The annual picnic for the scholars of St. John's Sunday school, which has been discontinued since early in the war, was held on Saturday afternoon. Owing to the disagreeable weather, the original plan of taking the children to Hart's Lake by auto had to be given up, and the affair was held on the school grounds. The young people took part in games and races, for which prizes were given, and despite the heavy rain, had a happy afternoon. At five, a beautiful supper was served in the Guild Hall, a feature which the children thoroughly enjoyed, and bags of candy and nuts, a generous donation to the affair, were distributed by Miss Peters. Those assisting Miss Peters, superintendent of the Sunday school, were Rev. H. T. Buckland, Mrs. Buckland, Miss Pearl Peters, Mrs. Wm. C. Belyea, Mrs. D. A. Adamson, Miss Molly Otty, Misses Geraldine Corey, Nellie McKinney,

Margaret McKeown. At the conclusion three cheers for Miss Peters and those who assisted, led by Mr. Buckland, were heartily given.

During the past two weeks there has scarcely been a dry day, and the harvesting situation looks desperate along the river. Grain cut over two weeks ago, and a considerable quantity of hay is still on the ground, and much grain remains uncut. The ground is now so soaked with rain that it is as if it would never dry out, and on the intervals between the rains it is even worse, as the water in the river has risen three feet since the rain began. Flooding some of the fields. From all districts complaints are heard about the bad effect of the weather on the potato crop.
