lot are only two of many—all worthy of praise—Catholic Review. In another column we give a short report of the closing exercises of the University of Ottawa.

The Catholic Record of London, Ontario, says: The New York Catholic parochial schools have again shown their superiority to the Public Schools of the city.

His Grace's Letter. We recently published a lengthy letter addressed by His Grace, to the Free Press, on the subject: "Are the Public Schools of Manitoba the continuation of the Protestant schools of the same province?"

Our Archbishop's Letter. The editor will always gladly receive (1) articles on Catholic matters, matters of general or local importance, even political if not of a party character.

The beatification of the "Maid of Orleans," (Joan of Arc) is another solemnly attested evidence of how God makes use of the weak, to confound the strong.

It seems that Dr. McGlynn went to Rome after all. It might be a good place for him to tarry, if tarry he can.

The archbishop of Bordeaux, Mgr. Lecot, was engaged in providing soup kitchens for distressed families of his flock, when the solemnities amid which he was proclaimed Cardinal were going on in Rome.

"Self Constituted Guardians of Irish Faith," is the caption of a good article in our excellent exchange. The Liverpool Catholic Times. There are "guardians" march under the banner of "British Unionist Catholics."

The Catholic minority here is proportionally larger than the Protestant minority in Quebec. Is the answer to be found in Protestantism itself? As our contemporary is so ready to answer questions never asked it, would it have the goodness to take up those questions, not in the spirit of a canting hypocrite, but in that of an honest man, and give us his views.

At the recent convention of the Liberal Party the Hon. Clifford Sifton was chosen a Vice President, to represent the principles and uphold the policy of the great Liberal Party in Manitoba.

True; but he was a member of the House and was an active and apt defender of the government when they were engaged in the dishonorable and infamous occupation of violating those pledges; he made a speech in defence of the government's dastardly policy, although at the time he knew that the First minister and his attorney general had pledged their honor, the honor of the government and what was more, the honor and integrity of the Liberal party, that that foul deed, that monstrous breach of faith would never be entertained much less perpetrated on the Catholics of Manitoba.

The politicians in the east, who appear so anxious to evade this question, will not be able to longer claim that they are ignorant of the position in which the new law places the Catholic minority.

CONTEMPTIBLE HYPOCRISY. The Winnipeg Tribune is nothing if not dishonest. Here is a sample: Once in a while one of the Roman Catholic organs asks if we would like to see separate schools abolished in Quebec where the minority is Protestant.

What term in the English language, can describe such canting hypocrisy? What we have frequently asked of the Tribune was not "how it would like to see separate schools abolished in Quebec," but how it would like to see the Catholic majority in Quebec abolish the separate school system there, and compel the Protestant minority in that province to support Catholic schools under the dishonest name of National Public Schools?

France has just conferred the decoration of the Legion of Honor on two Jesuit priests—Collin and Robet—for their great-geographical work in the Island of Madagascar and the east coast of Africa.

The work of the insane Orange bigot is beginning to bear its deadly fruit. One of them, a William Nesbit, from the North of Ireland, the incubator where the unnatural things are produced, was condemned to death in Denver for the murder of Mrs. Irwin.

THE COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES. At St. Boniface Academy. The following is the programme of the Distribution exercises at the academy last Friday.

His Grace wished to profit by this occasion to pay a visit to the good Indians of Peguis—three of them came to take him in their canoe, last Saturday, and on his arrival at the Reserve the Indians fired a salute to express their joy. Sunday morning after high mass, Very Rev. Fr. Allard, O. M. I., having given a most impressive sermon, they say, in Indian, the sacrament of confirmation was administered by the archbishop to several members of the congregation, children and adults. At the end of the ceremony His Grace made a few remarks in English about the zeal that should be displayed for the instruction of children. He spoke strongly of the extraordinary advantages offered to them by the government. He made a most appropriate allusion to a hymn sang in Indian during the mass, and which speaks of an unshaken attachment to God. Some say that Indians know nothing and feel nothing about gratitude; but what took place in the afternoon is quite an emphatic denial of this assertion. The heads of the best Catholic families came to thank warmly the good pastor whose visitation was such a great relief for their souls. Several spoke even eloquently. At the end, the father of a young Indian who had left the Industrial school of St. Boniface in a moment of discouragement, came forward and making his child kneel down—"speak thy heart, he said, and beg pardon for thy fault." Then both father and son as well as the mother before made excuse for the past. When the Indians departed each one gave evident signs of gladness like good loving souls surrounding a beloved father and the impression was "how they love him, and how he loves them!" As a result of this visit a pagan squaw whose children are Catholics and who refused baptism for several years, came forward, and, touched by the grace of God, she asked for that sacrament—being sufficiently instructed, she received it at the hands of the Very Rev. Fr. T. Allard O. M. I., their zealous missionary.

Keroack, 2nd A. Charberlan, M. Chennier, R. A. Lessard, E. Bernier. English course 1st prize E. Olden, C. Laroche, 2nd A. Bedard. His Grace wished to profit by this occasion to pay a visit to the good Indians of Peguis—three of them came to take him in their canoe, last Saturday, and on his arrival at the Reserve the Indians fired a salute to express their joy. Sunday morning after high mass, Very Rev. Fr. Allard, O. M. I., having given a most impressive sermon, they say, in Indian, the sacrament of confirmation was administered by the archbishop to several members of the congregation, children and adults. At the end of the ceremony His Grace made a few remarks in English about the zeal that should be displayed for the instruction of children. He spoke strongly of the extraordinary advantages offered to them by the government. He made a most appropriate allusion to a hymn sang in Indian during the mass, and which speaks of an unshaken attachment to God. Some say that Indians know nothing and feel nothing about gratitude; but what took place in the afternoon is quite an emphatic denial of this assertion. The heads of the best Catholic families came to thank warmly the good pastor whose visitation was such a great relief for their souls. Several spoke even eloquently. At the end, the father of a young Indian who had left the Industrial school of St. Boniface in a moment of discouragement, came forward and making his child kneel down—"speak thy heart, he said, and beg pardon for thy fault." Then both father and son as well as the mother before made excuse for the past. When the Indians departed each one gave evident signs of gladness like good loving souls surrounding a beloved father and the impression was "how they love him, and how he loves them!" As a result of this visit a pagan squaw whose children are Catholics and who refused baptism for several years, came forward, and, touched by the grace of God, she asked for that sacrament—being sufficiently instructed, she received it at the hands of the Very Rev. Fr. T. Allard O. M. I., their zealous missionary.
