Dr. Rand during the interview with Mr. Mowat what they intend to make of the two Baptist institutions. A great deal was said by them and others who spoke about the Woodstock Institute and very little about McMaster Hall. Is it intended that both these institutions shall continue in ion with separate staffs and students? will McMaster be merged in the Woodstock ool? We can hardly suppose that the two titutions will be kept up, for however liberal and put the whole educational strength of the in the Woodstock Institute. We have hing to say against this school or the work as done. It has been useful to its neighbood and to the church which has liberally borhood and to the church which has not assustained it. But when it is proposed to give it the right to grant university degrees it is proper to ask whether it has or is likely to have such a staff of professors and apparatus as would entitle it to such a distinction. All the world knows how weak are the colleges in Ontario supported by religious.

College compared with what it ought to be, and can it be supposed that one of the smallest of the larger denominations can in a town of the size of Woodstock support a college which shall rival the national school? If the Methodists have failed at Cobourg how can the Baptists hope to succeed at Woodstock?

The references of Drs. Castle and Rand to the colleges of the United States are wide of the mark. The Baptist body is large in the States, but small in Canada at present. When it grows large in Canada, to which it grows large in Canada also grows, the whole population of Canada also grow Ontario supported by religious denomina-tions, how weak in fact is University A majority of forty in the House of Compowers. We are convinced that there is need in this province for a first class residential school, we are convinced that Toronto and its vicinity is the most advantageous) location for such a school: and we are still further confined that if Upper Canada was given good buildings and a good site near the city and buildings and a good site near the city and shools for boys on the continent. Not only serviced that if upper Canada were preserved, that the C.E.T.S. admitted the right of every man to use, while he could do so without abusing, intoxicating beverages; but I said also constituted for the purpose.

Editor World: Knowing that you are taking a kindly interest in the "Society for Prevention of Cruelty to Animals," I thought I would write you relative to a notice I saw in yesterday's paper, viz., that the "Goo-catchers are out again."

I heard it stated last year that the cart in which the poor dogs were put was so cruelly crowded that one day on University-street the sides gave way, and for that day at least the poor immates were released.

I most reluctantly witnessed one day last is unmer the capture of a beautiful water spaniel, which was brutally dragged for yards over the road and sidewalk. I hope the society will see that there is no unnecessary cruelty practiced in this matter.

It would, too, I think be a great kindness to the traveling public, if the drivers of street cars were prevented.

It would, too, I think be a great kindness to the horses, as well as to the traveling public, if the drivers of street cars were prevented from allowing them to be crowded to the extent they now are.

I also hope that attention will be given to the cruel sport of shooting pigeons and other birds from traps; also the brutal practice of dog and cock fighting. I have heard that vivisection is practiced in the Veterinary College, but sincerely hope the report is false.

Editor World: I think that Rev. Mr. Kennedy of McMaster's College, when speaking in Temperance Hall yesterday on tem-perance, ought to have confined his discourse to Toronto, and not travel such a long journey to Ireland to show himself to the people that he was well dressed and shake hands with those people who were in rags. Then he goes on to say the Irish are always fighting and drinking whisky, and will not pay their rents. Now, sir, I cannot see why the Irish question should be mixed up with temperance, and commented upon by people who know nothing about it. I think Mr. Kennedy should try and educate the people on temperance and not

How solicitous he is all at once about the welfare of Canada, the unity of the two peoples, and the cultivation of a fraternal feeling between them. All very good, Mr. Butterworth; your butter may be of the oiliest and finest, even excelling that of the celebrated "Oily Gammon," but it won't slip down the throats of the people of Canada without creating a feeling of nausea which will cause its immediate rejection. Better ship it to some other port, it smells too much like oleomargarune to sell here.

The American system of creating "colleges" by the hundred and dubbing their graduates M.A. and Li.D. has not yet acquired voque in Canada, and would not be tolerated in Europe. The Futurity of 1889—the great produce stake for 2-year-olds—closed Jan. 1 with 815 entries—the largest number ever received for any race. The probable value of this stake is $75,000, and it will be run for at Sheepshead Bay in 1889.

For the Realization of 1889—the great foal and yearling stake for 3-year-olds—217 foals are already entered, and the stake does not finally close until July 15, when entries made as yearlings are due. Forty thousand dollars is figured as the probable value of the Realization Stake, which will be run at the 1889 spring meeting.

The Futurity of 1888, to be run during the autumn meeting of that year, and which will be worth $50,000, has 752 entries.

The company's capital is only $5000. Last year's profits were over $4000, but this has been used up in advance money and a dividend.

Three other persons injured when Cole was threaten suits, and the directors at a meeting on Saturday night voted that unless Mr. Cole took a small percentage of his claim they would forfeit their frauchise in the International League, set adrift the fine team engaged for this year and disband, claiming that they cannot earn money enough to pay expenses and the judgment also. They claim that they are incorporated under a law which brings no personal liability aside from losing their stock. The club has a grand stand, and little else in the way of assets, besides its franchise in the League. The general verdict is that the directors are bluffing.

consideration of a motion by Rev. Septimus Jones as to how far a minister should go in discoursing upon political matters in his pulpit. Mr. Jones said he had always avoiding the introduction of politics into the pulpit, because he did not believe that ministers should be politicians. They should however inculcate the principles of true citizenship, speak out on matters that affected the hearers as Christian citizens, advise their flocks to think and pray in a certain way and then to vote as they prayed. But he was strongly opposed to ministers speaking just on the eve of an election in order to benefit their party.
