DUNHAM, FLETCHER & COLEMAN, Wayne, Du Page Co., Illinois.

GOSSIP.

Wayne MacVeagh, the lawyer and diplomat, has on the outskirts of Philadelphia an admirable stock farm. One day last summer some poor children were permitted to go over this farm, and when their inspection was done to each of them was given a glass of milk.

The milk was excellent. It came, in fact, from a $2,000 cow.

"Well, boys, how do you like it?" the farmer asked, when they had all drained their glasses.

"Gee! Fine," said one little fellow. Then, after a pause, he added:

"I wisht our milkman kep' a cow."

Messrs. Colwill Bros., Newcastle, Ont., breeders of Shorthorns and Tamworths, in ordering a change in their advertisement, write: "We have sold the young bull calf recently advertised, to Mr. Wilson, of Enterprise, Ont.; also a very nice smooth two-year-old heifer, which is bred to Donald of Hillhurst, son of Imp. Joy of Morning, winner of first prize at Toronto last fall. We have also sold all the young sows we have in pig for sale, but we have a grand lot of Tamworth boars, three to four months old, for sale, and a few nice Shorthorn heifers. We are booking orders for spring pigs, both sexes, got by three of as good boars as can be found in Canada. Nearly all these pigs will possess the blood of Colwill's Choice, our undefeated prize boar, having won first prize in his class for five straight years at Toronto, and all the silver medals ever offered for best Tamworth boar, any age, in 1901, 1902, 1903."

The fact that college staircases are distinguished by letters and not by numbers is naturally somewhat puzzling to the uninitiated, and was recently the cause of a curious misunderstanding at Cambridge, where a stranger was endeavoring to pay a call on an undergraduate of his acquaintance. After trying in vain for some time to find the rooms of his friend, he at length appealed to the porter for assistance.

"Can you tell me where I shall find Mr. Blank?" he asked.

"Mr. Blank, sir? Yes, sir," said the porter; "he keeps in 'ell, sir."

"Keeps in—where did you say?" queried the stranger, in amazement.

"I'm afraid I didn't quite catch your answer."

"'Ell, sir; letter L," repeated the porter. "Second staircase on the right, sir."

"Ah! yes, thanks. I see; my mistake."

SENSITIVE HORSES.

The horse does not like a nervous, fidgety, fussy or irritable man. He is too nervous and irritable himself. "Why is it," one teamster was heard to ask another, "that Phin's horses are always gaunt? Phin feeds well." "Yes," was the reply; "but he's like a wasp around a horse." A well-known owner of race horses, not at all a sentimental person, recently made an order forbidding his employees to talk in loud tones or to swear in the stable. "I have never yet seen a good-mannered horse," he says, "that was being sworn at all the time. It hurts the feelings of a sensitive horse, and I keep my word good to discharge any man in my employ if I catch him swearing within the hearing of a horse in this stable."—[Mail.

THREE OF A KIND.

Ex-Senator Thomas H. Carter, of Montana; Clerk McDowell, of the House of Representatives, and Mr. George H. Daniels, general passenger agent of the New York Central Railroad, are all about the same size in stature. Each has a tuft of white whiskers on the chin, with cleanly-shaven upper lip, and all three are full of fun and enjoy a good joke. Once they were at a jolly dinner in the city of Washington. The presiding officer of the organization solemnly called for these gentlemen to arise. Each thought he was going to have a chance to speak. After they had been standing some moments the chairman said: "I wish to call the attention of all present to the finest collection of billygoat whiskers to be found on the American continent."

THE VALUE OF CHARCOAL.

Few People Know How Useful it is in Preserving Health and Beauty.

Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better; it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the gases and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking, drinking, or after eating onions and other odorous vegetables.

Charcoal effectually clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and eminently safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh.

All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered Willow charcoal, and other harmless antiseptics in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant-tasting lozenges, the charcoal being mixed with honey.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much-improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

A Buffalo physician in speaking of the benefits of charcoal, says: "I advise Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges to all patients suffering from gas in stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat; I also believe the liver is greatly benefited by the daily use of them; they cost but twenty-five cents a box at drug stores, and although in some sense a patent preparation, yet I believe I get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Absorbent Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets."—om
