Local Market. Reported by A. M. Hamilton & Son.

LONDON, Nov. 24. Today's was one of the heaviest markets as far as supply goes that we have had this month, wheat being about the only line that was really scarce. There was plenty of oats, etc., an abundance of potatoes a goodly supply of meats, not quite so many turkeys; slow sale for almost everything and a general easiness in prices were the principal characteristics. The Exeter Robbery. The Exeter robbery case was resumed on Friday afternoon. Provincial Detective Joseph E. Rodgers, of Toronto, testified that Edward Sheldice had given many contradictory accounts as to how he came in possession of the clothing, one story being that the articles were bought in Ingersoll and another that they were secured near London. "Sholdice finally told me that the reason of his giving so many different varns was on account of his brother Wells telling him to say where he got the articles," concluded Rogers. The London West Council last night had one of the most stormy sessions in its history. It was fully expected by some cf the members and they came well prepared. The principal business was the passing of accounts, and it was over three of them that the wrangle ensued. When the London West Street Railway Bill was be-fore the committee of the Legislature Councilors Moore and Hammond went to Toronto to see it through. Last night an account of $10 each for expenses was presented, but Deputy Reeve Scarrow and Piccolomini, and in the evening "One Councilor Hamilton fought against the payment as far as they could. Some warm words ensued, and several times blows were nearly exchanged. The reeve, with Messrs. Moore and Hammand, voted yea, and the accounts were paid. Councilor Moore presented another bill for vention a plan for the prevention of strikes, | $6 for expenses to Hamilton in connection His remedy partakes of the nature of a with the debentures recently issued, and this led to another warm exchange of words. The account passed. Bylaws were also passed appointing Messrs. R. Johnston and M. Armstrong as auditors, and to enforce the payment of dog taxes. Mr. Scarrow gave notice that the first be re-Constable Beaten by Tramps.

About 1 o'clock this morning P. C. Chas. Tuke was told that two tramps had come out of a lumber yard and had gone east on Bathurst street. He followed the men and found them in the cab of a Grand Trunk engine. The steam was up and they had warm and cosy quarters and naturally rebelled when the policeman asked them what they were doing there. The reply that the Michigan Central authorities had given them permission to stay all night did not reassure the constable, who noticed that they were in a Grand Trunk engine. He climbed into the cab to arrest the men and both resisted. One of the men-who gave his name as Timothy Donohue and his address York street-got hold of the throttle of the engine as if to start it, but did not appear to be able to manipulate the lever. Then he turned and grabbed for the policeman's revolver. Failing also in this the two men piled on. Tuke had a finger bitten, was struck in the face and given a black eye. Sergeant Jenkins happened along just here, and after a further tussle both men were placed under arrest. At the station the second man gave his name as Charles Bennett. At the Police Court this morning they were charged with assaulting a constable, and G. T. R. Detective Logan also preferred a charge of trespass against them. They were found guilty of assault, and Donohue was given three months, and Bonnett two months. The charge of trespass was accordingly dismissed. Donohue is the man who worked the sore arm fake during the summer and spent some time in jail then.
