GLADYS PEROT

Accompanied by Her Grandfather Arrives at Halifax.

Were Passengers from England on the Steamer London City.

The End of the Famous Kidnapping Case That Created Such a Sensation Some Months Ago.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 12.— When the steamer London City reached hen dock last night after a rough voyage from London, among her passengers who debarked was an elderly gentleman, bearing every evidence of the man of taste and wealth. He was accompanied by a dark-eyed little girl of a serious caste of countenance, who clung to his hand. The one was Wm. H. Perot of Baltimore, the other was grand-daughter, Gladys Perot, whose kidnapping in Baltimore by her mother, the former wife of W. T. Perot, and dramatic flight across the ocean, were the talk of the continent two months ago. Mrs. Perot was formerly Miss Sponagle of Liverpool, a small village 100 miles west of this city. The Perots name was not on the steemer's passenger list, although it appeared on the list furnished to the immigration authorities, as required by the Canadian law. On that list both names appeared.

Mr. Peret came from London for Baltimore via Halifax for no other reason than to escape observation. He was met at the wharf last night by the Mesars. Wainwright, sons of Mrs John T. Wainwright, and was driven rapidly to her house on South Park street, in the fashionable part of the eity. I called there in the hope of being allowed to see Perot, but they refused admittance absolutely, and no one has been allowed to call on him all day. Early in the evening the house was barred and the inmates would not respond to the ringing of the door bell, or any other signal from the outside. It was in Bermuda that the Waln wrights became acquainted with Perot, and the intimacy there formed was the reason for the part the Wain-wrights have taken here in the effort to keep the movements of Mr. Perot and his grand-daughter secret. Tickets were bought for them today via Yarmouth for Boston, and it was stated their intention was to leave tomorrow morning, but this plan may be altered, either at this end or en Cornelius Vanderbilt, the Head of the Famous Family Passes Suddenly Away.

NEW YORK, Sept. 12.— Cornelius Vanderbilt, the head of the Vanderbilt family, died at his residence in this city at 5.45 o'clock this morning from a stroke of paralysis. Mr. Vanderbilt was in his fifty-sixth year. At his bedside when he died was his wife. No physician was in attendance. The attack was very sudden and entirely unexpected, and it was impossible to reach any physician before death occurred: Dr. Francis Delafield, had been attending Mr. Vanderbilt, arrived at the house after Mr. Vanderbilt's death had occurred and pronounced death due to cerebral hem-

The funeral will be held in St. Bartholomew's church, probably next Friday, and Bishop Potter and the rector, Rev. Dr. Greer, will officiate at the service. There will be a meeting of the Vanderbilt lines next Thursdey to pass appropriate resolutions of respect to Mr. Vanderbilt., All the members of the family have either called in person or sent telegrams with the exception of his son, Alfred, who is now ravelling in China. Chauncey M. Depew, who was a near friend and business associate of the deceased, reached the house at about 7.30 o'clock. He was visibly affected. He remained a short while and when he came out there were tears in his eyes.

Wm. K. Vanderbilt, jr., and his wife called early and remained some time at the house. Then Wm. K. Vanderbilt, jr., went for his father and brought him to the house. The father was so much affected when he caught sight of the house where his brother lay dead that he clasped his son in his arms and kissed him. They walked together arm in arm into the house, shedding tears.

Coroner's Physician Dr. Hamilton Williams made the inquest into the cause of death, and found that it was eause of death, and found that it was due to cerebral hemorrhage. Coroner Fitzpatrick also viewed the body and indorsed Dr. Williams' finding. Permission for burial was given and the body was embalmed.

A special detail of policemen are on duty at the Varderbilt house.

CATHARTICS CANNOT CURE

CHRONIC CONSTIPATION

(Catarrh of the Liver.)

FIRST-Because Cathartics do not second—Because they waste the Bile and thus drain the system. THE BILE IS NATURE'S PURGA-TIVE. It is extracted from the blood by the liver and poured into the bowels. But when the bile has done its work in the bowels it should go back into the blood to enrich it. Cathartics prevent this. They irritate the bowels so that these organs instead of re-absorbing the bile, throw it violently out. It passes away in the evacuations, often burning and smarting on its way out. The blood becomes gradually impoverished from this drain. Each time it is harder for the liver to extract the bile from the cathartics have to be used. As more and more bile is lost the blood grows poorer and poorer. It may not seem thin, because it is clogged with impurities. But it lacks the rich life-giving properties. The sufferer, because of the poor state of his blood, feels dull and heavy, without energy or ambition. His appetite is variable. He has a tendency to th "blues." And all the time the consti pation grows steadily worse.

THE LIVER.

With Dr. Sproule's treatment all this is changed. The liver is gently but surely cured of the cause of the trouble-the catarrh of the liverwhich prevents it from doing its work. It begins to produce bile in small natural quantities. Easy regular movements are thus established. At the same time the bowels are toned up. As a result they no longer eject the tile. They re-absorb it. It goes back into the system. It carries with it new health and strength; NEW LIFE from the food with which it has come in contact.

The whole system feels the change. The dull heavy feelings disappear. The weakness vanishes. The circulation improves. The mind grows clear. "blues" depart. The patient 'feels'like a new man." Best of allthe cure is permanent. Dr. Sproule has done all this for thousands of others who had suffered for years.

BOSTON LETTER.

Talk of Boycotting the Paris Exposition for Dreyfus' Sake.

Another Blast From Manila-Not the Rev. Simpson-Recent Deaths.

Trade Continues Very Active—Lumber Prices Fully Sustained-Fish Firmer.

(From our own Correspondent.) BOSTON, Sept. 10.—General business throughout this section continues sat isfactory, and it is the unanim verdict that times are better than the have been since 1890. To be sure i costs much more to live than ever be fore, owing to the high prices of meats and other provisions, but the opportun employment has not bee equalled for years. The era of high prices is expected to last three or four years, if the various trusts and com-binations have their way, but it seems certain a re-action is bound to come sooner or later, as has been the case invariably in the past. The good times are not confined to this country, but in fact seem to extend to most all

The interest in the Dreyfus case wa intense here, and the announcement of the verdict created widespread indignation. The American people appear to be a unit in the condemnation of the French military. The action of the Rennes court martial is looked upon as a black stain on France, which will require years to efface. Many promin-ent Americans are in favor of boycotting the Paris exposition next year and others propose a boycott on French goods of all kinds. At a meeting of reminent St. Louis merchants and other business men last night it was voted to hold aloof from the exposition and have nothing whatever to do with it. Strange to say, some of the Demo affair as an argument against the ad-ministration (or mal-administration as they please to call it) of President Mo Kinley. Ex-Governor John P. Altgeld, of Illinois, who has been called an anarchist by the Republicans, says that the Dreyfus case is one of the natural sequences of the domination of militarism, and that such evils would result here from the mainutenance o a large standing army in the United States. President McKinley's enemies claim that he is in favor of establish ing a great standing army in this coun try, and that such an army would be menace to liberty.

The blueberry trade from the provinces has been quite brisk this season and large consignments have been re-ceived by both rail and water. The business seems to be about equally divided between New Brunswick, Que bec and Nova Scotia. The Prince Edward Island trade also assumed large

The drouth which has prevailed in Maine and other sections of the New England states continues, the showers of a few days ago having had little efneed of a long rain is severely felt, especially by the lumber industries. The Penobscot river is at a very low pitch, so that the lumber mills depending wholly upon water power are in some cases able to run only a part of their machinery, and the output of lumbe is curtailed just at the time when i should be at top notch.

A dispatch from Maine says that no since 1874 has there been such a demand for all kinds of lumber, long and short and the production up to within a month, has been nearly equal to the demand. The August survey on the Penobscot river of manufactured lumber was the largest on record for that month, reaching a total of 31,000,000 feet, and in order to meet the calls for lumber the surveys in September and October should be fully as large, but the prespects for such an output are not encouraging.

The sensation of the week in political and newspaper circles was the publication of a long letter from Robert M. Collins, one of the correspondents of the Associated Press in Manila, to Melville E. Stone, general manager of that organization. The letter, which was sent in reply to a request from Mr. Stone for an explanation of the system of censoring of news despatches which prevails there was a revelation to the American public. It shows that not only have the newspapers of the United States and Canada been victimized and a mass of lying stuff scattered broadcast through most of the civilized countries through most of the civilized countries of the world, but a hideous array of blunders and scandalous acts has been perpretrated in the Phillipines by the American military leaders, and that the whole censorship business has been used to blind the people at home and supress facts which might be damaging to President McKinley and his policital advisors, who are endeavoring to conquer an unwilling race. It was not intended that this letter should have been made public, but when one of the directors of the Associated Press got hold of it he decided to print it. The communication shows that none of The communication shows that none of the press associations, ror any of the correspondents in the Phillipines are to blame for the garbled reports sent from there. The blame is generally attribut-ed to Gen. Otis, the American com-mander, and his subordinates. Mr. Collins says that under censorship sys-

Collins says that under censorship system "every fight became a glorious American victory, even though every one in the army knew it to have been substantially a failure, and we have been drilled into writing quite mechanically, wholly ridiculous estimates of the number of Philipinos killed." Mr. Collins quotes one of the censor's comments on his refusal to forward a genuine news despatch. The censor said: "Of course we all know that we are in a terrible mess out here, but we don't want the people to get excited about it." When the newspaper men served their famous round-robin cn Gen. Otis the latter threatened to have them court-martialled. Mr. Collins says that Admiral Dewey and Dr. Jacob G. Schurman (the latter a native of P. E. Schurman (the latter a native of P. E. Of course Gazette articles are neither conspicuous for their truthfulness nor remarkable for the amount of information they contain. The article on the "Game Law" is not above the average, and in reading it I was continually reminded of the title of that old time popular air, "The Old Man's Drunk Again." Nothing else can explain that verbose and very clumsy misrepresentation of well known facts.

The remark that caused the excitement was in regard to the violation of the game law in New Brunswick being used as a bribe to influence votes. He says that I am responsible for the difficulty in enforcing the law. Can the Gazette, or any one else, give a single case where I have ever advised any one to violate the law? Again, the complaints against the "Woods and Hetherington voters" are always made by the paid spies of the government, and it is a well known fact that some of these informants have caught deer with dogs during the close season. The conservatives are not informers, but feel that the paid agents of the law should track the Farris and Carpenter men as well as others. One man who was supposed to have slaughtered moose illegally and to be in danger of information being lait, was apprehended by a government official and told to make some arrangement with the game commissioner. frent with the game commissioner about the matter. The nature of that about the matter. The nature of that arrangement can be determined by other arrangements, which have been made in similar cases by "grit" heelers. A few years since a resident of Coles Island was convicted and fined for a violation of the Scott act. He was told that if he would vote and use his influence for a certain candidate at a then pending dominion election that nothing more would be said about section of "Bagdad," because the residents there did not vote for him. If yubit money is to be used as a bribe is it not reasonable to conclude that violation of the game law, as well as violation of the Scott act, could be made a matter of arrangement? Why does the Gazette so emphatically affirm that the man against whom the warrant has been issued will be convicted in spite of my assistance "as attorney in the case," of it be not for the puriose of making that man go on purrese of making that man go on his knees to Farris for assistance? If the reference is to Sydney Perry, I can assure the "Gazette" that he has defence sufficient to clear him before any fair minded magistrate. If the game law has not been used for the benefit of the Farris and Carpenter men, how does it happen that the names of tory guides have not been registered by the game warden. One was approached on election day and told that if he would vote Farris and Carpenter the government would assist him in getting "spoils." The "heeler" in this instance was advised to emigrate to a land where he would-n't need any winter clothes.

I can assure the Gazette that the farmers of Brunswick are not dogs to lick the hand that smites them. That the conservatives of Johnston and Brunswick are determined to stand together, come what may. That if Sydney Perry or any other man be unjustly fined the money will be made up by his friends, That all the statements contained in this letter can be supported by affidavits of reliable parties if necessary.

If these facts are not sufficient I have lots of a similar nature to begiven to the public. Thanking your for your valuable space, I am, Mr.

On Sunday Robert McKay and Roman companion, who were out rowing, were man who voted for Farris and Carpenter who was convicted or even tried for a violation of the law. Failing in this, the Gazette statement concerning the two alleged violators, one liberal, one tory, receiving the same fine, loses its force. The Gazette also informs us that "in every case where violation of the law has been reported to the chief game commissioner, where there was sufficient evidence to warrant prosecution, the case has been carried to the chief that the case has been carried to the chief that the case has been carried to the chief that the case has been carried to the chief that the case has been carried to the chief that the case has been carried to the chief that the case has been carried to the chief that the case has been carried to the chief that the case has been carried to the chief that the companion, who were out rowing were companion. companion, who were out rowing, were compelled to land at Goat Island, in was John Walsh, who for several years has been the solitary inhabitant of the island. Six years ago he and his wife were found living there and tion, the case has been carried to the courts. Two of the cases have been tried outside the county."

Quite true, but the "evidence sufficient to warrant prosecution" is to prove first, that game has been slaughtered; second, to show that the hunter voted for Woods and Hetherington. Then to make conviction a certainty the violators are carried out of the county and tried before a magistrate who is generally supposed to be in close touch with the government wire pullers.

Amendment of the cases have been that were found living there and the police removed them to the alms house. Mrs. Walsh died since, and her husband left the institution and went back to his hermitage. Relatives at Strait Shore wanted to give him a home, but he would have nothing to do with them and persisted in living alone on the almost inaccessible place. The men who found him on Sunday gave him some food they had with them, and attended to him as well as they could, and when they got. well as they could, and when they got on shore they reported his condition to the police. On Monday morning word was received from Murray's mill that some of the men had found Walsh dead in his shanty. Capt. Hastings sent word to Coroier Roberts and he being out of town, secured Coroner Walker and together they went to the island at once. After making some inquiries, the coroner decided an inquest was not necessary, and gave the necessary permission to Walsh's relatives to take charge of the remains.
