week, giving out leaflets which are printed short tales of animal life. Helps City.

"I claim that the Humane Society is doing a big thing for the city by simply keeping dead and dying animals off the streets. In July and August especially it is most unhealthy to have dead animals exposed on the streets. However, the Humane Society only 25 cents a carcass for its removal and burial, while it takes time to dispose of such animals that are diseased. I should think that the Humane Society should at least receive the same as the garbage man.

In Pound. "The Humane Society is made by law to keep all stray animals in pound for 24 hours to see whether they will be claimed by their owners. The feeding of these animals for two days is an expense on the society which is paid by the owner, should the animal be claimed, but which is not paid if the animal is not claimed. In addition to this expense the society must entail the expense of chloroform to put the animal out of existence. The removal of stray animals is an asset to the city, should the city then pay for their keep during the two days during which they are in pound? I claim that every stray dog and cat put out of existence is worth $2.50 to the city of London, and yet nothing is paid."

Too Energetic. Mr. Tustin is full of interesting stories about animals. Sometimes stray dogs and cats are put into good homes and their owners wouldn't part with them for $100. He tells an interesting story of one man who had been troubled with thieves entering his shop, so came to the pound for a dog which he took the dog home on Saturday night, but arrived back early on Monday morning beseeching him to take the dog away, as it would not even let him enter his own shop. A recent case of cruelty was reported by someone who had found a poor old horse covered with sores and was starved, tied in a woodshed, and like it are constantly coming before the notice of the inspector.

The Humane Society has at present no quarters, and is looking for some place before the winter sets in. In the meantime all cases are being reported to the Royal Bank Building, Phone 1637.

THE CIRCUS DOG. Part Thirteen. TWO SURPRISES. Many thanks to Monty and Monty's leg was still in bandages. Monty did not mind that, though.

Such a fine time with his little friend Teddy—and then, Teddy was lame and Monty had company.

But the day came when Monty's leg was to be taken out of bandages, and the little dog was all a quiver for fear of the leg being taken out of bandages. Little crippled Teddy insisted upon undoing the bandages for Monty, and the dog stood quite still and allowed him to unwind them one by one.

All this time Monty had been walking on three legs, of course, so when the bandages were all unwound his leg felt very weak and unimportant. Just the same, Monty put it down as best he could, and then the quivers went all through it like pins and needles.

He objected to being walked upon. "Walk, Monty, all four legs, Monty, all four legs," Teddy cried, for he was as anxious as the little dog him-

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Silk Under Things

Would you like to know how to make them last three times as long as you expect they will? Guard them against silk's great enemy—perspiration—which rots and discolors them. How can you do that? Wash them in the gentle LUX suds—so easy, so pleasant, so safe.

Launder silk things with LUX

Whisk a tablespoonful of LUX into a thick lather in a gallon of very hot water. Add cold water until lukewarm. Press the rich suds through the soiled spots—but never rub. Rinse in three lukewarm waters. Squeeze the water out—do not wring. Roll in a towel and when nearly dry, press with a warm iron—never a hot one. Gently shape the garments as you iron. The result will delight you.
