

effect of the drug passed off. This, however, has not been the case in the thirty cases operated upon. Experience with the drug is still small, and what will be the result in operations upon larger wounds remains to be determined.

"For small operations, the addition of adrenalin chlorid is of distinct advantage in that it raises the blood pressure and overcomes the depressing effect of the cocain, at the same time it entirely does away with the oozing of blood from the wound."

In genito-urinary work the writer has used adrenalin. It checks hemorrhage, but in several cases it was followed by secondary hemorrhage, rather free. Its use is now limited to circumcision in very young infants, and it is there applied in very weak solution when the open method is used.

SORBEFACIN—This ointment is useful in all conditions of chronic ulcerations and varicose ulcers. The Sorbefacin Co., Toronto, will send a sample with formulæ to any reader of the CANADIAN PRACTITIONER AND REVIEW who will address their Toronto Office.

DR. ROBERT F. WEIR, of New York, said that he had found a new use for the useless appendix. In operating upon a case of dysentery the appendix bobbed up into the wound, and he made it fast to the skin and cut off its end. He then used it as a means of injecting medicine into the intestines to cure the dysentery. Early operation could not be too much insisted upon. When the diagnosis was made, one should operate. The disease caused more danger than the operation.—Medical Record.

Regarding Pepto-Mangan (Gude), it affords me much pleasure to inform you that I prescribe your preparation almost daily. It combines palatability, which is of especial importance in pediatric practice, with most remarkably prompt efficiency.
