The census men in the out lying districts of Prince Edward Island, who were the Government to pay their expenses in advance.

There is a rumor that General Buller will be the next Commander of the Canadian troops. Nothing official is known, however, to substantiate this.

The coal miners of Cape Breton are celebrating for an advance in pay similar to that of the miners of the mainland, in Springfield, Steller and Westville.

In the examinations of first year students in chemistry at McGill University, Dr. J. Y. of Charlottetown and J. W. Coffin, of Moncton, were in the class, each making one hundred per cent.

Boatman Lister, of the Halifax dockyard has received from the Admiralty, forms to be filled in by any Canadian who wish to join the Royal Navy as seamen or marines. Halifax has been made the recruiting station for Canada.

A St. John, N. B. despatch says: Bishop Seawright's will was made six years ago. He leaves all his coupon bonds to be invested for the support of the Cliff street orphan asylum, the Silver Falls industrial school and the old folks' home in this city. He leaves $200 for Masses, and $100 to Vice-Commodore Connolly.

James Goodwin, brakeman on Bouchette and Moncton railway, met with an accident at Notre Dame station near Moncton last Thursday. While crossing a few hours after. While crossing were shunting Goodwin tried to jump the gap of out train but fell short, and the whole train passed over him.

The jury empaneled to enquire into the death of Harry C. Weatherly, of Yarmouth, N. S., who was found in the I. C. R. yard at Moncton on Friday, believed from evidence taken that he came to his death by being crushed by the wheels of a car while trying to get on or off a train at Moncton depot and attached no blame to the I. C. R. authorities.

Mr. Philip Gallant, of Summerside, called on Saturday. While working at his boat near Holmes' wharf, a bullet from a 22 calibre rifle pierced his hat near the top of his head. Had he not been in a stooping position no doubt he would have been killed. The bullet is supposed to have been fired by some careless parties while practising at target shooting.

Two sailors for being drunk and fighting at Woodstock, Ont., were given a chance by the magistrate to enlist in the Halifax garrison regiment or be sent to jail and be fined. They jumped at the offer for the regiment. This plan for raising recruits brought about so much criticism, however, that the Judge withdrew the option and the men were committed.

An organization of singers to be known as the Charlottetown Philharmonic Society has been formed here, consisting of the best vocal talent of the City. About seventy members have been enrolled. The society is now practicing Anderson's Cantata—"The Week of the Hesperus"—in which all voices will blend together. Such a combination as that ought to make themselves heard.

At last information has reached Canada as to the manner in which Major "Gut" Howard met his death. He was feared by those who knew him, the gallant officer exposed himself rashly in scouting forward with only one man. They were ambushed by the Boers and both killed. It is very sad that such an excellent soldier should have been so suddenly cut off by excessive zeal and lack of caution.

The first vessel to be wrecked on the shores of Prince Edward Island this year was the schooner Minnie F., twenty-five ton, owned by Bennett & Co., of Port au Prince, N. F. The vessel ran ashore at Savage Harbor, near Mount Stewart last Thursday evening, having been driven there by the big gale which was then prevailing. Capt. Hall reports that having successfully managed to get ashore, he was heading for home with a cargo of 630 bags, when a gale sprung up Wednesday night, which carried away all his canvas. A big wave struck the vessel at noon on Thursday carrying herboard the shore, George Gilling, of Charlottetown, who leaves a wife and five children. The gale continued all that day and the schooner was washed ashore that evening at Savage Harbor a total wreck. The crew—seven in number, succeeded in getting ashore after some difficulty.

A serious shooting affray took place at Amherst, N. B., last Friday morning, as the result of a quarrel among boarders at Mrs. Anne Weeks. The parties mixed up in the affray are Camillo Fisher and Seymour Fisher, Mary Fisher, and James McKenna. The trouble arose upon the young men taunting each other about some girls and duty that day the trouble had reached the climax. At the table the previous evening McKenna and Seymour Fisher had rather a sharp squabble. After McKenna left the room, Fisher's brother, Camillo, came in and the affray was repeated in form. Before the Fisher boys left the house for the evening Camillo asked Seymour if he was going up to see the "pugs" before he went out, referring to the other boarders. Next morning when Camillo Fisher came in to breakfast Murdoch Stutfield asked him if (Fisher) meant him as one of the pugs. Fisher said he did, whereupon Stutfield drew a revolver from his pocket and aimed point blank at Stutfield, who struck the revolver down. The bullet entered the fleshy part of his (Stutfield's) thigh, following the curve of the leg, coming out about three inches below the elbow joint close to the femoral artery. McKenna and Leon Rockwell, hearing the noise, rushed into the hall and undertook to take the revolver from Fisher, but as before (Fisher) again discharged, the bullet entering Rockwell's neck, striking the bone. The bullet was split, one part being removed from the back of the neck, the other passing up, and is still in the flesh. A doctor was summoned and attended to the wounded men. Although serious, he does not anticipate danger. All the participants are employees in the Robb engineering works, Fisher being under foreman in the machine shop, and all being to respectable families. Fisher is a son of Rev. Mr. Fisher, a Methodist minister in the Nova Scotia conference. He is now confined in jail awaiting preliminary examination. Rockwell is a son of Nathan T. Rockwell, Amherst shore. Stutfield it is said belongs to Prince Edward Island.

By reference to our advertising columns, readers will note that Messrs. F. Perkins & Co. will have their grand millinery opening tomorrow, Thursday, to which they invite all to come and see their grand display. The establishment of Messrs. Perkins & Co. is situated on the North side of Queen Square better known as Sunnyside, in the large four story building erected a couple of years ago. Like several other Charlottetown stores, at present it has caught the renovating infection, and the painter has got in his work with the best results, and made the whole interior of the store the subject of his brush. Many improvements have been introduced to keep up with the forward spirit of the Twentieth Century. On the back and sides of the large show windows are set four large level mirrors recently imported from Montreal. These mirrors reflect the goods displayed and are bound to catch the eye of all who admire a well-dressed window. Down the centre of the store are displayed tables overhanging the main floor, trying to tempt the eye to eight feet, extending from the ceiling. These rods are a new feature, introduced this spring, and are so arranged as to display to the greatest advantage the goods which they carry. The shelves are up-to-date—of great height and step-ladders is necessary. The top of the shelves formerly piled with goods, are now used for decorative and display purposes. The greatest care has been exercised towards keeping the goods free from dust, and glass proof drawers have been fitted up for the purpose. The lighting of the store is all that can be desired. There are 98 incandescent lights arranged below powerful reflectors which when the whole interior is lighted in its entirety. There are also three large incandescent lamps which will increase the illumination. On the right hand side of the entrance is a revolving display stand, containing a large assortment of paid goods while the shelves to right and left are loaded with the most desirable merchandise. The centre shelves are also well filled and arranged in artistic style. On the second floor is the millinery department. The arrangement of shelves here is similar to that below, but instead of ordinary counter movable tables are used. For purposes of description this apartment may be divided into five sections. Sections one and two contain millinery, sections three costumes, section four shipwreck and shipwreck, and section five the women's and children's rooms. In section three costumes are hung on movable display racks or fitted on life size forms. On the third floor are kept the carpets, cloths, trunks, valises and remove stock. The fourth floor is also used for reserve stock and for storing and handling goods. Special mention must be made of the facilities of handling wool. In the rear of the building on the ground floor a room has been fitted with scales, and when weighed the wool is stored through them into the cellar where large bins are placed to receive it. A large platform freight elevator, ready-made, is placed in the rear of the building. The above description although incomplete gives some idea of this modern and well equipped establishment. By strict attention to the part of the proprietors to the public requirements, and attention to business they have developed one of the greatest stores in the P. E. I.

Many similar acts of devotion and gallantry were performed by Lieutenant Douglas on the same day.

A BIG SFEAL

On the arrival at Cherbourg, France, last Wednesday, of the North-German-Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse from New York, it was announced that two gold bars aggregating in value $22,750, had been stolen during the voyage. All the baggage loaded was examined with the utmost care by the customs officers and detectives, and the ship and passengers were searched over and over again, but without any satisfactory results. The crime is one of the most mysterious known. The gold was shipped by the National City Bank of New York and was packed in oak cases bound with iron hoops and kept in the special room. The officials of the North-German Lloyd Co. believe that the gold was abstracted before the ship left New York, between the same afternoon when barrels containing the two million marks were placed in the strongroom and the following morning, when the passengers baggage was stowed away, making access to the door of the room most difficult. The officials are of the belief that the thief allowed himself to be locked up in the baggage room after the gold was deposited in the strong room and managed to take the booty ashore during the confusion of arriving passengers and the stowing away of the baggage.
