Fred. Magee Continues Speech on The Budget

The Bill fer Woman Suffrage Withdrawn-Audit Bill Read Third Time and Passed

Fredericton, N. B., April 15-One of the most telling speeches in the budget debate was delivered this evening by Fred Magee, of Port Elgin.

The speaker's defence of the government was based on the sound principal of common sense and he was given an attention begins by the prophers was ment was based on the sound principal of common sense and he was given an attentive hearing by the members present, his remarks at times drawing expression of approval from the opposition as well as from government members. Mr. Magee's reputation as a business man and as a citizen of clear vision and accurate judgment gives weight to his remarks, and he has the ability to command the respectful attention of the house when he asks to be heard.

A Profitable Session.

Mr. Magee congratulated the government. He some some interesting comparisons of the amounts paid to the various provinces, and urged that the adjustment of this province should be further impressed on the federal government. He suggested this as a matter which would still uphold interest in maritime union. The Water Powers.

Commenting on Dr. Baxter's previous remarks regarding the employment of returned soldiers, he told briefly something of what has been done by the government and gave assurance that the claims of the soldiers would not be overlooked.

If the Bolsheviki methods referred to by the former attorney general meant giving the people control of the roads, the right to elect supervisors and examine the accounts, the speaker said, then he was a Bolsheviki with regard to the purity of elections. He said that his party always had sought by agreement to eliminate improper methods and that for himself and the government

The Water Powers.

One of the most striking features of his address was his pronouncement upon the subject of hydro-electric power. He put forward as his own attitude on this subject his conviction that the province should control the water powers and should go still further and exploit them for the benefit of the people. He also urged an amendment to the federal prisons act to permit the use of convict labor on the roads.

A strong appeal for the new public health act was made by the speaker. He could see no grounds for opposition to this advanced legislation except political partizanship, and he asked the opposition to deal with this measure on its merits and in the interests of the welfare the royal assent at this session, the bill was withdrawn.

The legislature resumed after the week-end recess with a fair attendance of members, but it was nearly 9 o'clock when the house came to order and another hour was taken up with routine and prolonged arguments by opposition leaders on the Speaker's ruling.

The bill to provide for the auditing of the public accounts of the province was read a third time and passed.

Mr. Crocket gave notice of inquiry as to whether the public health bill had been submitted to the ministerial association and as to whether Rev. J. G. Shearer had appeared before the legislature in support of said bill on the invitation of the government; also as to whether the bill had been submitted to the will not the New Brunswick medical society or other organizations affected by it.

Hon. Mr. Foster he said that when a bill to grant the franchise to women had been before the house a year ago, he had been one of those who had voted for it. In regard to the bill introduced by the honorable leader of the opposition he call that it interfered with the rights and

The recent bond issue was fully justified by Mr. Magee, who said that after close examination, and with some knowledge of securities, he was convinced that the premier had made the best possible arrangement for the province. Nova the premier had made the best possible arrangement for the province. Nova Scotian bonds had been mentioned, but they had not been sold; they had only been placed with brokers for sale and he understood they were moving slowly. The announcement was made by Mr. Magee that he hoped to introduce at this session a bill to provide for vocational training and he asked for its non-partisan consideration in the interests of the youth of the province.

Mr. Pinder preceded Mr. Magee and in his usual style dwelt on details of the administration which he felt called upon to criticize. Laughter punctuated his reto criticize. Laughter punctuated his remarks at times, as even his colleagues failed to suppress their merriment over some of his more ridiculous statements. By referring to the Southampton railway, Hon. Mr. Veniot brought Mr. Pinder up short at one point in his address. Again, when challenged by Mr. Veniot to substantiate a charge, he took refuge in the statement that he would be back again next year and would deal with it

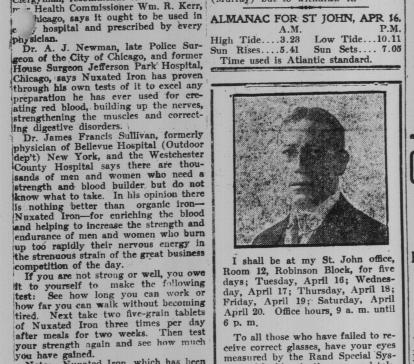

At the opening of the session the Speaker presented a ruling on the motion of Mr. Murray, of Kings, to refer back the bill providing for the assessment for patriotic purposes with instructions that it should be reduced. After some arguent the ruling was held over until to-

In regard to the bill introduced by the honorable leader of the opposition he felt that it interfered with the rights and prerogatives of the crown and had already advised his honor the lieutenant-governor to refuse his assent to it, in case it should pass the house. He would ask that the bill be withdrawn.

Mr. Murray (Kings) said that the bill did not involve the expenditure of any public money.

How Canada's Greatest Shoe House Supplies the Nation's Footwear

ONSIDER the amount of time and the infinite care you take when buying footwear to suit your own taste in regard to style, size, etc. Multiply your own individual needs by millions and you will get an idea of the immense task which confronts the makers of Canada's footwear, and the size of the organization it is necessary to maintain for that purpose.

The buying of a single pair of shoes is an event that occupies a person but a few moments two or three times a year-but to meet the accumulated demand of a nation's individuals, it requires the whole resources of a gigantic industry. Ames Holden McCready are truly "Shoemakers to It is a title justified by their size and the importance of their business.

It may be a revelation to many Canadians to know that to supply them with proper footwear, this firm maintains huge factories each with many acres of floor space, and hundreds of intricate, almost human, machines-facilities and equipment sufficient to turn out 8,000 pairs of shoes every working day.

It requires a small army of workpeople, clerks and warehousemen, in addition to executives, buyers and travellers.

It requires much study and thought to plan styles and models of Men's, Women's and Children's shoes in their various grades and styles.

In order to secure the best results in the production of various kinds and grades, it is also necessary to specialize.

For example: Ames Holden McCready factories are separated into three distinct factory units, each a complete factory in itself.

One unit of our factories is devoted entirely to the manufacture of high grade footwear for Women and Children. Consider the great variety of styles in women's footwear, including high-top boots, oxfords and pumps. Consider the many different patterns and lasts, the varieties and shades of leather and finish—then you will see what a great number of models are required to meet the widely different needs of Canadian women in the cities and towns and also in the country

Another factory unit is devoted to making only the better grades and styles of Men's Shoes—shoes for professional men, lawyers, doctors, and all business men, whose occupations permit the use of fine leathers such as calf and kid.

The third unit specializes in sturdier types of shoes for heavy wear and rough usage. Shoes for farmers, lumbermen, miners, trainmen, and workpeople who require a heavier and more solidly-constructed boot.

In addition to the work of manufacture—the requirements of distribution are also tremendous. A manufacturer must not only make his goods economically and well—but he must deliver them-DISTRIBUTE them. Therefore, in addition to a force of 60 travellers constantly visiting the retail trade from coast to coast, Ames Holden McCready maintain, in the centres of population throughout Canada, immense stocks of boots and shoes ready for immediate shipment to the retailers in each section.

These warehouses are located in the following cities:

St. John Toronto Montreal Winnipeg Edmonton Vancouver

Years of experience has taught us the kind and styles of boots which are required in each locality. No matter in what part of Canada you reside, no matter what particular kind of shoe you require, your retail dealer can procure it for you without loss of time.

And that is the reason why you will find, even in the outlying districts, that dealers selling Ames Holden McCready goods are up-to-date with stocks that are fresh and new, and which reflect the latest shapes and

When you see the A.H.M. trade mark on a shoe, you know that not only is that mark an endorsement by the largest shoe concern in Canada, but that being the product of a highly organized industry, the shoe you are buying represents the utmost in value, style and wearing qualities which can be obtained at the price.
