Agent, Agent for Yarmouth S. S. Co.

LIVERPOOL, N.S., Nov 2nd, 1897.

"DEAR SIR—I bought an Electropoise four months ago and followed your advice in treating for nervous indigestion. I was also recovering from an attack of La Grippe, overwork, mental strain, etc. I am about as good as new now. I advise all I know of needing treatment to use the Electropoise. I consider it a wonderful thing. To convince anyone that there is some power in it, all I ask is for one to put it on and wear it 24 hours constantly, and if it don't shake them up I will buy an instrument or give them the price of it."

DR. W. H. DEPUY, A.M., D.D.,
T.L.D., Asst. Editor Christian Advocate, writes:

New York, Dec. 20, 1897.

"Myself and family have derived so much benefit from the Electropoise, and I have become so thoroughly convinced of its merits as a practical curative agent, that I feel warranted in commending it to the public."

THE whole system is revitalized by the oxygen taken into the blood as a result of polar attraction produced on the surfaces by its application; this general distribution of vitality through the skin avoids the necessity of imposing the burden of cure on any one organ, and explains why it is often possible for the ELECTROPOISE to effect cures where other remedies fail.
