

Maruyama who accompanied the party ^{had come along} soon to see to the falling of the boat after ~~the~~ all had been landed.
 When the ^{Kumera's} ~~1400 Japanese~~ ^{Japanese} 1139 of the ~~Kumera's~~ arrived the boarding house keepers in Vancouver were greatly concerned, they had not accommodation for more than 300, and ^{Japanese} the Consul, Mr Morikawa was appealed to.
 After calling upon ^{his ward} the Mayor and conferring with Mr Morikawa, he decided that it would be best to keep the party on board till he would be able to make ~~arrangements~~ provision for their shelter.
 He ~~arranged to~~ decided to ~~get~~ ~~the~~ ~~men~~ ~~from~~ the street car company ^{arranged with} such cars as ^{they} could place at his disposal, and ^{to provide} provided that such numbers as could ^{not} be taken ^{handled} ~~out~~ of the city in this way should be taken to Stevenson, where temporary quarters were secured, others were to be taken around by boat to the same point on the Fraser. ~~To insure security against loss~~ that was an expense incurred in the interest of the Japanese themselves and Mr Morikawa thought it proper that it should be met by them, having been shown the letter which Captain Baird
