CAPTAIN PETER C. HAINS GOES TO STATE'S PRISON

Murderer of William E. Annis Receives an Indeterminate Sentence of From Eight to Sixteen Years—New Trial Asked for and Refused.

Flushing, N. Y., May 17.—Captain Peter C. Hains, Jr., who was convicted of manslaughter in the first degree for shooting W. E. Annis at the Bayside Yacht Club last August, comes up for sentence today before Justice Garretson, in the Supreme Court. The maximum penalty to impose upon the law is 20 years. It was also within the discretion of the court to suspend the sentence. When the jury rendered its verdict last Tuesday they made no recommendation to mercy. Since then his lawyers have asked the jurors to sign a petition for clemency, which was expected to be presented to the court today. John F. McIntyre, chief counsel for the defendant, has prepared the usual motions to set aside the verdict on the grounds that it was against the weight of evidence and contrary to law. If these motions were denied, he was expected to ask for postponement of sentence until an appeal could be taken on the ground that the jury was not properly instructed during the trial. Counsel was also expected to ask that Capt. Hains be released on bail pending the appeal. Mr. McIntyre said today that General Hains, the defendant's father, was ready to furnish bail in any amount. Since his sentence, Capt. Hains has evinced no interest in his fate, according to his keepers in the Queens county jail. Flushing, N. Y., May 17.—Captain Peter C. Hains, Jr., U. S. A., was sentenced today by Justice Garretson in the supreme court to an indeterminate sentence of not less than eight years nor more than sixteen years at hard labor in state's prison. Captain Hains was brought into court from the Queens county jail early and

DR. JOHNSON WOULD OPEN CANADA TO ALL NATIONALITIES

Montreal Clergyman Addressing Evangelical Alliance on Canada's Destiny, Says He Would Favor Throwing the Country Open to All and Would in Time Allow Chinese, Japanese and Hindus to Enter Without Restriction.

Rev. Dr. Robert Johnson, pastor of the American Presbyterian church, Montreal, addressed the Evangelical Alliance this morning, taking for his subject, "Canada's Destiny." There was a large attendance and the Montreal divine's eloquent discourse was listened to with rapt attention. The speaker dealt with the great problem of immigration, including the fusion or intermingling of the numerous elements, expressing it as his conviction that in the carrying on of the work of the Gospel, even the vexed question of Chinese, Japanese and Hindu immigration would be solved. Dr. Johnson based his remarks on Zechariah's vision, which was to enlarge the vision of the people that they might have a nobler conception of their duty to God. He drew from it the duty of Canada. Having travelled over the west, he was brought into touch with the conditions there and to see to recognize the gravity of the great problems for this country to solve, the relations between provinces, the question of immigration, all of immense importance. He asked the question if it might not be possible that God was working out greater ideals than in the past. We were to be the nation of the future, not confined by the narrow walls of selfish exclusion. We must leave behind narrow conceptions of the national life. There must be no selfish walls of exclusion, but rather he favored the ultimate throwing open of the doors to all, including Chinese, Japanese and Hindus. There was no reason why they were not within the saving power of the gospel of Christ, and if they could be won, why not citizens, taking for our keynote, the gospel. This was necessary for a great national life to be realized. A nation was to be measured by the progress it made. Great Britain and the United States both, he contended, had done much to break down the prejudices existing between nations, but had living examples of the intermingling and fusion of races. Was it not possible for Canada to do this? He admitted both from Asia and Europe. There was, however, a great question as to whether the European countries of Germany or France, or Italy, or even a greater area than the United States, had done this. He said that he believed Canada should do this. "I do not believe Canada should do this," said Dr. Johnson. "The religion of God was a better wall of protection than the tariff walls of nations. We were not to shut out but bring in, and

KENT CO. MAN DROWNED IN A LEOMNSTER POND

Leare Hebert Went Boating on Sun' Boat Tipped Over and He Was Drowned—Body Was Brought to Province for Burial

Boston, May 17.—(Special)—Leare Hebert, 38, who came here from Kent county, N. B., was accidentally drowned at 3.15 yesterday afternoon at Whelan's Pond Leominster, while boating with Napoleon Sidille. Sidille survived. According to the story he tells, Hebert was handling the boat as he did so. Neither of the men could swim but Sidille managed to climb to the overturned boat. He says that his companion continued to flounder in the water at his side until he sank but that he could not help him. People on the shore hearing the cries

SIR W. VAN HORNE NEWS FROM AND AMERICAN FREDERICTON RAILWAYS

Ex-President of the Canadian Pacific Says the Railways of North America Do Not Charge Enough for the Services They Perform

London, May 17.—(Special)—Sir William Vanhorne, interviewed at the Savoy Hotel, where he is staying for a while before making trip to the continent, said one thing was certain about the railways of North America: Their charges were much too low. They were not charging as much as they should on the capital invested, and he did not feel hopeful of an increased percentage of earnings. "The railways of America," said Sir William, "are doing more for less money than any others in the world." He did not think government ownership the solution of the railway problem. No government ever ran railways as cheaply as a private management could do. Sir William said that the business and financial situation looked most promising, but he did not think there would be a great deal of railway building in America during the next twelve months.

FIVE MEMBERS OF FAMILY MURDERED

Tragic History of a Family, Once Resident of Kingston, Ontario

Kingston, Ont., May 17.—(Special)—Word received here from Philadelphia relates the tragic history of a family named Purdy, which resided in Kingston many years ago. No less than five members of the family have been murdered. The first tragedy occurred in Kingston in 1870, when Thomas Purdy was strangled to death. The last was in Gloucester, Pa., a few days ago, when James Purdy was beaten to death in an abandoned tallow house. The victims comprise the father and mother and three sons. Two were strangled, two thrown under a train, and one beaten to death.

ONE BOY SAVES ANOTHER

Gordon Haley Had a Narrow Escape from Drowning in the Carleton Mill Pond

A West Side lad, Gordon Haley, aged about seven years, had a narrow escape from drowning in the Carleton Mill Pond on Saturday, and a young companion of the same age, Frank McAffery, is credited with saving his life. The two boys were playing at the edge of the pond, when young Haley fell into the water, and was foundering about in a dazed condition when his companion dashed in and rescued him. Several men who saw the accident and rescue from some distance away, spoke very warmly of the pluck of the McAffery lad for his prompt action. He is a son of J. E. McAffery, of the West Side, and a grandson of Captain McAffery of the ferry service.

THE KING OF ITALY RECEIVES CARNEGIE

Rome, May 17.—Andrew Carnegie was received in audience by King Victor Emmanuel today. He was presented by Senator Capellini of the University of Bologna, to which institution his majesty sent the model of a rare pre-historic animal recently presented him by Mr. Carnegie. In the course of his conversation the king expressed his appreciation of this gift and showed great interest in and knowledge of Mr. Carnegie's beneficence.

A. J. Lingley, chief of the I. C. R. detective service, passed through the city today on his way to Moncton.

FIVE MORE HANGINGS IN CONSTANTINOPLE TODAY

Victims Were All Men Who Had Been Convicted in Connection With the Recent Mutiny—Pitiable Conditions in Refugee Camps.

Constantinople, May 17.—Five more were hanged at half past three o'clock this morning in front of the building of parliament opposite the Mosque of St. Sophia in Stamboul. They had been found guilty by court martial, and were executed for the murder of April 13. One was a non-commissioned officer and the others were junior officers. The five men sang hymns while they were being conveyed from the war office, where they had been confined, to the place of execution. They continued their songs while the final preparations for the hanging were being completed and up to the very moment that the stocks on which they were standing with ropes around their necks were knocked from

THE LUMBER CUT IN MAINE KING DECORATES HIS HEROIC MOTHER

It is Estimated That it Will be Just About the Same as Last Year.

Bangor, Me., May 17.—With the season's lumber cutting operations practically at an end, it is estimated that the cut in Maine this year amounted to about 700,000,000 feet as compared with other seasons, these figures show no appreciable gain or loss, the anticipated heavy falling off from last season's cut being overcome to a considerable extent by the late spring. A considerable quantity of snow remained on the ground up to very recently, making it possible to pursue logging operations later than usual. Much of the lumber cut will be taken to the pulp mills to be converted into paper. The logging service is now on and thousands of men are gathered at the headquarters of the Penobscot and other rivers ready to start the logs down the waterways to the pulp and lumber mills. In addition to the logs cut this season a large quantity of lumber cut last year has been left in the woods on account of the hard market, will be brought down soon.

STATE TAXATION OF THE CORPORATIONS

Unique and Interesting Report Made Public by U. S. Commissioner of Corporations

Washington, May 17.—A unique and interesting report dealing with state taxation of manufacturing, mercantile, transportation and transmission corporations was made public today by Herbert Knox Smith, commissioner of corporations. The part of the report transmitted to President Taft concerns particularly the six New England states. It is expected that additional parts dealing with other groups of states will be published later. A careful investigation into the tax laws of each state was made by Commissioner Smith and the results of the inquiry presented in concise form. The report presents in a popular way a digest of the tax laws and the methods of their administration. While, in a sense, it is a legal publication, it was prepared for the general public rather than for lawyers. It contains much of information particularly interesting and important to legislators and all other students of taxation. Commissioner Smith points out that while the taxation of individuals throughout New England is on a substantially the same basis, there is a wide diversity among the several states in both the theory and practice of the taxation of corporations. He notes as particularly interesting the Massachusetts plan of taxation of "corporate excess" on the market value of stock less property otherwise taxed.

MILES CARROLL WAS FINED $20

Case of Selling Beer After Hours Decided in Police Court This Afternoon

Miles Carroll, reported for selling beer after hours in Salisbury on Union street on Saturday, May 8, was adjudged guilty by Police Magistrate Ritchie, in the police court this afternoon and fined $20. The case will probably be appealed, as it is a test case of the new amendments to the liquor act.

A PITIFUL CASE

Police Looking for Unlicensed Dogs Discover Case of Destitution

The primary object of Patrolmen Marshall and Linton in visiting the domicile of Fred Lean on Duke street, Friday night was to ascertain if the family possessed any dogs. When the woman present bared at the door she was in such a pitiful state that the policemen hurriedly withdrew. The woman is merely a shadow and her countenance is literally covered with eruptions. Two dogs that they owned were unable to walk through starvation and the two children were in a pitiable condition. Secretary Wetmore of the S. P. C. A. and Police Sergeant Campbell are enquiring for evidence that will render possible the institution of proceedings against Lean who is in jail.
