"Pimples broke out on the back of my head and neck. At first little pimples were small and then ran into each other and formed sore eruptions about the size of a ten cent piece. The skin was sore and red and itched a great deal, causing me to scratch."

I had the trouble about six months before I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and after using three cakes of Soap and three boxes of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) J. A. MacDonald, Gifford, Quebec.

Gypsies Harmless; Days of Poisoning Pigs for Food Past

Poaching and Pilfering Still Obtain in New Forest in England, but Easy-Going Folk Molest No One.

London, April 15.—(By mail).—Many visitors to the New Forest have the impression that the gypsies are dangerous; but they never molest or interfere with any one, comments M. D. Adamson in The London Daily Mail.

A little poaching or pilfering now their worst offences, although in other days they frequently poisoned pigs. This, in the Romany language, was called "drabbing the bauls."

A gypsy woman would call at a farm. On passing a pig-sty she would throw a piece of poisoned food to one of the pigs. Next day she would offer tin cans for sale, and say how sorry she was to hear that there had been a death, beg for the body, and generally get it.

The poison was extracted by a secret process, and soon, the smell of roast pig would drift across the heather. Modern rations consist of tea, dried fish, and stew; butter, jam, onions, and bread. Rabbits and pheasants have been known to find their way to the camp.

Hedgehogs they cook after the manner of the Peppercorn Indians, the animal being incased in soft clay and baked in a turf oven. The result is a delicacy, since the spines remain in the clay and the hedgehog is very good to eat, looks like chicken, and tastes like veal.

The forest folk take work in moderation. The men earn a little money in mending chairs, making clothes pegs, leather brooms, and pot scrubbers; some of them are clever tinkers.

The women hawk baskets of wares and occasionally tell fortunes. Although the latter is now punishable by law, there is still a little silver that finds its way to a gypsy palm.

Many of the deductions are the result of reading character from the eyes, and in this many of the older women have acquired a marvelous facility.

No rents, rates or taxes trouble the gypsies, but they have frequent removals to fresh camping grounds since the forest laws allow them to remain only two days in one place in case they should claim a "squatter" right.

Change Age Limit For Vestry Members

London, May 19.—Approval of a canon providing for the change of the age limit for members of the vestry from 21 years to 18; refusal to form a diocesan council for social service, according to the suggestion contained in the report submitted by Very Rev. Dean Tucker, chairman of the committee on social services, and the referring to a special committee appointed by the bishop of the proposal that the church fire insurance be taken over by the diocese, were three steps taken by the Synod of Huron at its concluding session in Croydon Hall.

A stir of more than casual interest was occasioned when figures presented by the committee on civil census indicated that there was a difference of more than 40 per cent between the number of Anglicans reported by the civil census and those shown by the clergy's report. The bishop signified his intention of bringing the question up at the rural deaneries in order that in some measure at least the number of Anglicans claiming relationship with

MRS. DAVIS NERVOUS WRECK

How Women How She Was Restored to Perfect Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winnipeg, Man.—"I cannot speak too highly of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I was a nervous wreck and I just had to force myself to do my work. Even the sound of my own children playing made me feel as if I must scream if they did not get away from me. I could not ever speak right to my husband. The doctor said he could do nothing for me. My husband's mother advised me to take the Vegetable Compound and I started it at once. I was able to do my work once more and it was a pleasure, not a burden. Now I have a fine bouncing baby and am able to nurse her and enjoy doing my work. I cannot help recommending such a medicine, and any one seeing me before I took it, and seeing me now, can see what it does for me. I am only too pleased for you to use my testimonial."—Mrs. EMILY DAVIS, 72 McGee Street, Winnipeg, Man.
