

CONTENTS.

PREFACE	PAGE
LIST OF WORKS CONSULTED	iii
	vi

PART I.

CHAPTER I.

INTRODUCTORY.

Importance of Clinical Observation—Pharmacology— Materia Medica—General Therapeutics—Toxicology	1—5
--	-----

CHAPTER II.

DIAGNOSIS AND THE GENERAL SYMPTOMS OF DISEASE.

The Art of Diagnosis—Importance of a Correct Diagnosis— Treatment of Symptoms—The Pulse—Varieties of Pulse—Strength and Weakness of Pulse—Symptoms connected with the Condition of the Visible Mucous Membranes—The Temperature—Fever—Symptoms connected with the Respiratory Functions—Varieties of Respiration—Cough—Symptoms furnished by the Condition of the Surface of the Body and Extremities —Symptoms furnished by the Secretions and Excre- tions	6—24
---	------

CHAPTER III.

THE ACTIONS AND USES OF DRUGS.

Physiological Action—Manner in which Drugs act in the Treatment of Disease—Plan for Description of the
