

Dates and Events In the Ward Case

May 16, 1922.—The body of an unidentified man was found on the Chapin road at the north end of Ken-sico-Lake, Westchester County, N. Y.

May 18, 1922.—Body positively identified as that of Clarence E. Peters, 19, of Haverhill, Mass., a former sailor in the U. S. Navy.

May 19, 1922.—Attorneys for Walter S. Ward, son of a millionaire bread manufacturer, informed District Attorney Weeks, of Westchester County, that Ward had killed Peters, and slayer would be surrendered.

May 22, 1922.—Ward surrendered by attorneys and admitted having shot and killed Peters, who, he declared, was a member of a gang of black-mailers. He told of having acceded to previous blackmail demands, but finally balked at giving up $75,000. A quarrel over the enforcement of his slaying Peters in self-defense. Ward placed under arrest, but immediately released by Supreme Court Justice Seeger in $10,000 bail.

May 25, 1922.—Ward's bail withdrawn and slayer locked up in White Plains Jail.

May 27, 1922.—Ward again admitted to bail, this time in $50,000.

June 15, 1922.—Ward indicted by the Grand Jury on charge of murder in the first degree and committed to jail without bail.

July 11, 1922.—Ward again admitted to $50,000 bail by Justice Seeger, who held, in substance, there was no evidence of first degree murder.

January 2, 1923.—First degree murder indictment against Ward dismissed by Justice Seeger, who held that the District Attorney had not diligently prosecuted the indictment.

May 24, 1923.—Acting on the petition of Mrs. Jane O. Peters, mother of the slain youth, Governor Smith ordered an investigation by an extraordinary Grand Jury.

May 25, 1923.—Extraordinary Grand Jury empaneled and Attorney General Carl Sherman assigned to conduct investigation. Justice Robert F. Wagner designated to preside over extraordinary special and trial term of the Supreme Court at White Plains, having jurisdiction over case.

July 26, 1923.—After hearing seventy-two witnesses, extraordinary Grand Jury re-indicts Ward on charge of first degree murder.

Sept. 12, 1923.—Ward placed on trial on indictment before Justice Wagner in Supreme Court at White Plains.

Sept. 25, 1923.—Justice Wagner denies motion for dismissal, presented by defence, on completion of State's case.

Cancer Deaths Show Increase

Other Diseases Are Rapidly
Being Conquered, Says
Report.

London, Sept. 26.—The sinister place which cancer occupies among the diseases that are killing people is emphasized by Sir George Newman, chief medical officer in the ministry of health, in a report relating to England and Wales. The report shows that the ratio of deaths per million people had increased from 178 in 1888 to 1,215 in 1921.

Five of the most deadly diseases are: Diseases of the heart, diseases of the nervous system, cancer, tuberculosis and pneumonia. Cancer is the only one of these that is definitely and uniformly increasing. Tuberculosis is declining steadily. The report states that although the facts make melancholy reading, it should be remembered that typhus, typhoid fever and smallpox have been conquered, so doubtless it will be with cancer. Numerous instances are given of the decline of diseases.

The expectation of life at birth now is 11 years greater for boys and 13 years greater for girls than was the case 60 years ago, according to the report.

QUALITY

NO TREASON

PRICE has always been of secondary importance in the blending of KING COLE Orange Pekoe. It has to be, if that characteristic rich flavor is to be maintained. Unusually choice teas are continually sought for it, and the cost of these is frequently changing.

KING COLE Orange Pekoe is for the real tea lover to whom a fine cup of tea is a delightful necessity. Any lowering of the quality would be treason.

The price of KING COLE Orange Pekoe has changed slightly from time to time, and may again be higher or lower according to market conditions, but its original exclusive flavor remains unaltered.

Aged Woman Slain In Her Cigar Shop

Mrs. Elizabeth Berry Is Found Strangled Near a Busy Brooklyn Corner.

New York, Sept. 25.—Mrs. Elizabeth Berry, 68-year-old widow, was found murdered in the back room of her little cigar and candy shop in Brooklyn, where she had eked out an existence since the death of her husband eight years ago.

Police scouted robbery as a motive and an autopsy was ordered on the body for today. Excited talk among tenants of the five-story tenement in which the shop was situated mentioned a merchant sailor with a white cap as having been seen in the vicinity early in the day.

The body of Mrs. Berry was discovered by chance when Fred Hoppe, a customer living nearby, pulled back the curtain in the wooden partition which separated Mrs. Berry's shop from her living quarters. Light through a single dirt-stained window in the sparsely furnished room revealed Mrs. Berry lying cheek down on the bare floor. She had been strangled with a strip torn from her own apron. Another strip had been used to bind her hands tightly behind her. Her head had been beaten in.

A council of police called hastily to the scene and composed of Inspector John J. Coughlin, chief of detectives, Captain George Bushy, detective chief in Brooklyn; Captain Arthur Carey, head of the homicide bureau; Detective William Roddy, the Manhattan detective who ran down Gordon Hamby, and Acting Captain John J. Sullivan immediately dismissed robbery as a motive.

They found that Mrs. Berry's cash
