BANKS CRAFT CAPSIZES

Error of Wheelman Sends Twelve of Schooner's Crew to a Watery Grave.

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 20.—Twelve Nova Scotia fishermen met watery graves, when their schooner, the Orinoco, of Gloucester, Mass., on its way to the Banks, filled and sunk in less than two minutes, twenty miles off this port early yesterday.

There were seventeen on board, five of whom were on watch. The helmsman left the vessel up to the wind to clear the jib sheet. She came around and caught the sails back and capsized.

The wheelman and four other members of the crew were able to grasp floating timbers from the vessel, and after a short time were taken aboard by another vessel.

For the men below there was no chance of escape. It is doubtful if any of them comprehended the fact that disaster was at hand before the water rushed over their sleeping form. Even in a collision the crash would have awakened them to a chance for life, but here there was no warning.

Caught with her sheets back, the vessel heeled far over, her deck was partly submerged, then the craft capsized completely. Below the victims of man's fatal error, suddenly experienced the sensations of trapped rats. One agonized shout was borne out to the ears of five helpless men, themselves being swept off the deck, frantically reaching for something to which they might cling. Then it was all over, and one more dreadful tragedy was added to the disasters of the Banks. Most of the men drowned were married, and many families in Gloucester are desolate.

CHIEF JUSTICE ALLOWS A LONDON APPEAL

A Note Case With Which Local Men Are Connected Heard in Toronto Courts.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Toronto, Aug. 20.—Chief Justice Meredith has allowed the appeal of the Dominion Bank from the refusal of Judge Elliott to grant a commission to take the evidence of Mr. Thomas Deely, in Vancouver, in connection with the bank's action against Mr. J. Kernohan and the London and Lancashire Bank, Ltd., to recover $2,000, 25c, alleged to be due on a promissory note. The note was given by Mr. Kernohan to the bank in the defendant company, of which Deely was president and manager. The company indorsed the note to the bank. Mr. Kernohan now claims that he was induced to subscribe by fraud.

EAST LONDON

DUFFERIN AVE. EAST PEOPLE STILL WORKING

Deputation Waited on Alderman Morehead Thursday Re the Opening.

The residents of Dufferin avenue east are still working to have the street opened up and put in condition before another year passes, and a deputation waited on Ald. Morehead last evening to see what could be done.

Mr. Morehead has worked hard to have the improvement made, and told the members of the deputation that he could do nothing more. He advised them, however, to again meet No. 2 committee, and that body will be re-ministered once more at the next session.

The residents also complain that loads of filling have been placed on the roadway and never spread, and that work on a sidewalk there is still not completed.

The matter of having the street opened through has been hanging fire for years, and from all appearances it will continue to do so for a long time yet.

RAMBLERS WILL PLAY DORCHESTER

Players Named Who Are Expected to Turn Out.

The Ramblers of the East End League will go to Dorchester tomorrow on the 2 o'clock train on the G. T. R., and the following players are requested to turn out for the game. Catcher, Collins; pitchers, Anderson and Henley; first baseman, Cochrane; second baseman, Eggett; third baseman, Campbell; shortstop, G. Clark; left field, D. Clark; and centre field, Myers.

The Derbys, the winners of the league pennant, will undertake a somewhat difficult task, to press the afternoon when they play a nine from the other three teams of the league, the Cubs, Ramblers and Alerts.

A fast game should result.
