The latest accounts from that estate, we understand, states that the previous evening the apprentices deserted work at 6 o'clock, leaving an immense quantity of liquor in the boiling house, which would have been all spoiled, had not the overseer contrived to bribe a few hands to watch its progress during the necessary process. We are also informed that the spirit of passive resistance is spreading throughout the apprentice population in Westmoreland to an alarming extent."

BOSTON, December 3.

Execution in Demerara.—We have received the Royal Gazette of Georgetown, Demerara, from which we copy the following account of the execution of a negro condemned for sedition.

Yesterday, at noon, the negro Damon, a leader in the riots at Essequebo, expiated his offences by an ignominious death upon the scaffold.

After the indictment on which he was convicted, and the sentence of the Court had been read, the unfortunate culprit requested of the High Sheriff permission to address a few words to the surrounding multitude, which his Honor having granted, he spoke to the following effect:—

"Gentlemen and ladies, and every body, what I bin do, every body bin do, and we bin do it out of respect to the Governor.—What we bin do, we bin do for good; and I no see where de badder. But suppose it right or suppose it wrong or suppose me guilty or me no guilty, it is no matter now. I condemn for die, and I satisfy. I forgive every body, and I hope God so forgive me too. I put my trust in Jesus Christ. Good bye, every body! good bye, every body!"

The usual prayers were then read by the officiating clergyman, and the culprit was turned off, having preserved to the last, a great degree of firmness.

When the struggles of the unfortunate man had ceased, the thirty-two prisoners who had been sentenced to various terms of imprisonment and flogging, for the share they had in the Essequebo riots, (and who had, up to that time, been purposely kept in ignorance of their being pardoned,) were addressed by the High Sheriff, and informed that mercy had been extended to them, and that they were free to depart to their respective estates. His Honor cautioned them not to neglect the warning they had received in witnessing the execution of their Captain and Leader in insubordination, assuring them that if any of them should a second time be found guilty of the like offences, from which they were in the present instance mercifully absolved, there could be no hope for them of escaping the severity which had been exercised upon Damon, then hanging before them.

THE OBSERVER.

ST. JOHN, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 23, 1834.

We have no later intelligence from England than contained in our paper last week.

The cotton manufacturing interest througout England is in a condition of unexampled prosperity.

Four Bill-broking firms have failed in London within a year. They owe nearly a million.

Earl Durham made a Public Entry into Glasgow on the 5th of November, and was received by at least 120,000 persons, with banners, flags, &c. Triumphal arches were erected, and a splendid public entertainment was given him in a building erected expressly for the purpose, and which was participated in by 1450 persons, James Oswald, Esq., M. P., in the Chair. The Earl, at the present moment, is probably the most popular man in Scotland, England, or Wales.

The Barings are no longer agents for the United States—the business is given to the Rothschilds.

The London Morning Herald of November 4th, contains an announcement of the appointment of "the Honorable Mr. PARKER, to the Bench, Mr. STREET to the Solicitor Generalship, and Mr. SAUNDERS to succeed him as Advocate General; all Gentlemen of long standing at the Bar of New Brunswick."

We understand, on good authority, that the Legislature of this Province will be called to meet for the dispatch of business, on Tuesday the 20th January, instead of Thursday the 15th.

Our Nova-Scotia neighbours have set us a timely example, in the commencement of their Legislative labours, which it may be well for our own newly connected House to follow. His Excellency, the Governor of the sister Province, in his opening speech, adverted, in very just and moderate terms, to the long agitated and vexatious subject of the Quit Rents; and, after detailing the history of the negociations respecting them, mildly, but emphatically declared the only alternative left to the parties interested. The Legislature have wisely responded to His Excellency's address, by adopting the prudent and pacificatory measure of commuting those claims, (just and righteous as they are,) for the stipulated sum of £2000 sterling per annum. It is by no means impossible that, at the meeting of our own Legislature, a similar declaration on the same subject may be made by our Provincial Governor; and if so, we would strongly urge on our representatives the desirability of effecting an equitable and conciliatory settlement of the question. The Royal right to the collection of Quit Rents is indisputable: they are as much a legal droit of the crown as the humblest landlord's rent is his own private property: both stand on the same footing with respect to principle, tho' so very different in degree; the one being a comparatively nominal tribute, payable in consideration of the continued enjoyment of a valuable ceded property, and the other a proportionate payment for the use of another's possessions. Each is equally, in moral honesty and legal consideration, a debt due by the occupier to the granter, and ought to be cheerfully paid. Long abeyance, however, has caused the Quit Rents to be looked upon as wholly renounced, and the resumption of their collection has therefore greatly astonished the debtors, who had lulled themselves into the fancied security of oblivion. But a debt is not the less honestly due, because the creditor has long been quietly lenient, nor should it be less readily paid, when he thinks it necessary to demand it. On the contrary, gratitude for the previous indulgence should prompt a more cheerful acquiescence in the demand. Still, there is often a considerable degree of injury to the debtor created by such indulgences, inasmuch as he is led to forget his liabilities, and to neglect the necessary provision for them; and thus, when called upon for arrears, he is distressed and harrassed by the magnitude of the demand. Conscious of this fact, the parent government, in the exercise of a paternal consideration for its children, has generously waived a large amount of arrears, and demanded payment of the Quit Rents only from a specific and recent period. Is it then, just or honourable in those already greatly favoured, to refuse payment of a debt thus diminished by voluntary cession, and to kick at the future demand, because the past has been generously relinquished?—We are confident that the people of New-Brunswick have too high a sense of moral honesty, and too loyal a desire to render to their Sovereign all his just rights and privileges, to entertain such a disposition for a moment. True, indeed, the late House acknowledged the justice of the claim, by consenting to pay a commutation for the future; but the negociation not having been ratified, the new House will not be bound by the extravagant appropriations of the former. Economy, retrenchment, and prudence, conjoined with strict justice, are principles which we hope to see fully carried into effect by our new Legislature; and we hope, therefore, one of their very first acts will be to commute the Quit Rents, but at a considerably lower rate than heretofore intended. We believe it will not be found very difficult to convince His Majesty's Government of the unreasonable extravagance of the grant intended by the late House for this purpose; and if so, it will be highly desirable for the sake of all parties, to set the matter at rest forthwith. It is always excessively impolitic to prolong negociations and discussions between a parent state and its dependencies, in which the pecuniary interests of both are affected, and a little timely concession in one point by the child, may often prove an inducement for many of much greater importance from the parent. If it be argued, that the Quit Rents are an impost properly due only from landed proprietors, and that it is therefore unjust to commute them by a grant from the public funds, we answer, that, in truth, they are primarily payable by that class of men; but since every expenditure on account of landed property must eventually come out of the pockets of the community at large, as the consumers of the produce of that property, is it not much better that such imposts should be paid from the public revenues, for the preservation of peace and quietness, & the prevention of vexation and distress in the collection? Truly, as some urge, a Provincial tax on landed property might be imposed, to raise the amount of commutation, but would not such a tax eventually fall equally on the consumers of the produce of the earth? and would it not therefore be wiser and less invidiously discriminating to raise that sum, as well as all others necessary for the provincial exigencies, by general & indirect taxes, which would fall proportionately on all, and cause no grievance or discontent? We would only say, then, in conclusion, to our new Legislators, commute the Quit Rents, but commute them equitably; more equitably, more prudently than was contemplated by the last House.

ST. JOHN GRAMMAR SCHOOL.—A Public Examination of this highly important institution took place yesterday. His Honor the Chief Justice, one of the Directors, presided, in the absence of the Rev. the Rector, who from indisposition was unable to attend.—We are happy to learn that the state of the School and the proficiency of the senior classes in particular, met with general commendation.

WESTMORLAND ELECTION.

State of the Poll up to the close on the 18th.

	Shemoque,	Bay de Verte,	Jolicure,	Sackville,	Dorchester,	Dorchester,
Palmer,	710	771	824	910	991	1114
Chandler,	682	721	761	839	907	1039
Crane,	643	709	749	842	920	1035
Hannington,	380	437	487	559	639	725
Chapman,	373	401	420	444	459	516

This Election has been distinguished from any thing of the kind that ever took place in Westmorland, by the determined and firm opposition which has been manifested to the late Representatives for their measures in the late House. Scarcely a day has passed without violent and angry discussion between them and many of the Freeholders, and in our opinion they have been driven from every ground of justification which they have yet taken up. It seems to be now admitted by all, (tho' too late), that if Messrs. Hannington and Chapman had not foolishly commenced their canvass in opposition to each other, that Messrs. Chandler and Crane must have both fallen, but the notice was so short that they cannot justly be blamed. One thing however is certain, and we are confident we speak the sentiments of the County generally, that if the late Representatives do not deserve better of their Constituents in the next house, they will never again represent the County of Westmorland. Dorchester, 18th Dec. 1834.

The poll will finally close on Saturday the 20th.

Northumberland County.—Pursuant to notice, a Poll for the Election of two members to represent this County in General Assembly, was opened at the Court House, Newcastle, on Thursday last. A. Fraser, Jun. Esq. proposed Alexander Rankin, Esq. as a fit and proper person to fill this situation, which was seconded by T. C. Allan, Esq.: John Nesmith, Esq. proposed J. A. Street, Esq. which was seconded by James Gilmour, Esq.—and Mr. H. C. D. Carman—to the amazement of the persons assembled—then proposed Mr. D. P. Horan, as a person also qualified to sustain the dignity of a Representative, which was seconded by Mr. S. J. Frost. * * *

The Poll still continues open, but we think it quite unecessarry to state the number polled for the different Candidates, as Messrs. Rankin and Street have not thought it worth while to put their friends to the trouble of attending.—Miramichi Gleaner, Dec. 19.

We copy the following remarks from the St. Andrew's Standard: they are just and pertinent, and, fully meeting our own sentiments as they do, we need merely allow them to speak for themselves:

REPORTING THE SPEECHES.—The discussions thro'-out the Province, during the present election, on the conduct of the late Members of Assembly, must surely strike constituents with the fullest conviction of the high importance of obtaining correct Reports of Speeches. The dressing which the late Speaker and Mr. Chandler got in Westmorland, and the serious objections made to the vote of one of our own Members, on the Casual Revenue Question, are prominent instances of what we advance. A few years ago when all was silence on what was done in Assembly, beyond the spare and formal notes of its Journals, the people had no fair opportunity of forming their opinions, and some of us know that it was dangerous to hazard even such opinions as we could form; but now it is far otherwise; the people learn what is going forward, and they are generally not far wrong when they are left to the free expression of any general sentiment. This desirable advantage has mainly arisen from the extension of information attendant on the practice of Reporting, and it is an advantage which we surely will not forego.

Mr. BLATCH, of St John, has hitherto been engaged as Reporter, and we know he has been very inadequately paid: at the same time we acknowledge it is unreasonable that all the expense should fall on Saint John. Now we would propose a scale which would produce £100, and be lightly felt by those divisions of the Province into which we would class the Counties. Taking the facilities and difficulties of information, the population, wealth, and other circumstances of these natural divisions into consideration, we look upon the scheme as fair and reasonable—It is as follows, viz:—

St. John, Kings, Queens, and Westmorland	£36
York, Sunbury, and Carleton	24
Northumberland, Kent, and Gloucester	27
Charlotte - - - -	13

To be remitted to the Central Bank at Fredericton against the sitting of the House and put at the disposal of a Committee of Members named by the Subscribers in each district, with directions to pay it over at the end of the session.

Those who know the constant bodily toil and mental exertion which must be bestowed by the Reporter, will not consider this aggregate sum too much for his labours: whilst each individual county will consider itself well repaid in possessing the views of all the members on every subject immediately affecting itself, and the views of its own members on all great and leading subjects affecting the Province at large. Our say is said: will the other districts respond?

COMMERCIAL BANK.—Stock at a Premium!—We have unquestionable authority for stating that the Stock in the Commercial Bank of New-Brunswick, (of which 5 per cent. was paid in on Monday last,) is now at a premium of from 1½ to 2½ per cent. on the whole amount, or Three to Five per cent. on the amount to be paid in before the Bank goes into operation.—Courier.

The London Spectator of the 18th Oct., says that Mr. Wm. Robertson, of Glasgow, late private Sec'y to the Honerable Vice Admiral Fleming, has been appointed collector of His Majesty's Customs at Shelburne, N. S.

HALIFAX, Dec. 13.—During the early part of last week, the attention of the House of Assembly was called to the evils of intemperance, and much remark was elicited. The conversation was caused by the reading of a petition from the Halifax Temperance Society, calling the attention of the Assembly generally to the subject; but upon the motion of Mr. W. H. Roach, the following Resolution was passed without much opposition:—"That the Petition be referred to a Committee, to enquire whether any and what legislative enactments can be made, in advancement of the cause of Temperance." Ordered, that Messrs. Johnstone, Young, W. H. Roach, Doyle, Chipman, Morton, O'Brien, Freeman and Oxley, be a committee for that purpose.

An attempt has been made to fund a part of the Province notes; but which failed in the house; and an application from the Halifax Bank to be permitted to issue small notes, was also unsuccessful.—Temperance Recorder.

We learn by the Tay, which arrived last night, that a very severe shock of an Earthquake was felt at Nevis on the 10th Nov. which lasted some time—but little damage however was done to the town.

Severe gales had been experienced at Antigua, Nevis, St. Kitt's, and Martinique.—Royal Gazette.

MR. EDITOR,—

The Poll for the City closed on Friday last, when Messrs. LEWIS BURNS, and ISAAC WOODWARD, Esquires, were returned duly elected—Messrs. HUMBERT, ANSLEY, and HAZEN, having resigned. Allow me, Mr. Editor, to offer a few words of advice to the new Members, at the same time beg leave to congratulate them on the highly important office they now have so honorably attained. In the first place, I would say to the first-named Gentlemen,—You have been chosen by the Free and Independent Electors or Citizens, to be their Agents in General Assembly: to support their interests: and to exert your influence and talents to serve them to the utmost of your abilities or power. In the second place, I would say to them,—To accomplish the above, you must be stedfast and unflinching in your principles, and allow no measure to escape your attention whereby the public might be in the least benefited, particularly with regard to the mercantile community. Have "true patriotism" for your motto; and allow no particular doctrine or sentiment that would oppose the well-being of the Province, to get possession of your minds—and be guided by the pure dictates of a just conscience:—more particularly, avoid being the instrument of any party, and never debase yourselves by intermixing in their quarrels or disputes. I trust, Gentlemen, you will act with prudence in all the wishes of the majority of your Constituents, and let their thoughts and wishes be your personal interests.

From what I have known of the private character of those two persons, I feel disposed to think they will in every respect coincide with my wishes and sentiments,—but we have known the best of men in private life, to turn immediately when in public situations, and become political weathercocks. I trust they will not think me too severe, when I tell them, they are bound by the laws of justice and right, to be "The Tyrant's Foe—the People's Friend,"—and should they happen to meet with abuse of any kind in their Legislative career, they must immediately cast it off its resting-place, or at least use the wisdom of Legislation to do so as far as may be considered requisite. By this rule of conduct alone, can they expect to retain a firm hold of their seats in the House, and also in the affections of their constituents. Sincerely wishing they may succeed in all they attempt or second for the welfare of the City, as well as the Province at large, is the anticipation of

Your friend and supporter,
"JOHN INTEREST."
