

JUDGES' DECISION GOES TO DEBATERS FROM WOLFVILLE

Take Negative Side of Social Betterment and Politics Question

ACTIVE GOVT. VS. EDUCATION METHOD

Debate is Featured by Presentation and Soundness of Argument

WOLFVILLE, March 16.—Academics obtained the judges' decision over Mr. Allison in the intercollegiate debate, here tonight, taking the negative of the subject: "Resolved, That women can do more social betterment through non-political organizations acting as such than through direct participation in political affairs." Miss Matthews, Miss Coleman and Miss Gough represented Mr. Allison for the affirmative, while Miss True, Miss Bishop and Miss MacMahon debated the negative for Acadia.

The judges were Messrs. Dr. Monro, of Dalhousie University, Mr. McGillivray, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and Dr. Cunningham, of Truro. Dr. F. W. Patterson, president of Acadia, acted as chairman and welcomed the Mr. Allison team.

Miss Matthews opened the debate for the affirmative. She stated that women's non-political organizations can express active discontent against any measure which is contrary to social betterment without any partisanship as seen in the great work of the churches. Women are seeing that partisan politics are full of limitations and politics, as far as the vote is concerned, is ineffective in social betterment.

EDUCATION BETTER WAY.

Legislation, she continues, is a negative way of social advancement, it stops social evils but does not cure them. Education is the way to social betterment. Women's educational societies are much more effective than their political societies. Today women's societies, as the Y. W. C. A. and National Council of Women, are achieving more social reforms than legislation can achieve. Finally public opinion is essential to social betterment, and women's non-political organizations would public opinion more than women's political organizations.

THE NEGATIVE SIDE.

Miss Serena True led the negative. Women, she stated, cannot make the same contribution to education through the home as she could in times past, and, if the mother is to make the full contribution to the education of her children, she must take an active interest not only in home affairs but also in national affairs. Women may work through both non-political and political organizations, but legislation is a most effective means. Politics is the science and practice of governments, and governments exist for the social well-being of the country. Measures for child welfare point to this. Individualism is out of date, and, accordingly, there is a much larger opportunity for the government to put through a program of social reform and women, by direct participation in political affairs, may introduce and put through social reforms. Women's non-political organizations realize that they are limited unless they participate in politics.

NO CORRUPTION.

Miss Coleman, continuing for the affirmative, claimed that though women have had the vote for years, there are astonishing retrograde movements being made by governments.

Miss Bishop, for the negative, declared the vote as the most potent factor in social reform, and that women are not influenced by partisan corruption like men.

POLITICAL ACTION NEEDED.

Miss Gough closed the arguments for the affirmative. She claimed that when women act through non-political organizations their work is permanent, but political work is a bubble.

Miss MacMahon was the last speaker for the negative. She stressed the fact that women's non-political organizations often act politically, and hence all

MILK DEALERS NOT ANSWERING QUERRY

Not Many Replies Received By Board of Health re Pasteurization

Of the two score or so of milk dealers in Saint John county to whom the sub-district Board of Health committee has sent a questionnaire, to obtain their views on pasteurized milk, less than ten have been heard from to date.

The questionnaire sent out is as follows:

To the Milk Producers of the City and County of Saint John. Gentlemen:—A committee of the provincial members of the City of Saint John representing the local government together with a committee from the Saint John Sub-District Board of Health have the matter of the sale of raw milk under consideration and in order that a true idea of your opinion in regard to the pasteurization of milk and its effects on your trade can be obtained, would you kindly answer the following questions and submit same to the undersigned secretary of the said joint committee.

THE QUESTIONNAIRE.

1. How long have you been engaged in the milk business?
2. How much milk do you now sell in quarts?
3. Are you selling as much milk as you did previous to pasteurization?
4. From your experience in selling pasteurized milk, what is your opinion regarding the sale of raw milk?
5. How many of your customers are demanding the raw product?
6. Are your losses from sour milk greater or less since pasteurization came in effect?
7. In your opinion do you think it would be to your interest to return to raw milk or to make the sale of same optional?
8. Would you be willing to submit your herd of stock to the tuberculin test should the sale of raw milk become optional?

A Diversified Investment

The electric light and power properties controlled by International Power Company operate in five countries, each of which derives its principal wealth from resources of a different kind:

Venezuela—Oil and Agriculture.
Salvador—Coffee, Mahogany, Druewoods.
Newfoundland—Fisheries, Pulp & Paper.
Demerara—Aluminum, Diamonds, Sugar.
Bolivia—Tin, Silver, Copper and other minerals.

The Company's earning power is thus not unduly affected by changing conditions in any single commodity market, and the investor in International Power Preferred and Common Shares obtains an investment which is stabilized through diversification.

In addition there is the possibility of future profit to shareholders, due to larger earnings as the development of the fields served increases the demand for electricity.
