

BACKGROUNDS FOR AMATEUR PHOTOGRAPHERS.

We have just put in Stock a good Assortment of Backgrounds for Portrait Work among Amateur Photographers.

These Backgrounds, when used with Kodak Portrait Attachments, make Photos almost equal to a Gallery Picture. Price $2.00.

A. I. McCALL & CO., Limited

STRICTLY PRIVATE YOUR MARRIAGE LICENSE AND WEDDING RING VONGUNTEN'S

DRS. CORNELL & FISHER ...DENTISTS...

COR. SIXTH AND KING STREETS
OVER THE FREE MINE
PHONE: Office 317. Residence 448

LOCAL

Mrs. Downey is a Brockville visitor today.

P. Bloude is spending the day in Walkerville.

Clinton Northwood is spending the day in Detroit.

Robert Potter is spending the day in Detroit.

W. C. McArthur is spending the day in Detroit.

Miss Verna Craft is spending the day in Detroit.

Miss E. Boyes is spending her holidays at Lake Simcoe.

Mr. and Mrs. James, Lorne Ave., are Detroit visitors today.

Miss Candace Craft is spending her vacation in Grand Rapids.

B. M. Terry, of Detroit, is visiting his parents, Head street.

Mrs. Tefft, Gray St., is attending the Old Boys' Re-union in Berlin.

Holy Trinity Excursion to Belle Isle tomorrow. Boat leaves at 7.30.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wolens, of this city, are visiting relatives in Berlin.

Miss Moore, St. George street, is spending a few days with friends in Toronto.

Miss Sarah Mills has returned from Ridgeway, where she spent her vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Dunbrook, of Cleveland, are the guests of James Dyer, Gray street.

Harry Jordan, of Hamilton, spent yesterday and today with his parents on Grant street.

M. J. Side is spending the day at the Eau. Mrs. Side and family will return with him to the city.

Miss Carrie Spill and Miss Carrie Wanless left yesterday for a week's stay with friends in Cleveland.

Thomas Primeau has taken a position as salesman in the dress goods department at the Austin store.

Wm. Belson and Mrs. Edwards, of Windsor, who have been visiting friends on Taylor avenue, have returned.

Dr. and Mrs. Northwood returned to their home in Wagon Mound, New Mexico, this morning, after a visit to relatives in this city.

Mr. I. J. Langstone, District Chief A. O. F., of Toronto, was the guest of Mr. J. Wood, of Princess street, over Sunday, Monday being Civic holiday in that city.

S. O. E. annual three day excursion to Niagara Falls Civic Holiday, Aug. 13, 1906; come with the crowd and enjoy an outing. First class coaches have been secured. Adult tickets $2.45, children's tickets $1.25.

Some of the local oil men speaking to The Planet this morning, said that they thought it would only be fair to all parties concerned if the City Council would defer granting any natural gas franchises till the Tilbury field is further developed. The city then would get the benefit of competition.

Peter Haggart and wife, of Glenheim, Ont., were in the city yesterday, registered at the King Edward.

Mr. Haggart recently disposed of his business in Glenheim, and has been west as far as Seattle and Portland. He returns to-day over the C. P. R. Mr. Haggart is highly enamored of the West—Victoria, B. C., Daily Colonist.

Mrs. Emma Powell, colored, wife of Jeremiah Powell, Chatham Township, passed away on Saturday, aged 47 years. The funeral will take place from her late home on lot 3, concession 5, Chatham Township, to the Pere Marquette station Tuesday morning. The remains will be conveyed thence to North Buxton for interment.

The oil men expect to strike the oil veins in many of the wells being drilled in Tilbury about the latter end of this week. The well on the Sam Pook farm, South Middle Road, has been drilled the soap stone with good indications. The soap stone has been struck in the Chatham and Tilbury syndicate's well at a depth of 80 feet. It will be some weeks before any strike can be expected on this spot, as progress through the rock is very slow. Twenty feet a day is considered good work through the formation.

Charles Trudell is spending the day in Detroit.

Miss Alice Keyes has taken a position in The Ark.

Today is Civic Holiday in Hamilton and St. Thomas.

Ald. J. A. Thompson is attending the Old Boys' Re-union in Berlin.

Miss Clara Morrison is spending a few days with friends in Detroit.

Miss Walker, of Toledo, is the guest of Mrs. J. Smith, of this city.

Gordon McCosh is spending a few holidays at his home in this city.

Frank Mount took a party of friends to the lighthouse yesterday.

The Chippewas play a game at Strathroy on Civic Holiday, Aug. 13.

Miss May Brennan has returned from Detroit, where she spent her holidays.

Wm. Frount, of Park Bros., left on Saturday for Paris on his way to the Northwest.

Joseph and John Welsh are spending a vacation trip to Detroit, Jackson and other Michigan cities.

Come with the Holy Trinity Excursion to-morrow to Belle Isle. Boat leaves at 7.30.

Miss Nellie Hough has returned to Detroit after a visit to her cousin, Miss Clara Morrison.

Miss Laura Shaver has returned from London, where she spent her holidays with friends.

Dr. P. J. Tschickart has returned to Chicago after a visit to Frank Tschickart, of this city.

Come with Holy Trinity S. S. Excursion to Belle Isle to-morrow. The boat leaves at 7.30.

Thomas Martin, of Streetsville, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Martin, Victoria avenue.

Joseph Dyer has returned from Cleveland, where he spent a week's vacation the guest of his sister.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Putnam, Queen street, are visiting friends and attending the reunion in Stratford.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Montgomery, of Toronto, are the guests of Mrs. Sarah Hawkins, King street, for a few days.

Miss Mamie Thompson has returned to her home in Cleveland after a visit to Mrs. James Morris, Water street.

The funeral of the late John W. Leacock took place on Friday last from his late residence, concession 8, Raleigh. It was very largely attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Agar, of Chatham Township, visited Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Tew, Park avenue, Sunday.

For a pleasant day's outing take in the Holy Trinity Excursion to Belle Isle to-morrow. Boat leaves at 7.30.

Probate of the will of the late S. Brown was granted to the executor, Joseph Brown, both of Chatham Township.

Miss Edith Reed, of the post office staff, has returned from Hamilton and Toronto, where she spent two weeks holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Drader, Wellington street, spent Sunday in Thamesville the guests of Dr. and Mrs. P. M. Fraser.

Adam Taylor and family have occupied their cottage at the lighthouse. Mr. and Mrs. Orval Thompson visited them there Sunday.

A large number of Chathamites went down to the lighthouse yesterday in Brisco's launch and the launches belonging to W. Seane and W. Plummeridge.

The Essex Fusiliers passed through the city this morning on their way to their camp. The Fusiliers will be present at the Stratford old boys' reunion.

There was quite a storm at the Bay yesterday, and some of the pleasure-seekers who were out in boats were forced to put in to Martin's Island, where they had to put in the night.

Miss Nellie Clements has left on her holidays, which she will spend with Blenheim friends and relatives at the lake. During Miss Clements' absence Miss Harper will be acting cashier at the Austin store.

Dave King returned from Cobalt on Saturday, after an absence of several weeks. He states that for a short time a combination of annoyances, forest fires, black flies and the like, kept things quiet in the silver district. Mining is now booming again, however, and there is great activity in the towns of Cobalt, Haileybury and Latchford. The property of Aitken and King is increasing in value and is proving a highly profitable investment for the partners.

An arbitration is being held before Judge Talbot, of London, in the County Judge's Chambers, Harrison Hall, to-day. It is an action for dissolution of partnership and accounting in connection with the firm of Geo. Stephens, Douglas & Crombie, hardware merchants. Mr. Douglas, it is understood, is retiring from the business.

Wilson, Pike & Gundy are acting for Mr. Douglas, Edwin Bell for Mr. Stephens and O. L. Lewis for Mr. Crombie.

Miss Brown spent to-day in Detroit.

Miss Hattie Denhart, of Detroit, is visiting friends and relatives in this city.

Mrs. (Dr.) Tiffin and son Russell have returned to Detroit after two weeks vacation.

Mr. Wm. Styles, of London, Ont., is spending a few days at Mr. P. E. Dean's, Stanley Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. S. F. Arnold, of Buffalo, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Shaw, Head street.

Miss Dolly and Master George Pritchard, Dover street, are visiting friends in Pontiac, Mich.

Samuel Webber, of Webber & Somerville's, is attending the old boys' reunion at Stratford.

Misses Sara and Gene Shaw have returned to the city after a pleasant week's outing at Terrace Beach.

A case is going on in the County Police Court this afternoon in which Geo. Shaw charges another man with assault.

James McKenzie, of Wallaceburg, was in the city yesterday. He left to-day to attend the old boys' reunion at Stratford.

A. I. McCall, druggist, leaves to-day for Sand Lake, Muskoka, where he will spend a short vacation. He will return to the city on the 14th of August.

Mr. and Mrs. Grange, of London, have returned home, after spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Keller, Richmond St.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Babler, of the Idlewild Hotel, and the Misses Minnie and Annie Dunlop, of Wallaceburg, are spending a week with friends on Walpole Island.

C. C. Greening, P. S. Coate, W. G. Richards, A. C. McKay and Wm. Gordon have returned from Mitchell's Bay, where they have been spending a few days fishing. They report a pleasant time.

The three Gibbiskies will come up for trial on the 15th of August on the charge of bringing stolen goods into Canada. Kovinski will come before the judge to elect for trial to-morrow. Futeral also comes up to-morrow.

Miss Florence Langley, of Niagara Falls, leaves to-night to spend a week in Bay City and Michigan points, after a very pleasant week's vacation in Chatham, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. R. Hamilton Nicholls, Baxter St.

A couple of Englishmen, who lately arrived from England, were given a night's lodging in the Police Station Saturday night. They arrived here with no money and no place to go, and they were glad to accept the hospitality of the police.

Mrs. Tipping and four daughters, Louise, Clara, Gissy and Minnie, of Blackburn, Lancashire, England, arrived in the city Saturday night, and are staying with Mrs. Tipping's son, Richard, D-ge St.

Arthur Stringer's new novel of action and adventure, "The Wire Tappers," seems to be meeting with success in portions of the Empire other than Canada. Arrangements have just been made for the publication of a special edition in Australia, and Werner Laurie, the London publisher, who has purchased the English rights to the story, is now bringing out the book in the old country.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions. The neighbors say that they have not seen them since the last Friday, and on Thursday the information was laid, so it is supposed that they lost no time. As Chief Holmes puts it, David and Rebecca have evidently pulled up their tents and made for the promised land, where there are no police courts, and no policemen.

David and Rebecca Brown, a colored man and his wife, were wanted at the Police Court this morning to answer to a charge of fighting on the street. The judge waited as long as he could to accommodate them, but they did not show up. They had evidently thought it best to get out of town and acted upon their first impressions.