s to the Editor

Fredericton, N.B. Jan. 20, 1952.

nswickan,

tulations on last week's the Brunswickan. inted more news of stuvities than I can rememng in any Brunswickan st few years. opinion there was an imnt in "make-up" as well that you will keep up work, that more students nteer to become members staff, and that together make the Brunswickan ation worthy of the Uniof New Brunswick.

not aim at winning the Bureau Trophy offered etition among CUP mem-

Yours truly, Jack Murray Alumni Sec't'y.

this way

oriming coat is sometimes or Those Who Prefer

Quality"

clearest demonstration of ast this country is losing its l occurs in giving a small man can remain a lor, provided of course no n wants him.

evision has made a wondernange in American conversa-There's less of it.

OF CHAMPIONS

Writer's Workshop

Gregor's collie, Locklad of Dunbar, and ran desperately down the had been the Highland champion, stubbled slope to the brook. As people will be seeing a smooth 6' fireplace is especially notebut he was getting old and today was to be his last showing. Interest was keen and ardent High- ing, stumbling, falling. Locklad landers had come from as far as bounced ahead and rushed to the Verness and Kilgornoch to get front of the retreat. their last look at this champion.

Wednesday, January 23, 1952

He was standing alone at the He was a strikingly handsome fullfeathered animal; his straight echoing over the hollowed planks large number of students have who will be seen on the campus long nose and thick shiny hair re-vealed his select ancestry. The pushing and scrambling and Inspector Calls" and the Drama The play is se breath frooze in the chilled air, with her baby had been recklessly then disintegrated. His whole body throbbed with anticipation ing near the dog. With the lead distinguished British novelist and and helping with lighting. on the exitement that would soon be his. The babble of voices behind his pen grew increasingly louder. Between the broch bars of his enclosure he could see the different plaids of many kneestocking covering the bony, the hairy, the deformed shapes. Deeply pleated kilts ended his leg examination; but to Locklan there was only one kilt that mattered. .

silence fell over the gathering. The champion tensed. . . it was so quiet he could hear the delicate a fine dog. . . a fine dog" crackling of a single crisp leaf as it fell to the hardened ground before him. With one echoing crash the gate was flung up; he darted forth. A spontaneous cry of encouragement rang from the He'd keep undisclosed anxious onlookers. Unexpectedly The photograph's good his pace slackened, he crouched But he's overexposed. low; his whole expression changed. The wide eyes grew slanted, the lips of his mouth curled up friend. If someone gave you revealing sharp white teeth. The room and board and paid your crowd drew back.

He advanced menacingly, his too? body almost sliding over the ground. His keen eyes never once Its no Millinery Secret wavered from the objective. Fear gleamed from their eyes and they pressed closer together as though their massed presence made them stronger. He slank cautiously Room Temperature the compressed group, slowly moving closer. . . and silence was split as several crazed And by some fiendish, fatal plot though it were a delayed cue, the whole mass rushed forward, push-great white gate waiting his turn. tearing off through the nearby sales, etc., up to when it is Window displays will soon appear, defending champion seemed rushing for escape. The dog had Society a success. aware of his importance. He advanced ahead of them all now breathed more rapidly than usual, and was angrily facing the band the heated moisture from his from the front. A young mother tripped and lay shaking and cry-behind them.

JOAN GOLDING

lands. "His voice softened. "He's played in her downfall.

Baby picture

This one, if he could

No wonder a dog is man's best taxes wouldn't you be friendly

Most hats that are women's Have delerium trimmins

the most pleasing cigarette you can

. SATISFYING!

smoke!

MILD ... SMOOTH

FILSHOUNGEOS

Some like it cold, some like it hot . . Suddenly the frozen Some freeze, while others smother. members darted from the far side | They marry one another.

"Inspector" Plans Being Completed

When 'An Inspector Calls' Howie Boucher and Noreen goes on stage on Jan. 31, Feb. Donahoe. The set is to represent 1st and 2nd., students and townsrunning performance which is the worthy. culmination of this year's activities of the Drama Society. Few thirty foot banner which the people are aware of all the effort Publicity Committee hopes to use necessary to put on a play of this You are no doubt well aware of sort. From the time of the choice the activities of this committee The leaders had crossed the small wooden bridge and were hearsing, making of sets, ticket be ready when an Inspector calls? field. The sound of hard feet presented at Teachers College, a in addition to an aceless Inspector Alvin Shaw, the Director, care- important. held the dog was wide open. They scrambled as one body towards mystery with penetrating social this year will no doubt give an it, the young ones and the mothers and moral comment. It tells of impetus to the society for several limping frantically behind. Safe the connection between the well- years to come. at last! The gate was clamped to-do socially prominent Birling MacGregor's.

It was a crisp autumn day, the kind that bristles the hair in one's nostrils. Suddenly a hushed

Over a loud microphone a man's voice hollowly began, "Gentlemen, again champion is MacGregor's collie Locklan of Dunbar, the NacGregor's collie Locklan of Dunbar, the Shrew") unfolds the part each ary 1st and 2nd.

Who has committed suicide. The Calls". An outstanding evening mysterious Inspector Goole, played by Dan MacArthur (star of Last year's "Taming of the Shrew") unfolds the part each ary 1st and 2nd. greatest sheep dog of the High- member of the Birling family has ized when the impressive sets are rehearsal Wednesday January 30

Another big project is the

The play is set in England in 1912. Therefore costumes are Mary Needler is fully considered many plays this handling this aspect — busy look-summer and suggested several to ing for the right period costumes. the society from which "An Ins- In addition it seems almost the pector Calls" was chosen. This is whole campus is helpin out selling written by J. B. Priestley the tickets, ushering, collecting props,

A lot of time, effort, enthusifamily and a poverty stricken girl asm is going into "An Inspector who has committed suicide. The Calls". An outstanding evening

Wilma Sansom, President of the Dramatic Society, has an-The fact that the actors do not nounced that voting for the Catalone make the play will be real- tley Trophy will be held at dress seen. They were designed by Professor Shaw and the stage crew, Willie Schure, Al Tramley and Gord Fenton have been working hard on them.

at Teacher's College. All members of the Dramatic Society are eligible to vote for the person whom they consider has contributed the most to its activities

The University gave the Dra- this year. Membership cards will matic Society the use of a room be given out. In addition all in the basement of the Forestry ushers, Door men etc. are asked Building. At present the sets are to come Wednesday at seven being painted by the stage crew o'clock to be briefed on what to with the help of Lucy Jarvis, do the three nights of the play.

dance, a bridge party and the publication of the Co-ed Bruns-wickan. The girls will also hold an exhibition hockey game with the faculty which usually proves to be hilarious . . . and victor be concluded at a buffet supper

A Favorite

ious for the co-eds.

INTERNATIONAL ATTITUDES

By MARY LOU O'BRIEN

Not long ago we ran the head-"RUSSIAN EXCHANGE GAINS STRENGTH", but there has been no mention of this proposal which caused so much talk on Canadian campi this fall. Dr. Kirkonnell of Acadia explained that a "Student delegation would almost certainly be picked member of the Soviet political police, with a subversial job to do in this country". Whether this be true or not is certainly a question open for debate, and as long as we prefer to remain in ignorance on such a point it is just one less opportunity gained to restore world co-operation.

What follows in this article may seem to be irrelevant to the question of Rusian students but, I hope it may show what a meeting of students from all nations can

In the summer that has just passed there was a seminar held at Limbour Quebec where 67 students from all parts of the globe met to study together for over a month. This meeting was sponsored by the International Student Service, an organization which was first set up to develop exchange. Their purpose in holdng such a seminar was to give expression to a world university community. They work and interest gives them an international unity. First let me speak of the site, which was a small Catholic college. Those present were of every denomination possible, and they were able to listen to lectures given by some of the priests with all the interest and respect possible. This in itself may seem small, but the fact that Jews, Moslems, Indians and Europeans, as well as Canadians and Americans, lived together in the same dorms, ate at the same tables, and even had many of the same problems, proved to some extent that the similarities were much more prominant than the differences.

This does not mean that at the beginning all was complete peace and harmony for at first there was a certain tension that could be felt in the atmosphere. I re-Final plans for these events will call special cases, where a Jewish girl on meeting a German had to force herself to be civil. She told me later that the thoughts foremost in her mind were that in Poland she had seen over 60 Jews put to death at the hands of German soldiers, and this included most of the members of her own family. Her first idea seemed to be that she could not possibly tolerate this young man with the scar across his face to signify that he had been a member of these horrid aggressors. This feeling asted for a time until she got to know others at the seminar, and found that they were interested in hearing his views, and found his entertaining without feeling hostile.

> There was also a medical student from Holland who met this same German chap, and after talking to him for a while, a strange look passed between them. While talking with her later I found that he had asked her if she came from Holland, and was "Breda". Then his face reddened when he realized that she knew he had been there during the war. She showed me her badly scarred legs which were the result of a bad freezing, when she and her famliy barely escaped to Switzerland in time.

> She said afterward that she realized in her heart that she couldn't hold one person responsible for the crimes they were forced to commit under the pressure of war. It wasn't long before I realized that she was making an honest effort to talk to "Joachim", and they even able to talk about the last war without any looks of enmity.

> > (Cont'd page 6, col. 3)

Co-eds Plan Week For Feb. 17 - 23

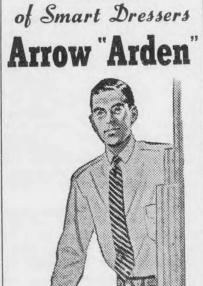

Last Friday there was a dinner main topic of the meeting was, of course, Co-ed week, and it was meeting to be held at the Ladies' finally decided that the joyous Residence. event would take place the week of Feb. 17-23.

Something new has been planned for entertainment in the form of a basket social. For those who are not familiar with rustic social do's, the procedure is as follows. All the girls take a basket containing a lunch. This basket is to be gaily decorated, and no girl is to let anyone know which basket (or box) is hers. She inserts a card with her name on it inside the wrappings. The baskets are then auctioned off to the highest bidders among the men. (It was decided that a definite price limit would be set) The man who buys a basket then eats its contents with the girl who prepared it. Sound simple? Sure, but it's lots of fun. To round out the evening, everyone oins in a barn dance.

Other items on the agenda include the regular Co-ed Week

Ski Club Dance Special

It was observed by our reporter that the Engineers have taken a new interest in life. . . Two of the group of the "Distinguished" were seen in deep discussion off to one side of the dance floor. Suddenly without warning the subject they had both been studying gave way before them . . When will they learn not to lean on the Foresters for support. . . Them trees were fer' decoration, fellows, not learning. No wonder you got it in the end. . .

With trim, short point non-wilt spread collar

Another Arrow favorite! Arden has the short, spread collar that won't wilt ... stays fresh all day long ... yet needs no starch. Mitoga cut for perfect fit and Sanforized-labelled, of course. For a gem of a white shirt, and a whale of a value -ask for the Arrow Arden!